Taft-Hartley Is Invoked In Ship Strike

President Acts After Mediation Efforts Futile

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy invoked the Taft - Hartley law Saturday in an effort to end a three-week maritime strike that has caused growing shortages of food and other necessities in Hawaii.

The President stepped in after two days of intensive mediation efforts by a three-man government panel had failed to forge a settlement.

SIGNS ORDER

Kennedy signed an executive order creating a board of inquiry to examine the dispute. When the board reports back Kennedy may request Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to seek an injunction, requiring an 80-day cooling-off period.

In his executive order the President said the strike is affecting a substantial part of the maritime industry and that if it is permitted to continue the national health and safety will be imperiled.

Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii had made several appeals to the White House for direct intervention. He has declared a food emergency in his island state.

This was the second time since taking office that Kennedy had used Taft-Hartley machinery. Last July, an injunction was obtained under the law halting an East Coast maritime strike.

Three unions struck 12 ship lines in the Pacific Maritime Association March 16 after months of negotiations had failed to bring agreement on terms for a new contract.

The unions—the Sailors Union of the Pacific, the Marine Firemen and the Marine Cooks and Stewards—held out for a 17.5 per cent increase in wages and benefits. The shippers association offered an 11.5 per cent increase.

The walkout by an estimated 5,000 maritime workers has idled some 60 ships on the West Coast and in Hawaii. East Coast-based ships and foreign vessels are not involved.

Incumbents, with the exception of Ruston Mayor T. C. Beasley, were lead men in the area's top municipal Democratic primary elections yesterday.

At Ruston, Beasley was defeated by a narrow 52-vote margin by store manager John C. Clonninger of Rayville and Lawson O. Tait of Jonesboro, won re-nomination.

IN WINNFIELD

Incumbent Mayor Mrs. Mary W. Allen pulled far out front of five challengers in the Winnfield election, tallying 886 votes to her nearest opponent J. D. Taylor's, 393. Mrs. Allen and Taylor will enter the May 12 runoff. A total of six candidates had entered the race.

Mrs. Allen took office after the death of her husband, the late Mayor D. C. (Doc) Allen.

At Jena, Mayor Nick Edwards was returned to another tenure in office, defeating Eli Plummer by a vote of 685 to 338.

Winnsboro and Lake Providence both featured newcomers with the incumbents retiring.

W. E. (Frenchie) Marioneaux got the nod at Winnsboro, in a close 564-544 battle with Charlie C. Nelson.

All returns were complete but unofficial.

RUSTON (Special) — Ruston shoe store manager John W. Perritt defeated incumbent T. C. Beasley by a narrow 52-vote margin for mayor of Ruston in the city's Democratic Primary yesterday.

In the race for three contested aldermens' posts, Jeff Lain ousted incumbent H. B. Maxwell; James W. Spears edged Roy Fraser for a spot being vacated by Don McCormack, and incumbent W. A. J. Lewis easily defeated R. S. Wynn.

Mineral Sale Key To State Fiscal Steps

Special Budget Study Group To Await Outcome

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' legislative budget chairman Saturday said should expected state revenues fall short in next Wednesday's oil lease sale, the administration will decide what steps to take after that sale.

"We will meet the problem after Wednesday," said state Sen. W. J. Cleveland of Crowley, chairman of the governor's special budget study group.

VITAL PROBLEM

A shadow of payless paydays for some state agencies looms over the mineral board leasing. The state hopes — desperately — to gain at least $20 million or more in oil and gas leasings of state tracts.

The governor's budget committee has been examining state spending requests for next fiscal year which starts July 1. It can hardly decide anything until the news about the mineral lease sales.

The regular 60-day legislature convenes May 14, and there is no indication Davis wants to rush into a special session in any fiscal emergency.

Top administration leaders, who did not want to be identified, said emergency fiscal ideas were forming should emergency plans be necessary.

Commissioner of Administration James S. Reily, the governor's chief financial adviser, is waiting for the mineral board action when a total 489,280 acres, including offshore tracts, are offered for Former Mayor C. C. Bell Jr. held onto a slim 61-vote edge Saturday in West Monroe's first Democratic primary and will face incumbent J. Allan Norris in a run-off set for May 12.

Bell polled a total of 1514 votes out of a total of 3355 persons casting ballots, to Norris' 1453. Third man in the field, local accountant Richard U. Vallery, tallied 400, according to late unofficial returns.

In the race for aldermen, where 15 hopefuls were vying for five seats, the top 10 candidates, including four incumbents, Loy Heard, Ben Farmer, R. C. Jollissaint and A. P. Burkett, will square off in the second primary.

FIRST TIME OUT

Seeking his first public office A. E. "Earl" Duncan, an Olin Mathieson electrician, was high man, and will be followed into the primary by Mrs. Joyce T. Smith, one of two women seeking office in West Monroe for the first time, George Wylie, Charles Anding, A. L. DeLoach and G. B. Folds.

Eliminated in a bid for re-election was C. E. Ponder.

The three high men in a field of five running for seats on the city Democratic committee last night were incumbents Harold Hill, high with 2029 votes, and Gordy Roy, with 1889, as well as newcomer H. Bruce Evans. City Attorney Charles Traylor, himself eliminated from one of the posts, ruled a run-off would be unnecessary.

Local Doctor Raps Medical Aid Proposal

A Monroe physician charged Saturday that proponents of medical aid to the aged through the Social Security system are waging "a campaign of deception."

Dr. Roy Kelly told the steering committee of the Ouachita Parish Medical Society that "arguments in favor of compulsory government medicine for our senior citizens revolve around the spurious claim that such a program is a form of insurance guaranteeing medical care as a right."

Dr. Kelly said that backers of this measure . . . which is now pending in Congress — "are doing the country a great disservice by circulating this statement. Their aim, of course, is to foist on the American people a system of nationalized medicine under the innocuous guise of insurance.

"The medical aid proposal, known as the King - Anderson bill, would provide — at public expense — hospital and nursing home care for those 65 and over who are eligible for social security, regardless of their need and regardless of their income or other resources," he said.

"The King - Anderson proposal, like the Social Security system itself, is a tax program an nothing more. It is in no way insurance.

Arabs Free 4 Frenchmen In Spy Case

CAIRO (AP)—Four Frenchmen being tried for spying were unexpectedly released Saturday, and a government source said the action was in appreciation of the French cease-fire with Algerian nationalists.

The announcement came as a surprise in the court where four members of a special French diplomatic mission have been on trial for nearly three months. All four had denied spying on the United Arab Republic.

TRIAL HALTED

At official word that the trial was being halted and that the four would be permitted to leave for France on the first plane, the entire courtroom — defendants, their attorneys, prosecutors and spectators—burst into applause.

The trial was a legacy of the short-lived British-French invasion of the Suez Canal Zone in 1956 after President Gamal Abdel Nasser had seized control of the waterway. Cairo broke relations with Paris at the time of the attack and seized French property.

The four are Andrei Mattei, commission president; Jean-Paul Bellivier, Henri Mouton and Andre Miquel. They were members of a diplomatic mission allowed to go to Cairo to try to settle claims of French property owners.

They were arrested in Cairo last Nov. 26, and indicted on charges of espionage and plotting to assassinate Nasser. The latter charge never was pressed. A fifth mission member, Christian D-Aumale, had returned to France and was tried in absentia.

At their trial opening Jan. 15, the four Frenchmen repudiated purported confessions bearing their signatures, saying they were obtained under duress.

Cubans To Free Seven Americans

HAVANA (AP) — Seven American treasure hunters shipwrecked off Cuba's coast have been released from technical custody by the Castro government and will return to the United States early next week, the Swiss Embassy said Saturday.

Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer told reporters the seven men were lodged in a residence in Havana placed at their disposal by the Cuban government.

They have been asked not to leave the house, but no guards have been placed over them, he said.

The Swiss Embassy was asked by the U.S. government Friday to seek the release of the men after Cuban broadcasts announced that seven "frogmen" had been taken in custody in eastern Cuba.

The U.S. Coast Guard started a search for the men last Wednesday when trace was lost of their skindiving expedition in the windward passage between eastern Cuba and Haiti. They were en route to Jamaican waters to locate old sunken Spanish treasure ships.

They carried some dynamite to blast coral off sunken ships, a two-man submarine for explorations, a pistol and a rifle, and apparently some of their equipment first excited the susupcions of Cuban authorities.

40 Rebels Captured In Revolt

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Officials announced Saturday night 40 pro-Castro guerrillas have been captured in the army's drive to smash a three-day-old revolt in north-central Ecuador against the government of President Julio Carlos Arosemena.

Last reports said at least one soldier was killed and several persons were wounded in the fighting in the jungles of the Andean foothills, less than 50 miles from Quito.

The army hustled the captured insurgents into a military stockade near this capital. Officers later displayed to reporters a supply of seized weapons they said were smuggled into the country from Cuba.

The leader of the pro-Castro Revolutionary Union of Ecuadorian Youth, Jorge Rivadeneira, was reported among the prisoners brought by truck to Quito under strong guard and imprisoned at an army headquarters in the outskirts of the city. Defense Minister Francisco Tamariz said they will be tried but did not specify the charges.

The arms seized from the guerrillas included carbines, shotguns, and machetes. There also were some military maps.

Slayer Given 42-Year Term

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Grover Gross, accused of shooting down two businessmen whom he didn't know, was convicted on two counts of voluntary manslaughter Saturday and sentenced to 42 years in prison.

Gross, 49, an unemployed former mill hand, had been charged with murder in the slayings last November of Milton Horner of Fort Thomas and Irvin Corken Jr. of Cincinnati, both 37.

The men were shot on a street corner shortly after they finished lunch at a cafe. Testimony brought out that Gross didn't know either of them and that the victims apparently didn't know each other. No motive was established.

Fire Routs Children, Prisoners

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP)—Flames destroyed two large frame buildings in the central business district Saturday, forcing the evacuation of 100 county jail prisoners, 200 children attending a movie matinee and numerous apartment dwellers.

The blaze roared out of control for 3½ hours while more than 200 firemen from nine communities fought to subdue it.

Fire Chief Wally Foster said the blaze was brought under control at 5:30 p.m. There were no serious injuries, he said.

Damage was estimated unofficially at $250,000.

The fire wrecked a dozen stores located in the two buildings on East Main Street, including the lobby of the Strand Theater. The theater's main auditorium is in a fireproof building at the rear of the two razed buildings.

The fire alarm was turned in at 1:47 p.m. when a defective neon sign above a pizzeria set fire to the two-story building, Foster said. The flames spread rapidly.

A narrow alley separated the blazing building from the county hall of records, with the county jail located in the basement.

State police began evacuating the jail inmates.

Thirteen maximum-risk prisoners were manacled and taken to cells in the county courthouse two blocks away.

State Revenue Collections In Area Increased

Sales tax collections in the Monroe trade area have shown a distinct rise in February, 1962, as compared with February, 1961.

The total collected in February, 1961, was $318,998; the total collected in February, 1962 was $377,591. This is a rise of 18.4 percent.

However, the tax collections have dropped in all parishes in the area as compared to the January, 1962, total.

The parish, February, 1962 and February, 1961 totals and the per cent of rise is as follows:

Caldwell, $7,617, $7,189, 6 per cent; East Carroll, $13,238, $12,631, 4.8 per cent; Franklin, $21,912, $19,731, 11.1 per cent; Madison, $16,963, $15,559, 9 per cent; Morehouse, $39,805, $27,130, 46.7 per cent.

Ouachita, $215,592, $185,895, 16 per cent; Richland, $26,-118, $21,574, 21.1 per cent; Tensas, $8,457, $7,261, 16.5 per cent; Union, $14,456, $12,458, 16 per cent; West Carroll, $13,433, $9,570, 40.4 per cent.

Viet Nam Attack By Reds Fails

AN HOA, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government forces, tipped off by spies in the Communist Viet Cong, crushed an ambitious attack by 1,200 guerrillas in this district in a four-hour battle, South Vietnamese claimed Saturday.

"A few more wins like this and the back of the Viet Cong in the area will be broken," said one American military adviser.

About four guerrilla battalions launched the biggest Red offensive in months against this town, Tra Bong and other outposts in the Tra Bong District 330 miles northeast of Saigon at about 1 a.m. Friday.

An Hoa bore the brunt of the attack, in which artillery shells were fired pointblank into the Guerrillas.

The Communists broke off the attack and fled to the hills about 5 a.m. and T28 and AD6 fighter planes of the Vietnamese air force went in pursuit after daylight. Some of the guerrillas still were scattered in nearby hills.

Government forces captured two American-made recoiless rifles, and a variety of heavy machine guns and automatic arms bearing French, Chinese and North Korean markings.

Helicopters manned by American crews were busy ferrying ammunition and reinforcements to An Hoa and Tra Bong and carrying back wounded.

U.S.-BRITISH VENTURE

First International Space Launch Near

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The first international space satellite—a joint British-United States venture—is scheduled for launching next week. The firing may be viewed by members of the United Nations Outer Space Committee, including Soviet-bloc countries.

About 80 members of the 28-nation U.N. committee will fly here Tuesday to tour launching facilities at this spaceport and to receive briefing from U.S. experts.

Restrictions on Soviet travel in the Cape Canaveral area have been lifted for the trip, which is sponsored by the U.S. State Department. Two Russians will be in the U.N. party.

The visit has been timed to coincide with the launching of the Anglo-American satellite, and if no technical or other difficulties crop up, the United Nations delegates will be at the Cape for the liftoff of the U.S. Thor-Delta booster rocket.

U.S. and British scientists have worked closely for several months to develop the satellite, a 132-pound package which is designated S51. It will be given a name if it should achieve orbit.

The Americans built and tested the satellite body and will perform tracking and data acquisition of the orbiting vehicle.

The British developed the six scientific experiments in the satellite and will analyze the data received. The experiments are to provide information on:

U.S. MANNED LANDING

Scientist Suggests Shortcut To Moon

NEW YORK (AP) — A new shortcut to the moon — which might land an American there three years from now — was proposed Saturday by a U. S. space agency scientist.

If feasible, it could chop two years from the most optimistic date for landing an American on the moon.

Dr. John Houbolt said it might be possible for an astronaut to:

Then return to earth in the mother ship, leaving the little moonship behind, in orbit around the moon.

Such a two-piece spaceship could be put into orbit by a Saturn rocket, expected to be ready by 1966, said Dr. Houbolt of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center.

NASA currently is studying two other moon landing proposals that could meet President Kennedy's deadline: an American on the moon by 1970.

One plan would boost a three-man Apollo spacecraft directly to the moon with a giant Nova rocket, which is currently only in the planning stage. It might be ready by 1970.

The other would put two separate sections of the Apollo spacecraft into orbit around the earth with separate Saturn rockets.

Then 300 miles above the earth the astronauts would mate the two secions, and ride the huge spacecraft to the moon and then back to earth.

Viet Nam Attack By Reds Fails

AN HOA, South Viet Nam (AP) —Government forces, tipped off by spies in the Communist Viet Cong, crushed an ambitious attack by 1,200 guerrillas in this district in a four-hour battle, South Vietnamese claimed Saturday.

"A few more wins like this and the back of the Viet Cong in the area will be broken," said one American military adviser.

About four guerrilla battalions launched the biggest Red offensive in months against this town, Tra Bong and other outposts in the Tra Bong District 330 miles northeast of Saigon at about 1 a.m. Friday.

An Hoa bore the brunt of the attack, in which artillery shells were fired pointblank into the Guerrillas.

The Communists broke off the attack and fled to the hills about 5 a.m. and T28 and AD6 fighter planes of the Vietnamese air force went in pursuit after daylight. Some of the guerrillas still were scattered in nearby hills.

Government forces captured two American-made recoiless rifles, and a variety of heavy machine guns and automatic arms bearing French, Chinese and North Korean markings.

Helicopters manned by American crews were busy ferrying ammunition and reinforcements to An Hoa and Tra Bong and carrying back wounded.

40 Rebels Captured In Revolt

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Officials announced Saturday night 40 pro-Castro guerrillas have been captured in the army's drive to smash a three-day-old revolt in north-central Ecuador against the government of President Julio Carlos Arosemena.

Last reports said at least one soldier was killed and several persons were wounded in the fighting in the jungles of the Andean foothills, less than 50 miles from Quito.

The army hustled the captured insurgents into a military stockade near this capital. Officers later displayed to reporters a supply of seized weapons they said were smuggled into the country from Cuba.

The leader of the pro-Castro Revolutionary Union of Ecuadorian Youth, Jorge Rivadeneira, was reported among the prisoners brought by truck to Quito under strong guard and imprisoned at an army headquarters in the outskirts of the city. Defense Minister Francisco Tamariz said they will be tried but did not specify the charges.

The arms seized from the guerrillas included carbines, shotguns, and machetes. There also were some military maps.

Fire Routs Children, Prisoners

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP)—Flames destroyed two large frame buildings in the central business district Saturday, forcing the evacuation of 100 county jail prisoners, 200 children attending a movie matinee and numerous apartment dwellers.

The blaze roared out of control for 3½ hours while more than 200 firemen from nine communities fought to subdue it.

Fire Chief Wally Foster said the blaze was brought under control at 5:30 p.m. There were no serious injuries, he said.

Damage was estimated unofficially at $250,000.

The fire wrecked a dozen stores located in the two buildings on East Main Street, including the lobby of the Strand Theater. The theater's main auditorium is in a fireproof building at the rear of the two razed buildings.

The fire alarm was turned in at 1:47 p.m. when a defective neon sign above a pizzeria set fire to the two-story building, Foster said. The flames spread rapidly.

A narrow alley separated the blazing building from the county hall of records, with the county jail located in the basement.

State police began evacuating the jail inmates.

Thirteen maximum-risk prisoners were manacled and taken to cells in the county courthouse two blocks away.

U.S.-BRITISH VENTURE

First International Space Launch Near

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The first international space satellite—a joint British-United States venture—is scheduled for launching next week. The firing may be viewed by members of the United Nations Outer Space Committee, including Soviet-bloc countries.

About 80 members of the 28-nation U.N. committee will fly here Tuesday to tour launching facilities at this spaceport and to receive briefing from U.S. experts.

Restrictions on Soviet travel in the Cape Canaveral area have been lifted for the trip, which is sponsored by the U.S. State Department. Two Russians will be in the U.N. party.

The visit has been timed to coincide with the launching of the Anglo-American satellite, and if no technical or other difficulties crop up, the United Nations delegates will be at the Cape for the liftoff of the U.S. Thor-Delta booster rocket.

U.S. and British scientists have worked closely for several months to develop the satellite, a 132-pound package which is designated S51. It will be given a name if it should achieve orbit.

The Americans built and tested the satellite body and will perform tracking and data acquisition of the orbiting vehicle.

The British developed the six scientific experiments in the satellite and will analyze the data received. The experiments are to provide information on:

1. The ionosphere — the electrically charged atmospheric curtain around the earth, at altitudes of 50-200 miles—and how it is af-

Cloudy, Warm, Showers Slated

The weatherman took the old adage for granted — you know, the one about April showers — and has promised some more for today and tonight. Skies, as temperatures remain warm, will be cloudy to partly cloudy today.

The high in the Twin Cities is expected to be 68 today with a low tonight of 44.

Saturday's top reading was 69 degrees and the low was 50. Rainfall was recorded and measured at 0.26 inch at Selman Field late yesterday.

U.S. MANNED LANDING

Scientist Suggests Shortcut To Moon

NEW YORK (AP) — A new shortcut to the moon — which might land an American there three years from now — was proposed Saturday by a U. S. space agency scientist.

If feasible, it could chop two years from the most optimistic date for landing an American on the moon.

Dr. John Houbolt said it might be possible for an astronaut to:

Then return to earth in the mother ship, leaving the little moonship behind, in orbit around the moon.

Such a two-piece spaceship could be put into orbit by a Saturn rocket, expected to be ready by 1966, said Dr. Houbolt of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center.

NASA currently is studying two other moon landing proposals that could meet President Kennedy's deadline: an American on the moon by 1970.

One plan would boost a three-man Apollo spacecraft directly to the moon with a giant Nova rocket, which is currently only in the planning stage. It might be ready by 1970.

The other would put two separate sections of the Apollo spacecraft into orbit around the earth with separate Saturn rockets.

in the council race with 1202 votes, while Jollissaint, Heard and Farmer finished seventh, eight and ninth, pulling 1006, 980 and 972 ballots, respectively.

A total of 13,578 persons cast votes for aldermen. Overall, the turn-out approached 63 per cent of full registration of 5337, eligible to vote at eight polling places in precincts one, two, three, four, six, eight, nine and eleven.

Norris drew his chief strength from precinct 11, voting at the West Monroe fairgrounds, which reported early with 306 votes for the 61-year-old, two-time city chief executive, as opposed to 400 for Bell. He held slight edges also in precincts 9 and one, but showed up light in 6 where he lost by 45 votes with only 203 casting ballots, and 4, which Bell took 180 to 70. Bell held slight edges in 2, 3 and 8 as well.

Norris assumed the West Monroe mayoralty in 1952, being named to the post by then-Gov. Robert Kennon on the occasion of Bell's resignation, and has been both elected and re-elected since that time.

The 30-year-old Vallery drew spotty support last night, looking best on the basis of returns from the big box in precinct 11, where he pulled 114 votes, as opposed to 518 and 400 for Norris and Bell, respectively.

Contacted for a statement as final returns were being tabulated, Mayor Norris said he appreciated the vote he did receive and that he was "not discouraged." He pledged to "see everyone between now and the run-off."

Bell said, in a prepared statement, "I express my sincere appreciation on behalf of my wife, my son and myself, for the nice vote of confidence given me in the election Saturday. I am very pleased with the fine vote I received and will always be deeply grateful to those who supported me.

"In the second primary, I will continue to seek the favor of the electorate by employing the most honest methods at my command. My efforts in the second primary will continue to be guided by earnest appeal based on my own merits."

PRO-INTEGRATIONISTS

N.O. Catholic Lay Group Is Disbanded

The leader, who asked that his name not be mentioned, declined comment on the reason for the breakup. He said any answer would have to come from the archbishop.

The archbishop's chancery, when asked for a statement, declined comment beyond its reaction Friday to formation of the committee — organized as the "Catholic Laymen Supporting School Integration."

The chancery said then no approval had been sought or given by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel either for the group or its purpose.

Five Catholic lay proponents of parochial school desegregation met with Cody late Friday night after they issued a statement supporting Archbishop Rummel's decision to integrate Catholic schools in his archdiocese next fall.

A sixth lay leader who signed the proposal, Harold F. Dittman, received police protection after he reported that an anonymous phone caller threatened "to blow my brains out."

Local Doctor Raps Medical Aid Proposal

on active workers and their employers to pay for medical benefits for the elderly — whether they needed or wanted such benefits."

He said sponsors of the King-Anderson bill "know that provisions of the bill itself constitute a denial of the argument that wage earners would be building up a fund for their future medical benefits which they would receive as a matter or fight."

He pointed out that American citizens living abroad would be denied medical benefits under the King - Anderson bill, even though they may have paid into the program all their working lives before leaving the country.

"What would happen to their rights?" the doctor asked. "They wouldn't even be able to recover the money they had paid into the fund."

He continued, "Furthermore, the nation's employers would be compelled to pay half the tax for this program. What would they get as a matter of right

"Isn't it time the sponsors of this bad medicine bill stopped trying to hoodwink the American people with false statements about this legislation? Isn't it time they started admitting their bill would force wage earners and their employers to pay higher taxes to finance a program that would provide medical care to millions of people who are well able to take care of themselves

"Isn't it time they acknowledged that their scheme would actually cost our elderly citizens the right to participate in a system of medicine which guarantees them the free choice of physician and hospital" he concluded.

Cleaning Drive In Catahoula Set For April

JONESVILLE (Special) — A clean-up, paint-up and fix up campaign has been launched in Catahoula parish for the month of April with all civic clubs, municipalities, and governing bodies taking part.

Many projects have been instigated by the various clubs in Jonesville in cooperation with the town of Jonesville.

In Harrisonburg a project has been launched to develop "Fort Hill" into a tourist attraction.

Sicily Island is also making a drive to beautify their town further, especially during the month of April in cooperation with all other towns and communities over the parish.

Individuals of Enterprise, Manifest, Walters, Archie, Larto, Mayna, Pine Hill, Foules and smaller communities have indicated their intention for a complete parish wide cleanup drive.

C. A. McGuffee, president of the Catahoula Parish School Board, and Emmit Haygood, president of the Catahoula Parish Police Jury, have also joined in on the campaign in issuing a clean-up, paint-up, fix-up, program for the entire parish in connection with schools and roads.

Jonesville hopes to within the month through the aid of the Louisiana Department of Highways personnel and equipment, reblacktop some 10 miles of municipal streets. Harrisonburg by the same token has on their agenda to blacktop immediately one-half of the Taliaferro Road.

"We want to make our towns and the entire parish an attractive place in which to live, and also for the tourists whom we hope to attract to our area," a spokesman for one of the clubs said in making the announcement.

Senior Play

JONESVILLE (Special) — The annual Harrisonburg high school senior class play will be held on Thursday, April 19, according to Mrs. Nola Jones, sponsor. The play will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

fected by radiation from the sun. The ions of electrically charged particles are believed to be generated by solar radiation, and are lost by recombination processes so that density of the ionosphere varies from day to night. The ionosphere reflects radio waves and thus makes long-range communications on earth possible.

2. Primary cosmic radiation. One experiment is to measure accurately the spectrum of primary cosmic ray energy and the changes that result from action of the interplanatary magnetic field.

The combination of instruments will make it possible to correlate measurements of several different kinds, in order to help establish relations between various space phenomena.

The satellite experiments were selected by the Royal Society of England. They were furnished by four British educational institutions: Imperial College of London, University of Birmingham, University of Leicester, and University College of London.

It is a cylinder 23 inches in diameter, with solar panels, and antennae and booms containing sensors and some experiments.

The reliable Thor-Delta, which has launched seven straight satellites successfully, is to hoist the parcel into an orbit ranging from 200 to 600 miles high.

The program evolved from a U.S. proposal in March 1959 to the International Committee on Space Research. The committee members were offered an opportunity to prepare experiments or complete satellites to be flown on American launch vehicles.

Mineral Sale Key To State Fiscal Steps

bids. Reily never has given up his optimism.

The chief problem is this:

State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell has closed off payments from the state general fund, the main source of many state operating expenses, saying there is no more money for this fund the final two months of this fiscal year ending June 30.

The question bothering many state agencies now — especially hospitals and institutions — is where will the money come from for paydays between now and the legislative session if the treasury remains short.

Officials said some may be able to take their own steps to meet payrolls until the legislature meets. By putting off other bills while concentrating what they have to meet paydays.

Agencies without such reserves, however, would be caught in a trap.

The big spending departments — education, highways, welfare and such groups as the state department of revenue—would have no immediate payday headaches because they have dedicated state revenues.

DR. HUNTER INSTALLED

Rusk Addresses Crowd At LSU

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Saturday Russia's refusal to accept international inspection led to an impasse in nuclear testing and disarmament talks.

"Secrecy" and disarmament are utterly incompatible," he said. "What we ought to be able to do is to make the problem of trust irrelevant."

Rusk spoke to about 4,000 educators, public officials, students and guests at the inauguration of Dr. John A. Hunter as president of Louisiana State University. Formal ceremonies were held in the LSU coliseum here.

Rusk, who attended Davidson College, N. C., with Hunter, received an honorary doctor of laws degree before returning to Washington by plane.

In his inaugural speech, Hunter said his administration of LSU could have but one objective, "to serve in an even more effective way the people of this state."

He said, "the requisite for this service rests first in a superior academic program which is available to all qualified students — a program which constantly seeks the highest standard of excellence, a program that is conducted as efficiently and as economically as possible."

The university, he said, also must "exert untiring efforts toward further development of a forward-looking service program that will reach and benefit every home and business in this state.

"If we accomplish these goals for the people of Louisiana," Hunter said, "LSU at the same time will make its maximum contribution to a free and growing America and to the peace and development of the entire world."

He said LSU must have an "open door" policy to state residents and students of other states and even foreign countries.

Hunter earlier expressed the belief all Louisiana graduates of accredited high schools should be entitled to at least one semester in college, although many may fail. He took the stand many youngsters mature and return to college to graduate.

The 'open door" policy statement referred to a long standing Louisiana argument whether high school students with below average records should be allowed to enter colleges.

Hunter is known as a firm segregationist. His statement apparently had nothing to do with racial desegregation. LSU already is desegregated at the graduate and professional school level.

N.O. Catholic Lay Group Is Disbanded

The leader, who asked that his name not be mentioned, declined comment on the reason for the breakup. He said any answer would have to come from the archbishop.

The archbishop's chancery, when asked for a statement, declined comment beyond its reaction Friday to formation of the committee — organized as the "Catholic Laymen Supporting School Integration."

The chancery said then no approval had been sought or given by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel either for the group or its purpose.

Five Catholic lay proponents of parochial school desegregation met with Cody late Friday night after they issued a statement supporting Archbishop Rummel's decision to integrate Catholic schools in his archdiocese next fall.

A sixth lay leader who signed the proposal, Harold F. Dittman, received police protection after he reported that an anonymous phone caller threatened "to blow my brains out."

Rusk Addresses Crowd At LSU

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Saturday Russia's refusal to accept international inspection led to an impasse in nuclear testing and disarmament talks.

"Secrecy" and disarmament are utterly incompatible," he said. "What we ought to be able to do is to make the problem of trust irrelevant."

Rusk spoke to about 4,000 educators, public officials, students and guests at the inauguration of Dr. John A. Hunter as president of Louisiana State University. Formal ceremonies were held in the LSU coliseum here.

Rusk, who attended Davidson College, N. C., with Hunter, received an honorary doctor of laws degree before returning to Washington by plane.

In his inaugural speech, Hunter said his administration of LSU could have but one objective, "to serve in an even more effective way the people of this state."

He said, "the requisite for this service rests first in a superior academic program which is available to all qualified students — a program which constantly seeks the highest standard of excellence, a program that is conducted as efficiently and as economically as possible."

The university, he said, also must "exert untiring efforts toward further development of a forward-looking service program that will reach and benefit every home and business in this state.

"If we accomplish these goals for the people of Louisiana," Hunter said, "LSU at the same time will make its maximum contribution to a free and growing America and to the peace and development of the entire world."

He said LSU must have an "open door" policy to state residents and students of other states and even foreign countries.

Hunter earlier expressed the belief all Louisiana graduates of accredited high schools should be entitled to at least one semester in college, although many may fail. He took the stand many youngsters mature and return to college to graduate.

The 'open door" policy statement referred to a long standing Louisiana argument whether high school students with below average records should be allowed to enter colleges.

Hunter is known as a firm segregationist. His statement apparently had nothing to do with racial desegregation. LSU already is desegregated at the graduate and professional school level.

Rusk, wearing academic cap and gown, said Berlin remains a serious and unresolved, and particularly dangerous problem.

It will remain at the top of his agenda, he said.

on active workers and their employers to pay for medical benefits for the elderly — whether they needed or wanted such benefits."

He said sponsors of the King-Anderson bill "know that provisions of the bill itself constitute a denial of the argument that wage earners would be building up a fund for their future medical benefits which they would receive as a matter or fight."

He pointed out that American citizens living abroad would be denied medical benefits under the King - Anderson bill, even though they may have paid into the program all their working lives before leaving the country.

"What would happen to their rights?" the doctor asked. "They wouldn't even be able to recover the money they had paid into the fund."

He continued, "Furthermore, the nation's employers would be compelled to pay half the tax for this program. What would they get as a matter of right

"Isn't it time the sponsors of this bad medicine bill stopped trying to hoodwink the American people with false statements about this legislation? Isn't it time they started admitting their bill would force wage earners and their employers to pay higher taxes to finance a program that would provide medical care to millions of people who are well able to take care of themselves

"Isn't it time they acknowledged that their scheme would actually cost our elderly citizens the right to participate in a system of medicine which guarantees them the free choice of physician and hospital" he concluded.

Cleaning Drive In Catahoula Set For April

JONESVILLE (Special) — A clean-up, paint-up and fix up campaign has been launched in Catahoula parish for the month of April with all civic clubs, municipalities, and governing bodies taking part.

Many projects have been instigated by the various clubs in Jonesville in cooperation with the town of Jonesville.

In Harrisonburg a project has been launched to develop "Fort Hill" into a tourist attraction.

Sicily Island is also making a drive to beautify their town further, especially during the month of April in cooperation with all other towns and communities over the parish.

Individuals of Enterprise, Manifest, Walters, Archie, Larto, Mayna, Pine Hill, Foules and smaller communities have indicated their intention for a complete parish wide cleanup drive.

C. A. McGuffee, president of the Catahoula Parish School Board, and Emmit Haygood, president of the Catahoula Parish Police Jury, have also joined in on the campaign in issuing a clean-up, paint-up, fix-up, program for the entire parish in connection with schools and roads.

Jonesville hopes to within the month through the aid of the Louisiana Department of Highways personnel and equipment, reblacktop some 10 miles of municipal streets. Harrisonburg by the same token has on their agenda to blacktop immediately one-half of the Taliaferro Road.

"We want to make our towns and the entire parish an attractive place in which to live, and also for the tourists whom we hope to attract to our area," a spokesman for one of the clubs said in making the announcement.

Senior Play

JONESVILLE (Special) — The annual Harrisonburg high school senior class play will be held on Thursday, April 19, according to Mrs. Nola Jones, sponsor. The play will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The title is "Finders Creepers," a mystery comedy.

Mineral Sale Key To State Fiscal Steps

bids. Reily never has given up his optimism.

The chief problem is this:

State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell has closed off payments from the state general fund, the main source of many state operating expenses, saying there is no more money for this fund the final two months of this fiscal year ending June 30.

The question bothering many state agencies now — especially hospitals and institutions — is where will the money come from for paydays between now and the legislative session if the treasury remains short.

Officials said some may be able to take their own steps to meet payrolls until the legislature meets. By putting off other bills while concentrating what they have to meet paydays.

Agencies without such reserves, however, would be caught in a trap.

The big spending departments — education, highways, welfare and such groups as the state department of revenue—would have no immediate payday headaches because they have dedicated state revenues.

fected by radiation from the sun. The ions of electrically charged particles are believed to be generated by solar radiation, and are lost by recombination processes so that density of the ionosphere varies from day to night. The ionosphere reflects radio waves and thus makes long-range communications on earth possible.

2. Primary cosmic radiation. One experiment is to measure accurately the spectrum of primary cosmic ray energy and the changes that result from action of the interplanatary magnetic field.

The combination of instruments will make it possible to correlate measurements of several different kinds, in order to help establish relations between various space phenomena.

The satellite experiments were selected by the Royal Society of England. They were furnished by four British educational institutions: Imperial College of London, University of Birmingham, University of Leicester, and University College of London.

It is a cylinder 23 inches in diamater, with solar panels, and antannae and booms containing sensors and some experiments.

The reliable Thor-Delta, which has launched seven straight satellites successfully, is to hoist the parcel into an orbit ranging from 200 to 600 miles high.

The program evolved from a U.S. proposal in March 1959 to the International Committee on Space Research. The committee members were offered an opportunity to prepare experiments or complete satellites to be flown on American launch vehicles.

Amish Lose Plea On Buggy Lamps

LANCASTER, Pa. (UPI) —The Amish were informed Friday they must continue to use red flashing warnings lamps on their buggies.

The sect sought permission from the state Bureau of Traffic Safety to reduce the candlepower of the lamps to eight and burn them with a steady glow so they wouldn't be too "worldly."

Harold P. Pierce, chief of the bureau's inspection division, said 15 candlepower lamp bulbs would be permitted. He also said the Amish could use a bracket to extend lamps a minimum of four inches from the side of their buggies to prevent them from being mistaken by motorists for turn signals.

SOLVE BATHING PROBLEM

TOYOMA, Japan (AP) — The modern ban on mixed nude bathing put the bathhouse keepers of Ogawa-Motoyu village in an economic dilemma until a simple solution occurred. They couldn't afford separate bathhouses for the sexes or a partition for the old one so, now to popular satisfaction, they're selling and renting panties.

DEMOCRATS PREDICT

JFK Tariff Bill To Clear Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are confident they have the votes to move legislation for sweeping new presidential tariff-cutting powers past its first big test—approval by the House Ways and Means Committee.

As for other parts of President Kennedy's broad proposed trade expansion act, especially a program to help import-damaged businesses and workers, majority party members are not so optimistic. But they're not discouraged, either.

"I think the bill will come out largely as the President wants it, with some tinkering and some window-dressing," one high Democratic source said. He would not be quoted by name.

Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, which hopes to conclude almost five weeks of hearings next Wednesday, have no immediate plans to meet and seek a common position on the measure.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., who often speaks for the committee minority, said, "I think we'll wait and get some idea of what the committee as a whole thinks of the various parts of the bill."

The official Republican party organization in the House has taken no position on reciprocal trade as such. Traditionally, the lines have been drawn on economic rather than political bases when the trade act is extended in the House.

But this year's presidential recommendation involves much more than merely extending the act, and questioning by Republican committee members of some of the witnesses pinpoints some likely GOP targets:

1. Provisions for technical aid, loans and tax helps for businesses hurt by increased imports, and for extended unemployment, retraining and moving payments for workers whose jobs are lost because of imports.

2. What some witnesses have called a weakening of the "escape clause" provisions in the law, under which the Tariff Commission can recommend cancellation of a tariff cut if it causes undue harm. The President is not obliged to follow the recommendation but under a never-used provision of present law, Congress by two-thirds vote may require him to do so. This provision would be dropped in the new act and strict standards for "escape clause" relief would be spelled out.

3. The absence, as some Republicans describe it, of directions to the President and his designated negotiators to bring about removal of nontariff barriers against U.S. goods—quotas, discriminatory taxes and the like.

Amish Lose Plea On Buggy Lamps

LANCASTER, Pa. (UPI) —The Amish were informed Friday they must continue to use red flashing warnings lamps on their buggies.

The sect sought permission from the state Bureau of Traffic Safety to reduce the candlepower of the lamps to eight and burn them with a steady glow so they wouldn't be too "worldly."

Harold P. Pierce, chief of the bureau's inspection division, said 15 candlepower lamp bulbs would be permitted. He also said the Amish could use a bracket to extend lamps a minimum of four inches from the side of their buggies to prevent them from being mistaken by motorists for turn signals.

SOLVE BATHING PROBLEM

TOYOMA, Japan (AP) — The modern ban on mixed nude bathing put the bathhouse keepers of Ogawa-Motoyu village in an economic dilemma until a simple solution occurred. They couldn't afford separate bathhouses for the sexes or a partition for the old one so, now to popular satisfaction, they're selling and renting panties.

DEMOCRATS PREDICT

JFK Tariff Bill To Clear Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are confident they have the votes to move legislation for sweeping new presidential tariff-cutting powers past its first big test—approval by the House Ways and Means Committee.

As for other parts of President Kennedy's broad proposed trade expansion act, especially a program to help import-damaged businesses and workers, majority party members are not so optimistic. But they're not discouraged, either.

"I think the bill will come out largely as the President wants it, with some tinkering and some window-dressing," one high Democratic source said. He would not be quoted by name.

Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, which hopes to conclude almost five weeks of hearings next Wednesday, have no immediate plans to meet and seek a common position on the measure.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., who often speaks for the committee minority, said, "I think we'll wait and get some idea of what the committee as a whole thinks of the various parts of the bill."

The official Republican party organization in the House has taken no position on reciprocal trade as such. Traditionally, the lines have been drawn on economic rather than political bases when the trade act is extended in the House.

But this year's presidential recommendation involves much more than merely extending the act, and questioning by Republican committee members of some of the witnesses pinpoints some likely GOP targets:

1. Provisions for technical aid, loans and tax helps for businesses hurt by increased imports, and for extended unemployment, retraining and moving payments for workers whose jobs are lost because of imports.

2. What some witnesses have called a weakening of the "escape clause" provisions in the law, under which the Tariff Commission can recommend cancellation of a tariff cut if it causes undue harm. The President is not obliged to follow the recommendation but under a never-used provision of present law, Congress by two-thirds vote may require him to do so. This provision would be dropped in the new act and strict standards for "escape clause" relief would be spelled out.

3. The absence, as some Republicans describe it, of directions to the President and his designated negotiators to bring about removal of nontariff barriers against U.S. goods—quotas, discriminatory taxes and the like.

BOB? OR ROBERTA

Squirrely Citizen Is Not So Nutty

West Monroe's said to have more than its share of squirrel hunters. But they needn't read this — it's strictly pro-squirrel.

Or pro-one particular squirrel, in any event, and that's Bob.

About the only regular downtown denizen of a normally tree-topped kingdom that we know of, the outspokenly sociable little animal — he's a rodent but doesn't know it — can be found almost any day, chirping and barking at passers-by from one or another several trees around or near the city hall.

From such vantage points, he's become almost a tourist attraction, as well as a confidante of city employees passing a favorite oak tree on the way to a nearby coffee shop. Bob seems to take an equal interest in many of those exhibiting an interest in him, giving them the fast once-over for possibly concealed bits of squirrel-type food.

And, in the spring, the more watchful around city hall can get a pretty good show out of him. Bob's even been spotted racing up the sides of that bare brick seat of city government. Don't ask who said so, because that's a neat trick for any sort of a creature. But, then, for a number of reasons, he may not be so very different from his human admirers, and probably has worries and problems of his own.

In the first place, did you ever wonder what it would be like to go through life with only half a tail? A frightening thought, isn't it — but that's exactly the predicament facing Bob, the result of a dispute with an automobile in the middle of Natchitoches Street. Needless to say, he lost the decision, and a piece of his anatomy as well.

Hence, the name "Bob" given to him soon after the occasion of that crisis in his life about two years ago, or roughly half his life span to date.

HAS A FAMILY

For another thing, while the new spring season, best known for its bounty of greenery and new growth of varying types, has failed so far to provide Bob with the full-sized tail he would have liked, it's already blessed (?) him with a guaranteed full-sized family.

At least that's the word from Mignon Pittman, apparently one of Bob's favorite people, who's taken it upon herself to feed him during the leaner times, among them the recent snowfall. Mignon reports sighting, on several occasions, a fine little brood of three to four "squirrelettes" following closely upon Bob's three to four inch, white-tipped, semi-tail.

They've set up housekeeping in a big, leafless pecan tree across the street from the city hall.

Incidentally, it's not been definitely established as to whether Bob's male or female, and only careful study in the future will determine if a name change is in order. At any rate, he or she is stuck with the child-rearing bit. The presence of Bob's opposite number — the father or mother, as the case might be — has been wisely surmised by spectators, of course, but no other squirrel of romantic inclinations actually has been noted in the area.

And, as if all this weren't enough, Bob's life is not entirely free of peril, even living inside city limits, with police protection and everything. And, apart from cars, his original downfall.

City clerk Harold Hill, for example, recalls the tragic fate befalling one of Bob's former associates a couple years back, when he had the shocking experience to get the unpleasant end of an argument with a power transformer. Lights were out for a while in the area as a result of that one and a lineman was required to recover the animal. But, that's another story.

8 Burglaries Are Cleared With Arrest

Eight burglaries in which loot totaling over $350 were cleared Saturday with the arrest of a 19-year-old West Monroe youth.

The Ouachita Parish sheriff's department, who is holding the youth, identified him as Charles McClain, 19 of 111 Filhoil St., West Monroe.

They said the burglaries that have been cleared have all occurred during the past two months, with the most recent one being at the Mitchell Elementary School in West Monroe last Thursday night.

Those cleared include the burglaries of Shady Grove Grammar School on Ticheli Road; Clara Hall Grammar School, Plum Street in Monroe; two burglaries of Mitchell Elementary School in West Monroe; Harper's Army Surplus Store, and Harper's Service Station, both on Riverfront Street, West Monroe; Ainsworth's Service Station at Forsythe Avenue and Oliver Road; and Smith Hotchkiss Company, Inc., at 230 Stanley Ave., Monroe.

Various amounts of money were taken from each place except at Harper's Army Surplus and Harper's Service Station, where nothing was reported missing.

N.O. To Open Observance Of War Centennial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New Orleans will begin its formal observance of the Civil War Centennial Thursday with ceremonies that will include lectures and exhibits.

Principal speaker at Thursday's opening ceremony will be Dr. T. Harry Williams, Boyd professor of history at Louisiana State University.

Following his speech, a 32-panel exhibit will be opened inside Gallier Hall, which was the City Hall at the time of the fall of New Orleans to Union Admiral David Farragut 100 years ago this month.

The exhibit will be open to the public through June 2.

CLIMBERS TO WED

LONDON (AP)—Susan Hunt, 20, daughter of Sir John Hunt, leader of the 1953 commonwealth expedition that topped Mt. Everest, plans to marry New Zealander George Lowe, 38, photographer of that expedition and of the later antarctic exploits led by Sir Vivian Fuchs. Her hobby: Mountain climbing.

CADET BRIGADE

Salvation Army Group Training Here Two Weeks

A brigade of cadet officers of the Salvation Army from Atlanta, Ga., are in Monroe for about a week for spring training. After arriving Friday, the men are stationed at the local Salvation Army headquarters.

This training is part of a two-year education program for the members of the army. There are about 101 cadets in the school, which concerns itself with about a 15 state area.

Candidates for officers in the Salvation Army have to be high school graduates or have the equivalent. About 40 per cent of the students in the school come from a religious background with the army; 60 per cent make up the other part, according to army officials.

In the 96 countries in which the Salvation Army works, the primary motive is "to spread God's word to those who are lost and meet the needs of man," according to Capt. W. E. Gratham, commander of the local office.

The basic pattern of teaching is Methodist, with Methodist songs and doctrine, he said.

"Of course, after we have helped a man or woman back on the right track," said Brigade Major E. Harold Ferking, "they go back to their religion if they wish." Some stay and are made soldiers of the army and work along with the trained officers.

FIRST PERIOD

This is the first time in the almost 100-year teachings of the Salvation Army that the school has had a two-year study period. Recently only a year was required. During this new trial of classes the cadets are taught about 50 subjects, he explained.

The wives of the officers and cadets also have to be in the same work. Their jobs are most important when the work calls for helping a distraught wife or child.

On Tuesday they will be luncheon guests of the Downtown Lions Club and Thursday the luncheon guests of the Downtown Rotary Club. A program will be presented by the guests at both times.

Several radio stations and television programs have been designed for the week commemorating their spring taining in Monroe.

Capt. Grantham pointed out that Salvation Army is the main church in Sweden, second in England and rates 11th among churches of the world.

TRAVELING LIBRARY

Bookmobile Hailed Throughout Parish

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
World Staff Writer

Unsure of his route, the new driver guided the Bookmobile over parish roads one hot summer day in 1961. Nearing Lenwill school, he asked librarian Mrs. Richard Clark, "Where should I stop?"

Three groups of children blocked the street, waving their hands and shouting.

"He had to stop," she recalled, during a discussion of National Library Week starting today.

A popular library-on-wheels, the Ouachita Parish Public Library's Bookmobile travels 15 different routes outside the Monroe-West Monroe city limits, makes 82 stops over a three-week schedule, and circulates as many as 1500 books in one day.

The youngsters love it. How about adults?

"I don't have a telephone or television, but we don't need them. We've got the Bookmobile," — this from a country housewife.

"I don't know what my parents would do without these books," revealed a young girl to librarian Mrs. Harold McClure. "My father is retired . . . he isn't well. My mother isn't well, either. Every third Monday morning, early, they start listening for the Bookmobile horn."

AIDED GRADUATION

One local resident credits her graduation from high school to the Bookmobile's influence. While at Calhoun High, she borrowed book after book of information on royalty, to gather information for a term paper.

"She told me twice that she couldn't have graduated without it, says Mrs. J. B. Landreaux, cataloguer at the main library.

Another local woman with insomnia reads all night long. "If it weren't for the Bookmobile stopping right in front of my house, I wouldn't have anything to read," she told librarian Mrs. Dixie Barker.

The Bookmobile stops at 15 schools, 10 stores, 45 homes, two post offices, four company villages, three neighborhoods, the Cheniere station, Louisiana Experimental station, and one old folks home outside the city limits.

In March, its record month since service started 12 years ago, the Bookmobile travelled 699 miles, and circulated 14,586 books in 22 days.

Seven thousand persons are registered borrowers — 130 signed up on the first day's trip, March 31, 1948. Since then, one Bookmobile has worn out, another is in service, and American Library Association standards call for a third, so the parish could be served on a two-week schedule.

Staff consists of one or two regular librarians and driver — "Different people go every day," comments head librarian Miss Frances Flanders. "It's a hard day's work."

"It does so much more good, because it is personal," said Mrs. Clark. "There is tremendous enthusiasm. I go to three schools, and adult stops after that. They are very disappointed when bad weather keeps us in, or vacation throws us off schedule.

"We've been asked many times, 'Why not come back tomorrow?'."

Practically every child who comes onto the Bookmobile takes out the limit of five books and three magazines.

"They have great pride in bringing a new child to the Bookmobile," Mrs. Clark smiled. "In fact, sometimes, two of them will have a little fight over who is going to explain it to the new one."

Approximately 1000 books are on board the mobile library each day, from the 12,976 reserved for it in the library.

"When we buy a new book we also buy one for the Bookmobile," said Miss Flanders.

What's the most popular magazine on board? National Geographic — any issue of it.

"When you think about all those little children, sitting around reading the National Geographic, you know they're bound to be smarter when they grow up," she said.

"They unerringly pick out the best book."

Writer Lauds Libraries And Services

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a letter written in tribute to libraries and books during National Library Week which is being observed this week.)

"The observance of National Library Week seems an especially fitting time to acknowledge with great gratitude the countless ways that books and libraries enrich our lives. The public library is truly a "window on the world" and its resources and services will instruct, inspire and delight all who enter it. "Let's go to the library" is an invitation to which each member of my family has always responded with happy enthusiasm and to live in a community where the library is a vital, vigorous institution is a privilege that all of us should cherish.

"I have always felt a sincere appreciation for the many services provided by the public library and recently my concept and appreciation of library service has assumed a new dimension. For me, the public library has come to be a most inspiring symbol of freedom in the grandest American tradition. It is no wonder that most would-be tyrants and dictators begin stifling a people's ability to think and to reason by controlling what they may read. Books, after all, are ideas and tyranny cannot tolerate diversity of thought or opinion. The open shelves of our public libraries invite us to read, to evaluate, to weigh, and to exercise our most precious right — the privilege of thinking for ourselves. A public library, locally supported and governed, stands as the proud product of an enlightened citizenery.

"Have you recently visited the public library or one of its branches? Do you and each member of your family have a library card? Are you availing yourself of its fascinating array of books, current magazines, newspapers and recordings? Do your children go there for help in their school work? Are you and your family learning to make the public library an integral part of daily living? If the answer is "no", why not observe National Library Week with a trip to the library or one of its convenient branches? You will find there, as I always have, the knowledge and information that helps us to value and respect the traditions of the past, to live joyfully and productively in the present, and to move confidentially into the future."

Solons Approve Funds Bill To Run Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee has voted about $140 million to run Congress next fiscal year — and said House members aren't taking full advantage of all the office help allowed them.

The committee's report said members could have employed 1,000 more helpers last year than the 3,071 currently on their authorized payrolls.

According to the report, 330 of the 436 congressmen are using less than their full allowance for clerk hire which will amount to about $20.4 million for the 12 months beginning July 1. In general, each member is entitled to hire up to nine clerks at salaries totalling about $40,000 for each office.

The new money bill, which comes up for House approval next week, would provide $113,733,890 to run the House, the Library of Congress, the government printing office and other joint House-Senate functions. Later, the Senate will add about $30 million to cover its costs.

This year's recommended appropriation was more than $8 million above the figure voted last session. The committee said this reflected previously committed construction costs for a new House office building and a warehouse for the government printing office.

May Is Named To Commission

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis has named Robert Lee Ray, Route 2, Breaux Bridge, to membership on the State Market Commission, records of the Secretary of State's office showed Saturday.

Ray replaced George Depuis as Third Congressional District member of the board. Dupuis resigned.

Other commissions issued by the office of Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. during the week ended April 3 included:

L. T. Brown, Minden, member of the state Licensing Board for Contractors.

Burton Makes Trip Alone To See His Wife

PARIS (AP) — Actor Richard Burton—minus actress Elizabeth Taylor—arrived in Paris Saturday for a meeting with his wife, Sybil, and a day of movie work.

Affable and smiling, Burton flew in from Rome to do some scenes for "The Longest Day," a film based on the D-Day landings. The meeting with his wife was in contradiction to a statement by a member of his Rome entourage that such a meeting was impossible.

"There is no question of Elizabeth Taylor meeting me in Paris," said Burton before he hurried off from the airport to meet his wife. Mrs. Burton had arrived earlier from London.

Mrs. Burton has been staying in England while her husband and Miss Taylor have been making "Cleopatra" together in Rome.

CADET BRIGADE

Salvation Army Group Training Here Two Weeks

A brigade of cadet officers of the Salvation Army from Atlanta, Ga., are in Monroe for about a week for spring training. After arriving Friday, the men are stationed at the local Salvation Army headquarters.

This training is part of a two-year education program for the members of the army. There are about 101 cadets in the school, which concerns itself with about a 15 state area.

Candidates for officers in the Salvation Army have to be high school graduates or have the equivalent. About 40 per cent of the students in the school come from a religious background with the army; 60 per cent make up the other part, according to army officials.

In the 96 countries in which the Salvation Army works, the primary motive is "to spread God's word to those who are lost and meet the needs of man,' 'according to Capt. W. E. Gratham, commander of the local office.

The basic pattern of teaching is Methodist, with Methodist songs and doctrine, he said.

"Of course, after we have helped a man or woman back on the right track," said Brigade Major E. Harold Ferking, "they go back to their religion if they wish." Some stay and are made soldiers of the army and work along with the trained officers.

FIRST PERIOD

This is the first time in the almost 100-year teachings of the Salvation Army that the school has had a two-year study period. Recently only a year was required. During this new trial of classes the cadets are taught about 50 subjects, he explained.

The wives of the officers and cadets also have to be in the same work. Their jobs are most important when the work calls for helping a distraught wife or child.

On Tuesday they will be luncheon guests of the Downtown Lions Club and Thursday the luncheon guests of the Downtown Rotary Club. A program will be presented by the guests at both times.

Several radio stations and television programs have been designed for the week commemorating their spring taining in Monroe.

Capt. Grantham pointed out that Salvation Army is the main church in Sweden, second in England and rates 11th among churches of the world.

TRAVELING LIBRARY

Bookmobile Hailed Throughout Parish

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
World Staff Writer

Unsure of his route, the new driver guided the Bookmobile over parish roads one hot summer day in 1961. Nearing Lenwill school, he asked librarian Mrs. Richard Clark, "Where should I stop?"

"When you turn the corner, you'll see," she laughed.

Three groups of children blocked the street, waving their hands and shouting.

"He had to stop," she recalled, during a discussion of National Library Week starting today.

A popular library-on-wheels, the Ouachita Parish Public Library's Bookmobile travels 15 different routes outside the Monroe-West Monroe city limits, makes 82 stops over a three-week schedule, and circulates as many as 1500 books in one day.

The youngsters love it. How about adults?

"I don't have a telephone or television, but we don't need them. We've got the Bookmobile," — this from a country housewife.

"I don't know what my parents would do without these books," revealed a young girl to librarian Mrs. Harold McClure. "My father is retired . . . he isn't well. My mother isn't well, either. Every third Monday morning, early, they start listening for the Bookmobile horn."

Stab Victim Said Resting Well Saturday

Fern Dell Brown, 27-year-old victim of a severe stabbing Friday, was reported past the "critical stage" and "resting well" by relatives at the St. Franics hospital last night.

The young woman was allegedly stabbed six times with a pocket knife weilded by her estranged husband, Elmer (Buddy) Brown, 308 Stone Ave., as she worked at Kress 5-and 10-cent store in the Eastgate Shopping Center Friday.

He has been placed in the Ouachita Parish jail by Monroe police on a charge of attempted murder.

Mrs. Brown, who lives at 27-A Louis Lock Apartments in Monroe, reportedly walked to an office in the rear of the store to phone police that Brown was annoying her. According to police reports, he stood by while she completed the call, then attached her, inflicting numerous gashes that severed several arteries, according to hospital personnel.

Brown was thrown off his wife, who he had knocked to the floor, by the store manager J. A. Mullis and disarmed by Kress district manager W. C. Maiden.

Mrs. Brown was rushed to the St. Francis hospital and listed in critical condition Friday night. She received 14 pints of blood in transfusions throughout the night Friday as doctors battled to save her life.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Packed Week For Season's Finale

By JOHN CALE

The old bright lights go up again this week, but it looks like their beams will be throwing the final glare for the 1961-62 season in north Louisiana for the most part.

The Louisiana Tech Concerts Association will wind up its season Tuesday with the National Ballet of Canada. This marks the third appearance of the group on the Ruston series. Fine choreography and excellent dancing has made the organization a favorite in the past.

In spite of one publicity release to the contrary, "Thurber Carnival," the final booking on the Northeast Concert series will pass up the supposedly luckless date of Friday, April 13, and will play at Neville Auditorium on the originally scheduled date of Saturday, April 14.

The Thurber piece will star Imogene Coca, Arthur Treacher and King Donovan with a supporting cast.

But wait! Friday the thirteenth won't go begging. That's the night Little Theatre's mystery, "Speaking of Murder," will open.

There's also one opera to go on the filmed festival series at Paramount Theatre. Puccini's "Tosca" is slated for Thursday, April 19. We understand this is the first opera filmed in Cinemascope and color, which should add further dimension to the intrigue - loaded plot. Any student of dirty politics should look into this cross section of 19th century Euorpean fiction and fact. It makes Louisiana at its worst appear rather tame.

REDSKINS

With the last semester flying fast out at Northeast, we feared the annual "Redksins on Parade" wasn't going to make it. Not so. The parade of campus skits is definitely in the works for Thursday of this week at 8 p.m. in Brown Hall Auditorium.

So how's that for a grand finale? A ballet on Tuesday, a student review on Thursday, a "murder" on Friday the thirteenth (opening for a week's run) and a dramatized version of some of Thurber's sketches on Saturday.

Louisiana Tech will feature a series of faculty recitals during April and May as mentioned in this column last week. The first of these is slated today at 3 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Howard Auditorium and will feature James G. Smith, bass, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Helen Tucker Woolridge.

Next Sunday, the series will feature Alfred E. Tellinghuisen, tenor, and pianists Duchein Cazedessus and Helen Woolridge.

Concerts set for May 6 and 20 will be held in the Tech Student Center and will feature the faculty instrumental ensemble players.

ALL AMERICAN

Reports from New York's Winter Garden Theatre indicate that the new musical comedy "All American" has more staying power than some of the first night critics anticipated. Excellent song - and - dance work by Ray Bolger continues to draw crowds, and the color and movement of the piece serve as added attractions.

One writer based his objection on the fact that the plot seemed to wander off course, which is a strange way to analyse a musical comedy. Musicals by nature are light music with incidental plots and any logic or "message" throws in is excess baggage.

Here at the close of the season, the Chinese Communists have finally latched on the "Madame Butterfly" theme as a propaganda vehicle. The opera, which showed here in a film version about a month ago, was first produced in China in 1956 for the 100th anniversary of Puccini's birth.

Lt. Pinkerton, the American naval officer in the opera, is depicted in China as an "arrogant representative of American racism." Peiping writers term the U. S. consul in the work as "a man of hypocrisy beneath a gentlemanly exterior."

In order that this sort of peaceful coexistence might be helped along, we suggest that Russian and Chinese propaganda writers attend an old "hiss the villain" melodrama of the type presented at Vcikburg each year. They might say the mortgage holder is a "vile capitalist," but how will they explain the fact that the Americans do not exactly cheer him when he ties a beautiful, proletariat girl to the railroad tracks (privately owned, of course.)

All told, it has taken the Marxists about one full century to pick up such a propaganda gem as "Madame Butterfly." That's hardly fast enough to keep the revolutionary spirit alive.

State To Cut Oil Allowable

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Conservation Commissioner James Gill announced Louisiana's daily oil production allowable for May and June would be cut approximately $4,000 barrels.

The cut would mean a state severance tax revenue loss of approximately $12,800 a day.

Gill made his statement after a statewide public hearing here on oil industry nominations for planned purchases in the May-June period.

The exact cut will be announced following a staff conference in Baton Rouge April 23. This is the usual time of the month for announcement of the next oil allowable figures.

NO JURORS FOR TRIAL

Legal Limbo Aids Accused Slayers

SNEEDVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Only an amendment to the state constitution may open the way for trial of two men accused in a violent mountain gunbattle that killed three law enforcement officers.

Carl Myers and James Horton, charged with murder and felonious assault, may remain in a sort of legal limbo unless the legislature should change the constitution and the voters adopt the change. The two men are free under $25,000 bond each, but no jury can be found to hear the case against them.

Circuit Judge Wayne Oliver, in effect, dismissed the case against the two men late Friday after it became evident that a 12 - man jury could not be empaneled in sparsely populated Hancock County. Of 1,400 potential jurors summoned, only 23 were found competent to serve and only two of these were seated.

The population of the mountainous county is only 7,700, and most of these were questioned for jury duty and dismissed at the first trial last fall. There is no one left to call and no way to move the trial to another county without the consent of the defendants.

The legislature at one time authorized trial judges to move such cases to other locations, but the state supreme court reversed it.

Judge Oliver's action cleared the way for District Atty. Gen. Henry F. Swann of Dandridge to file an appeal with the supreme court within 30 days in efforts to solve the dilemma. Swann said he would do this as soon as possible.

Special prosecutor G. Edward Friar of Knoxville, who said the situation was dangerous to the fundamental principles of law and order in Tennesse, said he would seek to have an amendment to the constitution prepared at the next constitutional convention.

Most potential jurors questioned said either they already had formed an opinion about the guilt or innocence of Myers and Horton or were related to one or the other defendant. The law provides that a relationship to the sixth degree is sufficient to excuse a juror.

RUNNING THE SCALES

By JOHN CALE

The old bright lights go up again this week, but it looks like their beams will be throwing the final glare for the 1961-62 season in north Louisiana for the most part.

The Louisiana Tech Concerts Association will wind up its season Tuesday with the National Ballet of Canada. This marks the third appearance of the group on the Ruston series. Fine choreography and excellent dancing has made the organization a favorite in the past.

In spite of one publicity release to the contrary, "Thurber Carnival," the final booking on the Northeast Concert series will pass up the supposedly luckless date of Friday, April 13, and will play at Neville Auditorium on the originally scheduled date of Saturday, April 14.

The Thurber piece will star Imogene Coca, Arthur Treacher and King Donovan with a supporting cast.

But wait! Friday the thirteenth won't go begging. That's the night Little Theatre's mystery, "Speaking of Murder," will open.

There's also one opera to go on the filmed festival series at Paramount Theatre. Puccini's "Tosca" is slated for Thursday, April 19. We understand this is the first opera filmed in Cinemascope and color, which should add further dimension to the intrigue - loaded plot. Any student of dirty politics should look into this cross section of 19th century Euorpean fiction and fact. It makes Louisiana at its worst appear rather tame.

REDSKINS

With the last semester flying fast out at Northeast, we feared the annual "Redksins on Parade" wasn't going to make it. Not so. The parade of campus skits is definitely in the works for Thursday of this week at 8 p.m. in Brown Hall Auditorium.

So how's that for a grand finale? A ballet on Tuesday, a student review on Thursday, a "murder" on Friday the thirteenth (opening for a week's run) and a dramatized version of some of Thurber's sketches on Saturday.

Louisiana Tech will feature a series of faculty recitals during April and May as mentioned in this column last week. The first of these is slated today at 3 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Howard Auditorium and will feature James G. Smith, bass, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Helen Tucker Woolridge.

Next Sunday, the series will feature Alfred E. Tellinghuisen, tenor, and pianists Duchein Cazedessus and Helen Woolridge.

Concerts set for May 6 and 20 will be held in the Tech Student Center and will feature the faculty instrumental ensemble players.

ALL AMERICAN

Reports from New York's Winter Garden Theatre indicate that the new musical comedy "All American" has more staying power than some of the first night critics anticipated. Excellent song - and - dance work by Ray Bolger continues to draw crowds, and the color and movement of the piece serve as added attractions.

One writer based his objection on the fact that the plot seemed to wander off course, which is a strange way to analyze a musical comedy. Musicals by nature are light music with incidental plots and any logic or "message" throws in is excess baggage.

Here at the close of the season, the Chinese Communists have finally latched on the "Madame Butterfly" theme as a propaganda vehicle. The opera, which showed here in a film version about a month ago, was first produced in China in 1958 for the 100th anniversary of Puccini's birth.

Gill made his statement after a statewide public hearing here on oil industry nominations for planned purchases in the May-June period.

The exact cut will be announced following a staff conference in Baton Rouge April 23. This is the usual time of the month for announcement of the next oil allowable figures.

Scholarships Boosted By Foundation

Program Is Developed At Northeast State

By LYNN GARRETT
Northeast Alumni Editor

Time was, not so many decades ago, when a college education was usual only among the more elite social strata and although it did provide very tasty icing for the employment cake, it was not usually essential.

Years and wars and the changing face of American business and industry have changed all that.

Today, a college education is basic. Most employment opportunities demand it; all highly appreciate it.

PROSPECTS

Next fall, another crop of "war babies" will — or should — flood college campuses from coast to coast. These youngsters should be our teachers, lawyers, scientists, ministers, businessmen and doctors by the waning years of the 1960s.

They should be the minds and hands that will guide the country over the threshold of the year 2,000; they should be the brainpower behind an era which well could be one of the most significant sagas in American history.

Yet, the tragic fact is that many who should do and be all these things won't.

Only a very thin slice of that employment cake will have reached them and both they and the country will suffer because of it.

They will not have a college education, because they didn't have the money. And, as they mature and enter their middle years, they will not have money because they don't have a college education.

VALUE OF DEGREE

Figures quoted in a recent issue of the Student Financial Aid manual indicate that a college degree is "worth" $100,000 in lifetime earnings.

In an address before the Joint Session of Congress, Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr., the famed astronaut, declared that "knowledge begets knowledge."

"The more I see, the more impressed I am, not with how much we know but with how tremendous the areas are that are as yet unexplored," Glenn commented.

"Exploration and the pursuit of knowledge have always paid dividends," he added. "I feel we are on the brink of an era of expansion of knowledge."

Learned businessmen throughout the nation share Glenn's viewpoint. And they are doing things about it.

On the national scene, the Business Leaders Conference recently issued a statement of conviction on the matter of money and education.

NEED

"There is no question that our country must have an adequate system of higher education," these men declared. Voluntary support from all sources must double in this decade to keep pace with the rising operating costs, they added.

In their concluding statement, they said, "We believe that now is the time for a broader and deeper participation by the business community in the support of higher education."

The local scene is not without its leaders too.

Recognizing the fact that many young people today find it hard to provide funds for higher education, a group of well-known Monroe and West Monroe business and professional leaders have organized the Northeast Louisiana State College Scholarship Foundation.

CONCEIVED IDEA

Leon Sugar, W. E. Whetstone, and Northeast State College President Dr. George T. Walker conceived the idea, which has now burgeoned into the Foundation, administered by three officers and 11 directors.

Garland Shell of Shell Advertising is the Foundation's president, with Eugene B. Scott and James O. Lancaster as vice president and secretary - treasurer respectively.

Foundation directors are James W. Beaver, president of the Northeast Alumni Association; Conway E. Crossland Jr., president of Central Savings Bank and Trust Co.; John C. Loftin, president of Friendly Finance Co.; Jack Masur, president of The Palace; Scott; Fred Petty, insurance; J. W. Roberson, president of the First National Bank of West Monroe; Shell; R. Lee Vanderpool Jr., president of Ouachita National Bank; Walker, and J. H. (Slim) Scogin, president of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

These officials point out that the sole purpose of the Foundation is to help deserving students attend Northeast.

NEW ELEMENTS

New buildings, new curricula and a new graduate program at Northeast are noted by these leaders as they point to the college's expansion, growth and improvements. Northeast has 55 curriculums leading to degrees in six different divisions. There are 38 new staff members at the college, and the student population has doubled during the past six years.

The college is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and of the National Association of Schools of Music. The School of Pharmacy is accredited by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education.

Other organizations of which Northeast is a member include the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education; American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy; American Council on Education; Association of American Colleges; Council on Social Work Education, and National Commission on Accrediting.

A three-part goal has been formulated by the Foundation: the encouragement of college attendance by all outstanding high school graduates; the obtaining of funds for scholarships, and the establishment of memorial funds in honor of teachers, students and others who have made significant contributions to the general welfare of Louisiana.

One friend of Northeast State reports that in his will he is leaving a large portion of his estate to the school. Others may wish to name their gifts after a relative or friend who has died, thus perpetuating their name with a memorial fund as noted above. Several persons have sent small gifts in memory of relatives and friends.

Foundation officials have pointed out that part-time work by a student is definitely encouraged and that the Foundation's goal is not by any means the elimination of necessity to work upon the part of a student.

"The time-honored tradition of working while attending college is a good one," they note, "and we certainly favor this. Of course, too much work decreases a student's time and energies to the extent his grades suffer."

ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

It was also noted that some portion of the scholarships will be awarded without regard to financial need. This will be a reward for high scholastic attainments. Other portions of the fund will be awarded on the basis of both need and the ability to do first-rate college work.

An idea of what it costs to attend Northeast State College may be gained from the following information:

Rooms in the dormitories and food costs at the campus cafeteria are held to a minimum with about $500 covering both for an academic year. The general fee is $66; books and supplies run about $90. Average estimates for school expenses are $656 for an academic year, plus minimum personal expenses totaling about $150 per student and varying widely.

COSTS

Many students need only a little assistance to begin or continue their education at Northeast. A $200 a year scholarship each may make possible the attendance of many.

Others may be able to have a college education for only $300 help each year. Still others need $500, or $700, or perhaps total assistance.

Beaver, in speaking for the Alumni Association, reports that Alumni are helping create interest in the Foundation by making contacts throughout the Northeast Louisiana area.

"Current alumni chapters, along with others which will soon be formed, are helping and will help with Foundation work," Beaver said.

"We also want the Alumni Association to contribute to the Foundation, in order that worthy and outstanding students may be helped," he added.

FIRST DONORS

The first donors to the Foundation were the Junior Charity League of Monroe and George Moses. Since their donations were received, numerous individuals, clubs, businesses and associations have been contacted and informed about the Foundation's goal.

Students who have earned a Foundation scholarship as a result of recently-administered tests will be named soon.

They will gain, immediately, from the Scholarship Foundation. They will be reaping benefits in a few years, when they enter the job market. The job market and the country's economy will gain in their turn.

Program Is Developed At Northeast State

By LYNN GARRETT
Northeast Alumni Editor

Time was, not so many decades ago, when a college education was usual only among the more elite social strata and although it did provide very tasty icing for the employment cake, it was not usually essential.

Years and wars and the changing face of American business and industry have changed all that.

Today, a college education is basic. Most employment opportunities demand it; all highly appreciate it.

PROSPECTS

Next fall, another crop of "war babies" will — or should — flood college campuses from coast to coast. These youngsters should be our teachers, lawyers, scientists, ministers, businessmen and doctors by the waning years of the 1960s.

They should be the minds and hands that will guide the country over the threshold of the year 2,000; they should be the brainpower behind an era which well could be one of the most significant sagas in American history.

Yet, the tragic fact is that many who should do and be all these things won't.

Only a very thin slice of that employment cake will have reached them and both they and the country will suffer because of it.

They will not have a college education, because they didn't have the money. And, as they mature and enter their middle years, they will not have money because they don't have a college education.

VALUE OF DEGREE

Figures quoted in a recent issue of the Student Financial Aid manual indicate that a college degree is "worth" $100,000 in lifetime earnings.

In an address before the Joint Session of Congress, Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr., the famed astronaut, declared that "knowledge begets knowledge."

"The more I see, the more impressed I am, not with how much we know but with how tremendous the areas are that are as yet unexplored," Glenn commented.

"Exploration and the pursuit of knowledge have always paid dividends," he added. "I feel we are on the brink of an era of expansion of knowledge."

Learned businessmen throughout the nation share Glenn's viewpoint. And they are doing things about it.

On the national scene, the Business Leaders Conference recently issued a statement of conviction on the matter of money and education.

NEED

"There is no question that our country must have an adequate system of higher education," these men declared. Voluntary support from all sources must double in this decade to keep pace with the rising operating costs, they added.

In their concluding statement, they said, "We believe that now is the time for a broader and deeper participation by the business community in the support of higher education."

The local scene is not without its leaders too.

Recognizing the fact that many young people today find it hard to provide funds for higher education, a group of well-known Monroe and West Monroe business and professional leaders have organized the Northeast Louisiana State College Scholarship Foundation.

CONCEIVED IDEA

Leon Sugar, W. E. Whetstone, and Northeast State College President Dr. George T. Walker conceived the idea, which has now burgeoned into the Foundation, administered by three officers and 11 directors.

Garland Shell of Shell Advertising is the Foundation's president, with Eugene B. Scott and James O. Lancaster as vice president and secretary - treasurer respectively.

Foundation directors are James W. Beaver, president of the Northeast Alumni Association; Conway E. Crossland Jr., president of Central Savings Bank and Trust Co.; John C. Loftin, president of Friendly Finance Co.; Jack Masur, president of The Palace; Scott; Fred Petty, insurance; J. W. Roberson, president of the First National Bank of West Monroe; Shell; R. Lee Vanderpool Jr., president of Ouachita National Bank; Walker, and J. H. (Slim) Scogin, president of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

These officials point out that the sole purpose of the Foundation is to help deserving students attend Northeast.

NEW ELEMENTS

New buildings, new curricula and a new graduate program at Northeast are noted by these leaders as they point to the college's expansion, growth and improvements. Northeast has 55 curriculums leading to degrees in six different divisions. There are 38 new staff members at the college, and the student population has doubled during the past six years.

The college is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and of the National Association of Schools of Music. The School of Pharmacy is accredited by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education.

Other organizations of which Northeast is a member include the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education; American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy; American Council on Education; Association of American Colleges; Council on Social Work Education, and National Commission on Accrediting.

A three-part goal has been formulated by the Foundation: the encouragement of college attendance by all outstanding high school graduates; the obtaining of funds for scholarships, and the establishment of memorial funds in honor of teachers, students and others who have made significant contributions to the general welfare of Louisiana.

One friend of Northeast State reports that in his will he is leaving a large portion of his estate to the school. Others may wish to name their gifts after a relative or friend who has died, thus perpetuating their name with a memorial fund as noted above. Several persons have sent small gifts in memory of relatives and friends.

Foundation officials have pointed out that part-time work by a student is definitely encouraged and that the Foundation's goal is not by any means the elimination of necessity to work upon the part of a student.

"The time-honored tradition of working while attending college is a good one," they note, "and we certainly favor this. Of course, too much work decreases a student's time and energies to the extent his grades suffer."

ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

It was also noted that some portion of the scholarships will be awarded without regard to financial need. This will be a reward for high scholastic attainments. Other portions of the fund will be awarded on the basis of both need and the ability to do first-rate college work.

An idea of what it costs to attend Northeast State College may be gained from the following information:

Rooms in the dormitories and food costs at the campus cafeteria are held to a minimum with about $500 covering both for an academic year. The general fee is $66; books and supplies run about $90. Average estimates for school expenses are $656 for an academic year, plus minimum personal expenses totaling about $150 per student and varying widely.

COSTS

Many students need only a little assistance to begin or continue their education at Northeast. A $200 a year scholarship each may make possible the attendance of many.

Others may be able to have a college education for only $300 help each year. Still others need $500, or $700, or perhaps total assistance.

Beaver, in speaking for the Alumni Association, reports that Alumni are helping create interest in the Foundation by making contacts throughout the Northeast Louisiana area.

"Current alumni chapters, along with others which will soon be formed, are helping and will help with Foundation work," Beaver said.

"We also want the Alumni Association to contribute to the Foundation, in order that worthy and outstanding students may be helped," he added.

FIRST DONORS

The first donors to the Foundation were the Junior Charity League of Monroe and George Moses. Since their donations were received, numerous individuals, clubs, businesses and associations have been contacted and informed about the Foundation's goal.

Students who have earned a Foundation scholarship as a result of recently-administered tests will be named soon.

They will gain, immediately, from the Scholarship Foundation. They will be reaping benefits in a few years, when they enter the job market. The job market and the country's economy will gain in their turn.

Chickens Coming Home

The chickens are really coming home to roost. As everyone had expected, the federal government has announced that it will stop federal aid to certain schools which are not integrated but will give to those which desegregate. In other words, the states whose citizens pay extra federal taxes so the federal government can dole part of it back in school aid won't even get their share of the dole unless they take orders from the federal government.

Anyone who has ever contended that the federal government does not intend to dominate the state schools might as well have been classified from the beginning as mentally asleep or an able provaricator. The federal government just does not dabble in state affairs without intending to boss them. Its whole purpose in setting up federal aid to schools was to gain control of those schools, not to aid in the betterment of education. It has been amply demonstrated time and again that any tax the federal government collects and then doles out again is going to cost the people more than if they had handled their own affairs, either through state or local governments.

An Associated Press story stated:

"The administration moved into the school desegregation issue Friday with a decision to stop payments to certain racially segregated schools.

"And Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff said the justice department may soon file lawsuits seeking desegregation of school districts receiving federal funds under the impacted area program.

"Starting in September 1963, Ribicoff announced, segregated schools will be declared unsuitable for teaching children who live on military bases. The federal support they now receive for such teaching will be halted."

The fact that right at this moment the government is announcing withdrawal of the aid funds only from those schools attended by children living on military bases does not amount even to a small grain of comfort. It is merely another of those opening wedges intended to place all schools under federal domination. Like the supreme court order allowing federal courts to pass on the representative districts for state legislators, it is a new intrusion into state rights. The school announcement is an open proclamation of the federal government's intention to dominate the schools, just as the supreme court's decision is a proclamation of the federal government's intention to control state elections.

Ribicoff's office said 1,600,000 children are involved in this phase of the impacted area program with only 235,000 of the total living on military bases.

Even if all those living on the military bases wanted integration, which is far from true, we still would have one of the worst demonstrations of rule by and for the minority in the history of this country.

Of the total living on bases, only about 45,000 of the children are in states where large-scale segregation is practiced.

Apparently, it is Ribicoff's intention to withdraw federal aid from entire districts in which some children from military bases attend the public schools, even though some of the schools in these districts may not be attended by any military-base children. Ribicoff stated:

"We have been exploring with officials of the justice department the possibility of a lawsuit being brought in behalf of the United States to desegregate a school district receiving funds under the impacted area program."

The step between withdrawing federal school aid from segregated schools in so-called impacted areas and of filing desegregation suits against schools in those areas and of doing the same thing to all state schools in the United States is such a small one that no one can doubt it is the intention of the federal government to take that step.

Either we give up the right of states and communities to admister their own school functions or we lose our share of the mess of school aid pottage which the federal government has jerked away from us with the intention of giving part of it back to those communities which take its orders.

Who Drinks Where?

Some states which have liquor laws more restrictive than in other states and some localities which have voted to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor are faced with a problem which disturbs them greatly. They get the backwash of drinking in other states or localities which adjoin them.

One outstanding example of this is New York State's "drinks for teens" dispute, which apparently will remain unresolved for another year.

According to an official Washington source, New York and Louisiana are the only states in the union in which a youngster can celebrate his 18th birthday by walking into a bar and calling for his vodka on the rocks. Six other states have varying laws but 42 have set the age limit at 21.

Changing the age from 18 to 21 is before the New York legislature but its joint committee for the study of alcoholic control laws decided on postponement. It was expected to ask for an independent study of drinking habits by university researchers and for establishment of an advisory committee representing church, welfare, law enforcement and liquor industry interests. The legislative committee then presumably will hold more hearings before deciding whether to recommend that the state raise its minimum legal drinking age from 18 to 21.

The delay will not please the lawmakers of the neighboring states of Connecticut and New Jersey. Youths in these states, where the legal drinking age is 21, are said to be going to New York in increasing numbers to purchase beer and spirits and then to become involved in serious and sometimes fatal automobile accidents on their tipsy way home. Connecticut state police recently established check points along the state's border with New York to curb drunken driving by teen-agers and others who cross into New York to take advantage of the state's lower age for liquor consumption and later drinking hours.

Texas is one of the states which has an internal problem of a similar nature. Some localities in that state have voted themselves "dry." While this would seem to help their drunk - driving situation it reportedly makes unsafe some of the highways leading to the towns in which liquor is sold. With so many people returning at night to their dry localities, after drinking where liquor is sold, it has been reported that the situation is sometimes so dangerous that some of the more discreet drivers follow less direct routes home.

This creates a situation somewhat like that which prevailed in the days of national prohibition. People don't know whether they are worse off with or without prohibition.

What the country really needs more than it needs a good five - cent cigar, is a way to make drinking safe, sane and sanitary, if we must have drinking. That, however as everyone knows, is impossible, especially when it comes to drinking and driving.

Unfettered Doctors

Monroe, La.

A combination of unfettered men of medicine and pharmacy, working under the proven system of American economy, has made this nation not only the healthiest in the world, but by adding to productive working time, has contributed much toward making it the most prosperous. Research, is the backbone of the pharmaceutical industry and without it there would be no new drugs and very few cures. Research is possible only if a firm engaged in such work makes a sufficient profit. As an example Russia operates on a non-profit, or no-incentive plan, and has not marketed one usable drug since the Communists took control forty-three years ago.

In America where profits and incentive are still a factor, the industry spent $214 million for research in 1960. Results of this research is notable, for example diseases which a few years ago crippled or even killed the victims — polio, influenza, scarlet fever — but now, for a very small cost, can be prevented or cured with today's drugs.

Under our economic system, a profit margin of about twelve per cent (about average for American industry) has resulted in the introduction during the last 20 years of more effective new drugs to combat or cure illness than all the rest of the nations of the world combined.

And now, Mr. Kefauver wants to limit our patent rights in drugs to three years, instead of the seventeen years American industry now has to protect its incentive to develop. Who then, under this sure death to profits, will take the risks to develop the drugs of tomorrow? The answer is nobody, and we will lose the forward motion of the fight against disease that has made this nation one of the healthiest in the world.

In research, the prescription drug industry accepts odds of more than two thousand to one against success but still has the willingness and the capability to develop new and better medicines.

Challening the charge by Mr. Kefauver that there is no competition in the drug industry, we recognize more than 1,300 manufacturers of prescription drugs engaged in a fierce contest for existence.

Even though the price of a prescription represents one of the biggest bargains Americans can get today, they resent paying it. I have never heard a man say, 'Look at the bargain I got when I bought this prescription. It kept me out of the hospital and got me back to work sooner. In fact, I couldn't have lived without it.'

I believe that socialized medicine and nationalized drug production would turn back the clock of not only treatment of the sick, but of the research and development which is an integral part of that treatment.

There attacks, such as the one by Kefauver and his committee, are the forerunners of more intervention directed against free enterprise.

I thank you for your courtesy and kind attention.

Milk Market Pool

Franklinton, La.

To the Editor:

Last October, the federal authorities held a hearing in Shreveport concerning a proposal advanced by the Northeast Louisisiana Pure Milk Producers Association. This group proposed the establishment of a marketwide pool for all milk produced by dairy farmers shipping to fourteen North Louisiana milk plants (including all plants located in Shreveport, Monroe, Minden, and Ruston).

Under this marketwide pool arrangement, those plants now paying a high blend price (or pay price) to their farmers would withhold a part of the money normally paid to their farmers and would send this money to a federal official who would distribute it to those plants whose pay price is running below the market average. In this way, every farmer would receive the same price for his milk regardless of its quality and regardless of whether his milk were actually needed in the market.

The minimum prices to be paid to North Louisiana farmers for their milk are now set by both a federal official and a state official (the Comm. of Agriculture) who act independently of each other and who act pursuant to two separate and distinct marketing orders.

Louisiana's Commissioner of Agriculture, Dave Pearce, recognized that the adoption of marketwide pool arrangement by the federal authorities would conflict which the individual plant pool arrangement which forms a part of the state marketing order. Incidentally, the state order was issued in 1960 at the request of the co-op which is now proposing the marketwide pool. Therefore, he suggested to the federal authorities, that the federal and state regulatory officials work together in holding hearings, issuing orders and amendments, and in administering the orders so as to prevent duplication and conflicts.

The federal officials have indicated that they are receptive to this suggestion from Mr. Pearce and both sides have begun working out the details concerning the manner in which this joint regulatory work will be carried out. A 1938 agreement the federal government and the State of Louisiana requires this joint approach but this agreement had been ignored until Mr. Pearce took the matter up with the federal officials a few months ago.

Now certain individuals are attempting to put pressure on the Louisiana Congressional delegation in order to force the federal officials to put the market wide pool arrangement into effect before Mr. Pearce can complete federal officials to put the market wide pool arrangement into effect before Mr. Pearce can complete the job of establishing the joint effort which is required by the 1938 agreement. Upon learning of this intensive pressure campaign, Mr. Pearce mailed ballots to the dairy farmers and requested them to mark these ballots in order to let the Commisioner know whether the farmers desired the immediate establishment of the marketwide pool arrangement by the federal authorities alone. Farmers began receiving these ballots on March 31 and must return them within ten days.

Both the 1938 agreement and Mr. Pearce's recent efforts have been directed toward the preservation of states rights — the right of the State of Louisiana to participate in the setting of the prices to be paid for milk produced by Louisiana farmers. Now, this whole program of joint control may be destroyed by individuals who claim that they are opposed to federal intervention in local affairs and that they are ardent states righters. The result may well be that milk prices will henceforth be controlled exclusively by federal officials in Washington without any participation by duly elected officials of the State of Louisiana.

School Zone View

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

I feel that I should have the opportunity to express my views on the school zone of Buregard to Winnsboro road for the new Minnie Ruffin school. Your paper in its April 4 edition gave Mr. Odom and the school board members' side of the story but only mentioned that our citizens group protested because we were closer to the Clara Hall school. This is not our sole complaint on this zoning. If our children attend the new Minnie Ruffin school they will cross eight to ten stop streets. If they attend Clara Hall school they do not cross any stop streets until they reach Pecan street which is the beginning of the Clara Hall school grounds. This zone could be corrected by letting the children on streets that run north and south attend the Minnie Ruffin school because those children have through streets to the school without making a stop at the end of each block.

I know Mr. Odom says he will have to make someone unhappy over this situation, but why should it be necessary to endanger the lives of some children to make the parents of other children happy?

Thank you for letting me give my side of the story.

Tukuoka-ken, Japan

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter as I wish to make some friends in your country through correspondents. Don't you think it's a good idea if we could understand each other by exchanging some stamps, cards or news and information about school life, daily activities or even the world events?

It was said that our Japanese world view is narrow.

Maybe it is true.

That's why in the past our fathers and mothers made many mistakes.

But our youth want to associate with different peoples of different countries and widen our views.

The understanding is, I think, the first required necessary thing before starting anything.

The friendship built upon such understanding can really serve the way to the brighter life and the world peace better.

My very writing of this letter is for that purpose.

Up until this time I did not know how to do anything like this, but as I was told by the Youth Council for International Contact (20 1-chome Jimbo-cho Chiyuda-ku, Tokyo, Japan) recently that the best way is to write to the editors of some newspapers.

So, here I am writing this.

Perhpas it might be too much to ask you, but if you can insert this letter somehwere in your pages, or if you can introduce me some boys or girls, I would be more than appreciated.

MASANOBU MORITA

P. S. Let me introduce myself and our organization here: I am fifteen years old Japanese boy and am in a student class of The Omuta South Hight School.

I am a member of the above mentioned organization and it has tens of thousands of members all over Japan.

Dog Thief Rapped

Jena, La.

To the Editor:

A man spends much time training his "best friend" — his dog. He spends money feeding it, giving it shots and caring for it. He spends time training it ready for hunting. I have several friends who have spent this time and money on a dog, only to have it stolen.

Just what manner of man is a theft? To begin with, he is a liar and a coward. Opinions as to what breed of lowdown scum it takes to make the most contemptible thief vary.

What do thieves steal? Some steal your good name and damage your reputation as a citizen; others steal your confidence and leave you sad and disappointed; and some stoop so low as to saddle an obligation off on you which you "stood for" as their good friend.

But which is really the most universally depised thief? Not the horse thief, for he might need old Dobbin to make a crop; not even the dirty thug who stole Little Orphan Annie's piggy bank, for she at least has poor relations to take care of her.

All of the above categories of theives are contemptible to the point of nausea. But the dirtiest, most depraved, most sneaking, and most microscopic of all is the dastardly, slinking skunk that steals your dog.

Farm Program Rapped

Lake Providence, La.

To the Editor:

We are farmers much concerned with the favoritism, corruption, lack of principle and added burden to the taxpayer that has always been prevalent in the Farm Programs. Billions wasted each year!

I believe the first controlled production was in 1933 when the government bought feeder pigs for slaughter. Some were bootlegged back to the farms. This is when the corruption started.

We can cite many cases in all branches of the program, for the whole thirty years, where corruption has been prevalent. Favoritism has been shown among the local committeemen and local and state offices. It demonstrates the truth that "Power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

We have traveled extensively during the past five years, studying the farm program. I suggest transferring local and state ASC managers every year.

Farmers do not want to be heavily policed. Nor do the taxpayers want to pay for the policing.

Congress should thoroughly investigate and economize the whole program.

The Soil Bank and storage of enormous amounts of grain was very unfair to the taxpayer. The grain should have been fed long ago. It could have produced real meat whereas millions of tons of imitation meat is being sold.

We have farmed for forty years, but this waste is a disgrace to everyone concerned.

Let us save our Constitution!

Compares Editorials

Eros, La.

To the Editor:

In your editorial of Sunday, April 1, 1962, you had one titled "No Knuckle Rapping." And in regards to Pfc. Bernis Owen who was trying to tell the Army how to run things, and who was very lightly disciplined in my opinion, you had this to say, "When a five-officer military court at Fort Polk, La., sentenced Pfc. Bernis Owen of Seadrift, Tex. to six months at hard labor and loss of $50. in pay each month for six months it rightfully administered more than a knuckle-rapping. It showed a firm determination to uphold military discipline." Then you went on to say that he had been warned that what he was doing would disrupt the morale and discipline and that he would be punished if he did not cease making these statements.

Now this is one of the few times that I can agree with you, and I agree 100 per cent on this case, but let's go back a few months and take up the case of one Edwin Walker, who was using his position as an officer to politically indoctrinate his troops and tell them for whom they should vote and that former President Truman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Dean Acheson were definitely pink, and joined the John Birch Society, who has labeled former President Eisenhower as a tool of the Communists, and he was also warned to cease making such statements in his talks, and he had officers over him just like Pfc. Owen had. He was subject to take orders just like Pfc. Owen. But when he was disciplined did you take the same position in his case as you did on Pfc. Owen's case? Your sister paper, the Shreveport Times had an editorial Sunday March 11, 1962, titled "Crack Down on The Bellyachers," and the editorial was on the same line as yours. You both agreed that Major General West did the right thing, and the only thing he could do, and you both agreed that because of your hatred for President Kennedy, and the Democratic party, that the president made a mess of the callup of these reserves, and that it was politics that caused him to call them, when at the time the Russians were building walls in Berlin putting the pressure on the United States in Berlin, and every other place they could, trying to see what our president would do.

Now what did the president do? Did he go to Moscow and have a kitchen debate with Khrushchev like the Big Bad Nixon? No, he sent General Clay to Berlin along with several thousand troops, and told the Russians just what they could expect, and the Russians have not gone through with the threats that they were making. Now Mr. Editor, the point that I'm making is that you and lots of our high officials were upholding Gen. Walker in the wrongdoings that he was carrying on, and then when some little fellow like Pfc. Owen had heard and read editorials in the news papers and congressmen and senators condemning the Army and the President of the United States, and accusing them of muzzling the military when in fact they were only disciplining an officer just like they did Private Owen. So don't you think that Pfc. Owen should think that he had a right to speak out and say what was on his mind? I don't think that Pfc. Owen committed near as bad an offense as did Gen. Walker, as Gen. Walker had served in the Army long enough that he knew what he was doing and saying was against army rules and regulations. The only punishment that general got was the loss of his retirement pay.

Now Mr. Editor, if the President and the Congress of the United States were to permit army officers to do things that you and many others, including congressmen, were upholding General Walker to do, then in a few years we will have army officers with a big political following and when they don't like what the government is doing, (like Gen. Walker was) they will move in and take over the government just like they do in South America. I think that Argentina should be a fair example of a military take over just this past week.

I think that you are doing this country, and the people of this country a great dis-service when you write in your editorials that the President of the United States is conniving with the Communist to turn this country over to the Communist. It is a dirty shame that a man of your position don't have any more respect for the office of the President if you don't the man, as the things you put in your editorials. What do you think that our young school children will think when they read about the things you say about the President and the government of the United States. Do you think that you are encouraging them to respect their government and the high office of the President.

I think that the hate and discord that you and some others are strowing, because you don't like a certain political party or some of its leaders, is much more dangerous than the things you complain about. If you and a lot of others don't change your attitude in trying to divide our people, the next thing we will be having riots and disorder just like these countries not too far from us. It is just sickening to watch television and see the streets full of young people running and fighting with the police. Do you want that to happen here in our beautiful land? I never voted for a Republican in my life but I have never questioned Mr. Nixon's loyalty to the United States or any of the other Republicans, I don't believe they are communists, but in 1952 Mr. Nixon accused President Truman of disloyalty, being communistic and all the Democratic party of being infiltrated with communists. It is a sad state of affairs when a political party can't oppose another party without accusing everyone of leaning toward communism, or socialism.

Every bill or law that President Kennedy has proposed you have labeled it as socialistic so if you keep on preaching this, after awhile you are going to have people believeing that they want socialism. I'm sure, Mr. Editor, that you have not drank a glass of milk since you saw President Kennedy drink that glass of milk on TV at his news conference. Dear Senators:

In 1949, the communist took over China. In 1951, Tibet came subjected to Moscow. North Vietnam fell under the poundings of the hammer and sickle. 1954. Last year we saw our next door neighbor gobbled up by the communist. Today it is estimated that more than half the world is controlled by Communist.

At this very moment Russia is seeking a way to take over West Berlin so subtlety that it won't be necessary to provoke a shooting war.

Khrushchev said he would "bury America" further said, he could not expect Americans to jump from capitalism, to Communism, and it would come by giving elected leaders of America, small doses at the time, until they find themselves, in Communist hands."

When we soberly review our situation today, with regard to the controls, we have in directing our system of administration, through governmental agencies, it is easy to understand the possibility of such achievement losing our individuality, becoming a cog in the wheel of mis-fortune.

Communist are making tremendous gains in the world today including the U.S. right before our own eyes. How strong are they? Chickens Coming Home

The chickens are really coming home to roost. As everyone had expected, the federal government has announced that it will stop federal aid to certain schools which are not integrated but will give to those which desegregate. In other words, the states whose citizens pay extra federal taxes so the federal government can dole part of it back in school aid won't even get their share of the dole unless they take orders from the federal government.

Anyone who has ever contended that the federal government does not intend to dominate the state schools might as well have been classified from the beginning as mentally asleep or an able provaricator. The federal government just does not dabble in state affairs without intending to boss them. Its whole purpose in setting up federal aid to schools was to gain control of those schools, not to aid in the betterment of education. It has been amply demonstrated time and again that any tax the federal government collects and then doles out again is going to cost the people more than if they had handled their own affairs, either through state or local governments.

An Associated Press story stated:

"The administration moved into the school desegregation issue Friday with a decision to stop payments to certain racially segregated schools.

"And Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff said the justice department may soon file lawsuits seeking desegregation of school districts receiving federal funds under the impacted area program.

"Starting in September 1963, Ribicoff announced, segregated schools will be declared unsuitable for teaching children who live on military bases. The federal support they now receive for such teaching will be halted."

The fact that right at this moment the government is announcing withdrawal of the aid funds only from those schools attended by children living on military bases does not amount even to a small grain of comfort. It is merely another of those opening wedges intended to place all schools under federal domination. Like the supreme court order allowing federal courts to pass on the representative districts for state legislators, it is a new intrusion into state rights. The school announcement is an open proclamation of the federal government's intention to dominate the schools, just as the supreme court's decision is a proclamation of the federal government's intention to control state elections.

Ribicoff's office said 1,600,000 children are involved in this phase of the impacted area program with only 235,000 of the total living on military bases.

Even if all those living on the military bases wanted integration, which is far from true, we still would have one of the worst demonstrations of rule by and for the minority in the history of this country.

Of the total living on bases, only about 45,000 of the children are in states where large-scale segregation is practiced.

Apparently, it is Ribicoff's intention to withdraw federal aid from entire districts in which some children from military bases attend the public schools, even though some of the schools in these districts may not be attended by any military-base children. Ribicoff stated:

"We have been exploring with officials of the justice department the possibility of a lawsuit being brought in behalf of the United States to desegregate a school district receiving funds under the impacted area program."

The step between withdrawing federal school aid from segregated schools in so-called impacted areas and of filing desegregation suits against schools in those areas and of doing the same thing to all state schools in the United States is such a small one that no one can doubt it is the intention of the federal government to take that step.

Either we give up the right of states and communities to admister their own school functions or we lose our share of the mess of school aid pottage which the federal government has jerked away from us with the intention of giving part of it back to those communities which take its orders.

Who Drinks Where?

Some states which have liquor laws more restrictive than in other states and some localities which have voted to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor are faced with a problem which disturbs them greatly. They get the backwash of drinking in other states or localities which adjoin them.

One outstanding example of this is New York State's "drinks for teens" dispute, which apparently will remain unresolved for another year.

According to an official Washington source, New York and Louisiana are the only states in the union in which a youngster can celebrate his 18th birthday by walking into a bar and calling for his vodka on the rocks. Six other states have varying laws but 42 have set the age limit at 21.

Changing the age from 18 to 21 is before the New York legislature but its joint committee for the study of alcoholic control laws decided on postponement. It was expected to ask for an independent study of drinking habits by university researchers and for establishment of an advisory committee representing church, welfare, law enforcement and liquor industry interests. The legislative committee then presumably will hold more hearings before deciding whether to recommend that the state raise its minimum legal drinking age from 18 to 21.

The delay will not please the lawmakers of the neighboring states of Connecticut and New Jersey. Youths in these states, where the legal drinking age is 21, are said to be going to New York in increasing numbers to purchase beer and spirits and then to become involved in serious and sometimes fatal automobile accidents on their tipsy way home. Connecticut state police recently established check points along the state's border with New York to curb drunken driving by teen-agers and others who cross into New York to take advantage of the state's lower age for liquor consumption and later drinking hours.

Texas is one of the states which has an internal problem of a similar nature. Some localities in that state have voted themselves "dry." While this would seem to help their drunk - driving situation it reportedly makes unsafe some of the highways leading to the towns in which liquor is sold. With so many people returning at night to their dry localities, after drinking where liquor is sold, it has been reported that the situation is sometimes so dangerous that some of the more discreet drivers follow less direct routes home.

This creates a situation somewhat like that which prevailed in the days of national prohibition. People don't know whether they are worse off with or without prohibition.

What the country really needs more than it needs a good five - cent cigar, is a way to make drinking safe, sane and sanitary, if we must have drinking. That, however as everyone knows, is impossible, especially when it comes to drinking and driving.

Unfettered Doctors

Monroe, La.

A combination of unfettered men of medicine and pharmacy, working under the proven system of American economy, has made this nation not only the healthiest in the world, but by adding to productive working time, has contributed much toward making it the most prosperous. Research, is the backbone of the pharmaceutical industry and without it there would be no new drugs and very few cures. Research is possible only if a firm engaged in such work makes a sufficient profit. As an example Russia operates on a non-profit, or no-incentive plan, and has not marketed one usable drug since the Communists took control forty-three years ago.

In America where profits and incentive are still a factor, the industry spent $214 million for research in 1960. Results of this research is notable, for example diseases which a few years ago crippled or even killed the victims — polio, influenza, scarlet fever — but now, for a very small cost, can be prevented or cured with today's drugs.

Under our economic system, a profit margin of about twelve per cent (about average for American industry) has resulted in the introduction during the last 20 years of more effective new drugs to combat or cure illness than all the rest of the nations of the world combined.

And now, Mr. Kefauver wants to limit our patent rights in drugs to three years, instead of the seventeen years American industry now has to protect its incentive to develop. Who then, under this sure death to profits, will take the risks to develop the drugs of tomorrow? The answer is nobody, and we will lose the forward motion of the fight against disease that has made this nation one of the healthiest in the world.

In research, the prescription drug industry accepts odds of more than two thousand to one against success but still has the willingness and the capability to develop new and better medicines.

Challening the charge by Mr. Kefauver that there is no competition in the drug industry, we recognize more than 1,300 manufacturers of prescription drugs engaged in a fierce contest for existence.

Even though the price of a prescription represents one of the biggest bargains Americans can get today, they resent paying it. I have never heard a man say, 'Look at the bargain I got when I bought this prescription. It kept me out of the hospital and got me back to work sooner. In fact, I couldn't have lived without it.'

I believe that socialized medicine and nationalized drug production would turn back the clock of not only treatment of the sick, but of the research and development which is an integral part of that treatment.

There attacks, such as the one by Kefauver and his committee, are the forerunners of more intervention directed against free enterprise.

Milk Market Pool

Franklinton, La.

To the Editor:

Last October, the federal authorities held a hearing in Shreveport concerning a proposal advanced by the Northeast Louisiana Pure Milk Producers Association. This group proposed the establishment of a marketwide pool for all milk produced by dairy farmers shipping to fourteen North Louisiana milk plants (including all plants located in Shreveport, Monroe, Minden, and Ruston).

Under this marketwide pool arrangement, those plants now paying a high blend price (or pay price) to their farmers would withhold a part of the money normally paid to their farmers and would send this money to a federal official who would distribute it to those plants whose pay price is running below the market average. In this way, every farmer would receive the same price for his milk regardless of its quality and regardless of whether his milk were actually needed in the market.

The minimum prices to be paid to North Louisiana farmers for their milk are now set by both a federal official and a state official (the Comm. of Agriculture) who act independently of each other and who act pursuant to two separate and distinct marketing orders.

Louisiana's Commissioner of Agriculture, Dave Pearce, recognized that the adoption of marketwide pool arrangement by the federal authorities would conflict which the individual plant pool arrangement which forms a part of the state marketing order. Incidentally, the state order was issued in 1960 at the request of the co-op which is now proposing the marketwide pool. Therefore, he suggested to the federal authorities, that the federal and state regulatory officials work together in holding hearings, issuing orders and amendments, and in administering the orders so as to prevent duplication and conflicts.

The federal officials have indicated that they are receptive to this suggestion from Mr. Pearce and both sides have begun working out the details concerning the manner in which this joint regulatory work will be carried out. A 1938 agreement the federal government and the State of Louisiana requires this joint approach but this agreement had been ignored until Mr. Pearce took the matter up with the federal officials a few months ago.

Now certain individuals are attempting to put pressure on the Louisiana Congressional delegation in order to force the federal officials to put the market wide pool arrangement into effect before Mr. Pearce can complete federal officials to put the market wide pool arrangement into effect before Mr. Pearce can complete the job of establishing the joint effort which is required by the 1938 agreement. Upon learning of this intensive pressure campaign, Mr. Pearce mailed ballots to the dairy farmers and requested them to mark these ballots in order to let the Commisioner know whether the farmers desired the immediate establishment of the marketwide pool arrangement by the federal authorities alone. Farmers began receiving these ballots on March 31 and must return them within ten days.

Both the 1938 agreement and Mr. Pearce's recent efforts have been directed toward the preservation of states rights — the right of the State of Louisiana to participate in the setting of the prices to be paid for milk produced by Louisiana farmers. Now, this whole program of joint control may be destroyed by individuals who claim that they are opposed to federal intervention in local affairs and that they are ardent states righters. The result may well be that milk prices will henceforth be controlled exclusively by federal officials in Washington without any participation by duly elected officials of the State of Louisiana.

School Zone View

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

I feel that I should have the opportunity to express my views on the school zone of Buregard to Winnsboro road for the new Minnie Ruffin school. Your paper in its April 4 edition gave Mr. Odom and the school board members' side of the story but only mentioned that our citizens group protested because we were closer to the Clara Hall school. This is not our sole complaint on this zoning. If our children attend the new Minnie Ruffin school they will cross eight to ten stop streets. If they attend Clara Hall school they do not cross any stop streets until they reach Pecan street which is the beginning of the Clara Hall school grounds. This zone could be corrected by letting the children on streets that run north and south attend the Minnie Ruffin school because those children have through streets to the school without making a stop at the end of each block.

I know Mr. Odom says he will have to make someone unhappy over this situation, but why should it be necessary to endanger the lives of some children to make the parents of other children happy?

Thank you for letting me give my side of the story.

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter as I wish to make some friends in your country through correspondents. Don't you think it's a good idea if we could understand each other by exchanging some stamps, cards or news and information about school life, daily activities or even the world events?

It was said that our Japanese world view is narrow.

Maybe it is true.

That's why in the past our fathers and mothers made many mistakes.

But our youth want to associate with different peoples of different countries and widen our views.

The understanding is, I think, the first required necessary thing before starting anything.

The friendship built upon such understanding can really serve the way to the brighter life and the world peace better.

My very writing of this letter is for that purpose.

Up until this time I did not know how to do anything like this, but as I was told by the Youth Council for International Contact (20 1-chome Jimbo-cho Chiyuda-ku, Tokyo, Japan) recently that the best way is to write to the editors of some newspapers.

So, here I am writing this.

Perhpas it might be too much to ask you, but if you can insert this letter somehwere in your pages, or if you can introduce me some boys or girls, I would be more than appreciated.

MASANOBU MORITA

P. S. Let me introduce myself and our organization here: I am fifteen years old Japanese boy and am in a student class of The Omuta South Hight School.

I am a member of the above mentioned organization and it has tens of thousands of members all over Japan.

Jena, La.

To the Editor:

A man spends much time training his "best friend" — his dog. He spends money feeding it, giving it shots and caring for it. He spends time training it ready for hunting. I have several friends who have spent this time and money on a dog, only to have it stolen.

Just what manner of man is a theft? To begin with, he is a liar and a coward. Opinions as to what breed of lowdown scum it takes to make the most contemptible thief vary.

What do thieves steal? Some steal your good name and damage your reputation as a citizen; others steal your confidence and leave you sad and disappointed; and some stoop so low as to saddle an obligation off on you which you "stood for" as their good friend.

But which is really the most universally depised thief? Not the horse thief, for he might need old Dobbin to make a crop; not even the dirty thug who stole Little Orphan Annie's piggy bank, for she at least has poor relations to take care of her.

All of the above categories of theives are contemptible to the point of nausea. But the dirtiest, most depraved, most sneaking, and most microscopic of all is the dastardly, slinking skunk that steals your dog.

Farm Program Rapped

Lake Providence, La.

To the Editor:

We are farmers much concerned with the favoritism, corruption, lack of principle and added burden to the taxpayer that has always been prevalent in the Farm Programs. Billions wasted each year!

I believe the first controlled production was in 1933 when the government bought feeder pigs for slaughter. Some were bootlegged back to the farms. This is when the corruption started.

We can cite many cases in all branches of the program, for the whole thirty years, where corruption has been prevalent. Favoritism has been shown among the local committeemen and local and state offices. It demonstrates the truth that "Power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

We have traveled extensively during the past five years, studying the farm program. I suggest transferring local and state ASC managers every year.

Farmers do not want to be heavily policed. Nor do the taxpayers want to pay for the policing.

Congress should thoroughly investigate and economize the whole program.

The Soil Bank and storage of enormous amounts of grain was very unfair to the taxpayer. The grain should have been fed long ago. It could have produced real meat whereas millions of tons of imitation meat is being sold.

We have farmed for forty years, but this waste is a disgrace to everyone concerned.

Let us save our Constitution!

Eros, La.

To the Editor:

In your editorial of Sunday, April 1, 1962, you had one titled "No Knuckle Rapping." And in regards to Pfc. Bernis Owen who was trying to tell the Army how to run things, and who was very lightly disciplined in my opinion, you had this to say, "When a five-officer military court at Fort Polk, La., sentenced Pfc. Bernis Owen of Seadrift, Tex. to six months at hard labor and loss of $50. in pay each month for six months it rightfully administered more than a knuckle-rapping. It showed a firm determination to uphold military discipline." Then you went on to say that he had been warned that what he was doing would disrupt the morale and discipline and that he would be punished if he did not cease making these statements.

Now this is one of the few times that I can agree with you, and I agree 100 per cent on this case, but let's go back a few months and take up the case of one Edwin Walker, who was using his position as an officer to politically indoctrinate his troops and tell them for whom they should vote and that former President Truman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Dean Acheson were definitely pink, and joined the John Birch Society, who has labeled former President Eisenhower as a tool of the Communists, and he was also warned to cease making such statements in his talks, and he had officers over him just like Pfc. Owen had. He was subject to take orders just like Pfc. Owen. But when he was disciplined did you take the same position in his case as you did on Pfc. Owen's case? Your sister paper, the Shreveport Times had an editorial Sunday March 11, 1962, titled "Crack Down on The Bellyachers," and the editorial was on the same line as yours. You both agreed that Major General West did the right thing, and the only thing he could do, and you both agreed that because of your hatred for President Kennedy, and the Democratic party, that the president made a mess of the callup of these reserves, and that it was politics that caused him to call them, when at the time the Russians were building walls in Berlin putting the pressure on the United States in Berlin, and every other place they could, trying to see what our president would do.

Now what did the president do? Did he go to Moscow and have a kitchen debate with Khrushchev like the Big Bad Nixon? No, he sent General Clay to Berlin along with several thousand troops, and told the Russians just what they could expect, and the Russians have not gone through with the threats that they were making. Now Mr. Editor, the point that I'm making is that you and lots of our high officials were upholding Gen. Walker in the wrongdoings that he was carrying on, and then when some little fellow like Pfc. Owen had heard and read editorials in the news papers and congressmen and senators condemning the Army and the President of the United States, and accusing them of muzzling the military when in fact they were only disciplining an officer just like they did Private Owen. So don't you think that Pfc. Owen should think that he had a right to speak out and say what was on his mind? I don't think that Pfc. Owen committed near as bad an offense as did Gen. Walker, as Gen. Walker had served in the Army long enough that he knew what he was doing and saying was against army rules and regulations. The only punishment that general got was the loss of his retirement pay.

Now Mr. Editor, if the President and the Congress of the United States were to permit army officers to do things that you and many others, including congressmen, were upholding General Walker to do, then in a few years we will have army officers with a big political following and when they don't like what the government is doing, (like Gen. Walker was) they will move in and take over the government just like they do in South America. I think that Argentina should be a fair example of a military take over just this past week.

I think that you are doing this country, and the people of this country a great dis-service when you write in your editorials that the President of the United States is conniving with the Communist to turn this country over to the Communist. It is a dirty shame that a man of your position don't have any more respect for the office of the President if you don't the man, as the things you put in your editorials. What do you think that our young school children will think when they read about the things you say about the President and the government of the United States. Do you think that you are encouraging them to respect their government and the high office of the President.

I think that the hate and discord that you and some others are strowing, because you don't like a certain political party or some of its leaders, is much more dangerous than the things you complain about. If you and a lot of others don't change your attitude in trying to divide our people, the next thing we will be having riots and disorder just like these countries not too far from us. It is just sickening to watch television and see the streets full of young people running and fighting with the police. Do you want that to happen here in our beautiful land? I never voted for a Republican in my life but I have never questioned Mr. Nixon's loyalty to the United States or any of the other Republicans, I don't believe they are communists, but in 1952 Mr. Nixon accused President Truman of disloyalty, being communistic and all the Democratic party of being infiltrated with communists. It is a sad state of affairs when a political party can't oppose another party without accusing everyone of leaning toward communism, or socialism.

Every bill or law that President Kennedy has proposed you have labeled it as socialistic so if you keep on preaching this, after awhile you are going to have people believeing that they want socialism. I'm sure, Mr. Editor, that you have not drank a glass of milk since you saw President Kennedy drink that glass of milk on TV at his news conference. Crime In Washington

Crime in Washington, the nation's capitol, has reached a new high and is increasing.

Actually, it has been on the increase for five years, but during the past March reached an all-time high, particularly in the realm of violent street robberies and holdups.

Even Washington newspapers are admitting it. Last year for example there were 1,012 crimes of violence on the streets, an increase of 100 per cent since 1959.

But the 1012 victims robbed and either beaten or shot or stabbed or threatened with weapons aren't the whole story. Besides them, there were 517 people who merely had their purses or wallets snatched in the district. This is also another record. Ironically other type of crimes are down.

The dramatic jump in street robberies involving violence or weapons came from 1959 to 1960 when these crimes shot from 497 to 886. It is estimated that the past March will set a new record also for a month and has prompted an all out drive to curtail the crimes.

Reluctantly police authorities there have had to admit that where 54 per cent of the population are Negroes records show that 87 per cent of those arrested for robberies last year were Negroes and 75 per cent of the prisoners in Washington's correctional institutions are Negroes.

Overall, there were a total of 2,054 robberies in 1961. This includes the types mentioned above. In March, the average was seven per day.

This increase, it should be pointed out, started when the national administrations started catering to the Negroes and they started flocking to Washington. The Negro population of the capital is increasing sharply under the present administration.

Much of the blame for this can be placed on the white politicians who are enticing them to Washington where there are no provisions to take care of them or to control them.

Donald Clemmer, director of corrections, says that some of the pointless violence that marks Washington robberies can be traced to "Negro hostility toward whites."

This hostility, he believes has grown out of a feeling of "new - found freedom" among Negro youths as a result of sociological changes due to federal-court rulings against segregation and to the emergence of many African areas as independent nations. He also believes that crime there will likely get worse, instead of better, until this hostility declines.

Several Washington bus drivers have been beaten and robbed by Negro teen-agers. As a result of this and many other incidents, racial tension is pretty high in the capital and probably will get worse.

More and more whites are moving out of Washington proper into adjoining areas in Virginia and Maryland. As they leave, the Negroes move in.

Police Head Gives Reason

Meanwhile, Washington Deputy Police Chief Edgar E. Scott says the rise in street crimes there is due partly to "civil Libertarians who scream about the Constitution, due process and the Bill of Rights.

These groups, he said, are acting "for political and selfish reason under the guise of individual rights, to break down law enforcement. He also blamed "restrictive rulings by a few judges" which he said produce new technicalities and loopholes for the criminal to evade the consequences of his crime."

At the same time, Senator John Stennis of Mississippi raised the question as to whether the White House and Justice Department are taking a "soft" line toward crime in the District because of racial implications. He said that if the White House put out the word that the Justice Department and District Government officials will get full backing in a crackdown on local crime, it would be electrifying."

At any rate we're glad we live in the Twin-Cities where we have good law enforcement and the right climate and don't have to put up with that type of stuff. And we know a lot of white people in Washington who wish they lived in an area such as ours.

Spring Fever

Today we shall discuss that peculiar state of physical and mental lassitude known as spring fever. Spring fever is the laziness a man feels in himself all year but is afraid to display — until the boss displays it too. Once it comes out, however, it's catching. And it does strange things to men's minds.

It makes staid old bachelors want to get married. Contrarily, it makes married men wish they were single again. It makes Mama want to run out and renovate the yard. But it makes Papa hate the sight of pruning shears or or lawnmowers, so a stalemate evolves. It makes the golfer want to play golf. But his caddy wishes he could go fishing.

It makes the city man take his family for a drive in the country, while his farm cousin packs the family into town for a spring set of overalls. It makes coastal dwellers head for the mountains. Half-way there, they'll meet the hill folk headed for the sea.

It causes the fish to bite, which is good, and the mosquitoes to bite, which is not so good. It makes us wake up early to greet the warm, friendly new day, which is good, and puts us to sleep in the middle of that day, which is not so good. Spring fever? We've got it. We hate it. And yet we love it.

40 Hour Week

A man we know, a distinguished chemist and executive, with a long list of achievements and honors to his credit, tells us he knows what is most wrong with American education. "The trouble," he says, "is that we are trying to produce educated men and women on the 40-hour week, or less, and it can't be done."

"Now don't get me wrong," he adds. "I'm not against the 40-hour week in business or industry, and the 30-hour week may be in sight. This seems to be enough to produce all the dingbats and thingumbobs we need and then some. But it will never succeed in turning out educated men and women.

"This kind of education takes a minimum of 60 hours a week, and even 70 and 80 hours may be required. It takes long hours in the laboratory and library and still more hours for assimilation and reflection. Furthermore, it must be done in the spirit that the time is not wasted, but well spent and essential."

"And who works this week?" our friend asks. "The teachers don't want to, and why should they? No one else does. It is scarcely blameworthy in them that they don't want to sit up 'till midnight night after night grading papers.

"And what incentive is there for the student when he goes home in the evening and finds his father stretched out comfortably in front of the television, waiting for someone to amuse him? You can't blame the boy for thinking that life begins when the 40-hour week is ended.

"This new leisure is wonderful," said our friend, "and I must admit that I enjoy it myself. But you must remember that the technology on which it rests was not produced by men who worked only 40 hours a week. It is the product of scientists, engineers and technicians whose education began when they stopped watching the clock. — There just isn't any other way."

Federal Aid

While up in Marion the other night with Congressman Otto E. Passman and Jack Campbell, the general manager of the News-Star and World, we heard a takeoff on the attitude of some Americans toward government aid. And the words of the prose were too often much too true. It was read at a meeting by Dr. Grady A. Dugas of Marian. We thought you might like to read it, so we're passing it on:

The Government is my Shepherd, Therefore I need not work.
It alloweth me to lie down on a good job.
It leadeth me beside still factories;
It destroyeth my initiative.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of laziness and deficit-spending,
I will fear no evil, the Government is with me.
It prepareth an economic Utopia for me, by appropriating the earnings of my own grandchildren.
It filleth my head with false security;
My inefficiency runneth over.
Surely the Government should care for me for all the days of my life!
And I shall dwell in a fool's paradise forever.

Delicate Skill In Stories

One of the most difficult tasks which a writer may undertake is to capture in words those small distillations of mind and emotion which depict a nuance-filled experience in human life.

Updike is a craftsman who is very skilled in this sort of writing. He possesses a spirit which must be described by the overworked term "sensitive." And he translates his imaginative web of ideas, feelings and responses into a fabric of communication that often achieves a fascinating result.

But if the telling of these stories requires a delicate skill, the reading of them also requires the reader to contribute a considerable amount of mental agility and emotional awareness. In blunter words, these stories are for readers who are intellectually awake and willingly sympathetic to the more fragile aspects of human thought. Even then, parts of this book will seem baffingly intengible.

Most of these stories are a recollection of things past. Their range is wide. One is about a 19-year-old boy working in a supermarket, and his reaction to a small incident involving a girl. Another is about a not-so-young divinity student who has a summer job as a lifeguard, and who philosophizes atop his perch at the beach.

The title piece deals with a boy's shattering realization of human mortality, and is very effectively done.

To say that Updike is moody is not to deprecate his talent. It might just be, however, that he could establish a warmer rapport with the reader if he were to infuse his writing with a little more of the savor of humor.

Pearl Buck's Experiences In Sorrow

A BRIDGE FOR PASSING. By Pearl S. Buck. John Day. $4.50.

Autobiographical in the sense that it covers a critical period in Miss Buck's later life, this book covers two main themes.

One is her return to Japan. The occasion is the filming of her story "The Big Wave," an enterprise that gives her an opportunity to renew her contacts with the Japanese people and their life.

The other is the theme of sorrow — the loss of her husband, after seven years of a strange malady that gradually had robbed him of consciousness.

The author had been away from Japan for 25 years. She found some remarkable changes in the country, not the least of which was the change in the status of women, socially, economically and psychologically. But even with all thee alterations she found herself renewing a rapport with the ancient Orient.

Fortunately for her, this renewal of age - old realities served as a cushion and comfort in a period of personal loss. Her husband was an agnostic, close to atheism, but she obviously is a mystic believer in the hereafter.

SPOTLIGHT ON ATHENS

Royal Wedding Brings Anger

By EUGENE LEVIN

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Pretty, blue-eyed Princess Sophie will be married May 14 to the crown prince who some day may rule Spain, Don Juan Carlos.

In the midst of the preparations, the Greek royal family is coming under more public criticism than at any time since King Paul assumed the throne 15 years ago.

Caramanlis, a handsome, shrewd, 55-year-old politician, has been premier six years. He has guided Greece toward economic recovery and his rightist party, the National Radical Union, easily won elections last October.

The two big opposition parties —the anti-Communist Center Union, led by George Papandreou, and the pro-Communist Pame—charged coercion was used to give Caramanlis his victory.

Election and legal authorities threw out the charges. Undeterred, the opposition parties plan to abstain on every government measure put before Parliament.

King Paul, who is 60, found himself in the middle of the squabble when Papandreou asked him to order Caramanlis to resign. The king refused to act, in effect accepting the verdict of election officials. Papandreou and the opposition have been sniping at the monarch ever since.

A favorite target is the "queen's fund." This fund, administered by the royal palace, was set up in 1953 as a relief measure for victims of earthquakes. The fund gets its revenues from taxes on new automobiles and tickets for theaters, movies, sports and night club floor shows. The fund has continued as a charity agency. It gives no public accounting.

It is an "unpleasant tax and no longer a voluntary contribution," Papandreou insists. Theater owners and opposition papers attack it.

The attack on royalty has taken other forms, not sparing the royal bride-to-be, King Paul's 23-year-old daughter.

Caramanlis wanted a $300,000 dowry. Parliament, with the premier's party holding a big majority of seats, approved.

The Communist-oriented Pame said Greece was too poor to provide such a dowry. Although 1961 was a record economic year, the average wage of a Greek workingman remained low, less than $60 a month. Unemployment continued high —100,000-200,000 unemployed and 500,000 underemployed in a country with fewer than nine million inhabitants.

Papandreou's party said Princess Sophie would lower herself by marrying with a dowry.

There was no sign the royal family would turn down Sophie's $300,000. In Greek villages, a girl without a dowry is likely to remain without a husband, and the royal family has recognized this fact of Greek life.

Background On General In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The general who guides U.S. military policy in the bloodied jungles of Viet Nam says the chances are against open intervention by Red powers in this nation's war against the Communists of the north.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, who assumed command of U.S. forces here in February, finds the Vietnamese forces have been doing a fine job since they went over to the initiative, "and I predict you're going to see some fine results.

The general talked with this reporter in a small, modestly furnished office in Saigon. His words were punctuated by the clatter of typewriters. The sharp-featured blue-eyed officer leaves his headquarters frequently for trips to Hawaii to confer with top U.S. defense officials, for talks with Vietnamese leaders, and for flying inspection tours.

Harkins' ticklish job is more like that of a corporation executive than of a field marshal. The four-star West Pointer has 5,000 U.S. servicemen to command but no combat units to direct, no battles to engineer. He sees that U.S. support and advice flow smoothly to Vietnamese forces doing the actual fighting against strong, hit-run Communist guerrillas from the Viet Cong organization of red-ruled North Viet Nam.

Colonial Rule In Algeria To End Monday

PARIS (AP)—Centuries of colonial history will be written off Monday as French voters approve Gen. Charles de Gaulle's accords with the Algerian nationalists.

The accords provide for Algeria's independence this year. France will furnish large-scale economic aid in return for guarantees to Algeria's European minority, plus an equal share of Sahara oil.

President de Gaulle, riding a new crest of public confidence and popularity, has asked for a massive yes vote to confirm the agreements.

The only question is what the percentage will be. It may run as much as 80-90 per cent. The average Frenchman seems not much concerned at how the accords will work out. He is not expected to strike a heroic pose at the ballot box as he turns his back on 130 years, covering Algerian colonization and incorporation into the French state. He'll be in too much ofahurrytoget be in too much of a hurry to get to the movies or to go for a drive in the country.

De Gaulle's firm hand, he feels, has clamped the lid on activity of the Secret Army Organization in France itself. There are still occasional plastic bombings but far fewer than several months ago. If the word "plastiquer" has joined the French vocabulary, it is used these days mostly as a joke.

SOVIET ARMS

Moving Into Trouble-Makers

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)— Smuggled arms stamped with the Russian star were moving in from Ecuador's Pacific beaches for use by trouble-makers.

Known Communists of poor hinterland communities puzzled parish priests and teachers by flashing money around. Some even quit their jobs though they had no other visible means of support.

Czechoslovakia's Quito legation was turning over to the Ecuadorean Communist party the profits from sales of Skoda trucks and other Iron Curtain products.

Funds, propaganda leaflets and instructions apparently were pouring into Ecuador from the Communist operational base in Havana via Cuban Embassy diplomatic pouches.

Ecuadorean military authorities concluded that the Communists were campaigning at the grass roots level to win over this troubled Andean nation of four million people.

Arosemena acted reluctantly. He had wanted his country to be friends with everybody, Red or not, but discovered it didn't work.

After he became president last November he said "we Ecuadoreans are with the United States but we are also with the Soviet Union. We are with Cuba, but we are also with the Vatican because we are a free and sovereign nation."

The military moved in and made its strength felt—just as military forces have done in recent months in Argentina and Brazil.

Ecuador's top brass told Arose-Mena he could have to get out unless he broke relations with Cuba, Poland and Cezchoslovakia, the only members of the Communist bloc that Ecuador recognized.

Arosemena's reluctant agreement led Fidel Castro to call him a drunken coward. Cuba's Marxist prime minister—his regime is now recognied by only five Latin American nations—said the Ecuadorean chief of state may meet from his armed forces a fate worse than that experienced by Arturo Frondizi, the Argentine president arrested and imprisoned in a military coup March 29.

On the surface, at least, the Ecuadorean officers are satisfied and will not put Arosemena under further pressure. But there is speculation that the next time the armed services want something they will back him against the wall again and get it.

That would reduce him to the status of a figurehead.

The military has made Arosemena promise to rid his administration of Communists and fellow-traveling leftists. Both are well entrenched, especially in secondary echelons. They are sure to resist efforts to dig them out.

At one stage in the maneuvering over Cuba, Arosemena called for help from the National Democratic Front, a newly formed coalition of liberals, socialists and independents. The front responded that the president could count on its support if he:

1. Broke relations with Cuba, as the military demanded, and

2. Reshuffled his cabinet to give the front five of its nine ministeries.

Arosemena agreed on both points.

Now what does Arosemena owe the front? Will the coalition parties start trying to tell him what to do? If so, how will Arosemena react? Will the front and the military see eye to eye?

Crime In Washington

Crime in Washington, the nation's capitol, has reached a new high and is increasing.

Actually, it has been on the increase for five years, but during the past March reached an all-time high, particularly in the realm of violent street robberies and holdups.

Even Washington newspapers are admitting it. Last year for example there were 1,012 crimes of violence on the streets, an increase of 100 per cent since 1959.

But the 1012 victims robbed and either beaten or shot or stabbed or threatened with weapons aren't the whole story. Besides them, there were 517 people who merely had their purses or wallets snatched in the district. This is also another record. Ironically other type of crimes are down.

The dramatic jump in street robberies involving violence or weapons came from 1959 to 1960 when these crimes shot from 497 to 886. It is estimated that the past March will set a new record also for a month and has prompted an all out drive to curtail the crimes.

Reluctantly police authorities there have had to admit that where 54 per cent of the population are Negroes records show that 87 per cent of those arrested for robberies last year were Negroes and 75 per cent of the prisoners in Washington's correctional institutions are Negroes.

Overall, there were a total of 2,054 robberies in 1961. This includes the types mentioned above. In March, the average was seven per day.

This increase, it should be pointed out, started when the national administrations started catering to the Negroes and they started flocking to Washington. The Negro population of the capital is increasing sharply under the present administration.

Much of the blame for this can be placed on the white politicians who are enticing them to Washington where there are no provisions to take care of them or to control them.

Donald Clemmer, director of corrections, says that some of the pointless violence that marks Washington robberies can be traced to "Negro hostility toward whites."

This hostility, he believes has grown out of a feeling of "new - found freedom" among Negro youths as a result of sociological changes due to federal-court rulings against segregation and to the emergence of many African areas as independent nations. He also believes that crime there will likely get worse, instead of better, until this hostility declines.

Several Washington bus drivers have been beaten and robbed by Negro teen-agers. As a result of this and many other incidents, racial tension is pretty high in the capital and probably will get worse.

More and more whites are moving out of Washington proper into adjoining areas in Virginia and Maryland. As they leave, the Negroes move in.

Police Head Gives Reason

Meanwhile, Washington Deputy Police Chief Edgar E. Scott says the rise in street crimes there is due partly to "civil Libertarians who scream about the Constitution, due process and the Bill of Rights.

These groups, he said, are acting "for political and selfish reason under the guise of individual rights, to break down law enforcement. He also blamed "restrictive rulings by a few judges" which he said produce new technicalities and loopholes for the criminal to evade the consequences of his crime."

At the same time, Senator John Stennis of Mississippi raised the question as to whether the White House and Justice Department are taking a "soft" line toward crime in the District because of racial implications. He said that if the White House put out the word that the Justice Department and District Government officials will get full backing in a crackdown on local crime, it would be electrifying."

At any rate we're glad we live in the Twin-Cities where we have good law enforcement and the right climate and don't have to put up with that type of stuff. And we know a lot of white people in Washington who wish they lived in an area such as ours.

The Communist-oriented Pame said Greece was too poor to provide such a dowry. Although 1961 was a record economic year, the average wage of a Greek workingman remained low, less than $60 a month. Unemployment continued high —100,000-200,000 unemployed and 500,000 underemployed in a country with fewer than nine million inhabitants.

Papandreou's party said Princess Sophie would lower herself by marrying with a dowry.

There was no sign the royal family would turn down Sophie's $300,000. In Greek villages, a girl without a dowry is likely to remain without a husband, and the royal family has recognized this fact of Greek life.

Background On General In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The general who guides U.S. military policy in the bloodied jungles of Viet Nam says the chances are against open intervention by Red powers in this nation's war against the Communists of the north.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, who assumed command of U.S. forces here in February, finds the Vietnamese forces have been doing a fine job since they went over to the initiative, "and I predict you're going to see some fine results.

The general talked with this reporter in a small, modestly furnished office in Saigon. His words were punctuated by the clatter of typewriters. The sharp-featured blue-eyed officer leaves his headquarters frequently for trips to Hawaii to confer with top U.S. defense officials, for talks with Vietnamese leaders, and for flying inspection tours.

Harkins' ticklish job is more like that of a corporation executive than of a field marshal. The four-star West Pointer has 5,000 U.S. servicemen to command but no combat units to direct, no battles to engineer. He sees that U.S. support and advice flow smoothly to Vietnamese forces doing the actual fighting against strong, hit-run Communist guerrillas from the Viet Cong organization of red-ruled North Viet Nam.

Colonial Rule In Algeria To End Monday

PARIS (AP)—Centuries of colonial history will be written off Monday as French voters approve Gen. Charles de Gaulle's accords with the Algerian nationalists.

The accords provide for Algeria's independence this year. France will furnish large-scale economic aid in return for guarantees to Algeria's European minority, plus an equal share of Sahara oil.

President de Gaulle, riding a new crest of public confidence and popularity, has asked for a massive yes vote to confirm the agreements.

The only question is what the percentage will be. It may run as much as 80-90 per cent. The average Frenchman seems not much concerned at how the accords will work out. He is not expected to strike a heroic pose at the ballot box as he turns his back on 130 years, covering Algerian colonization and incorporation into the French state. He'll be in too much ofahurrytoget be in too much of a hurry to get to the movies or to go for a drive in the country.

De Gaulle's firm hand, he feels, has clamped the lid on activity of the Secret Army Organization in France itself. There are still occasional plastic bombings but far fewer than several months ago. If the word "plastiquer" has joined the French vocabulary, it is used these days mostly as a joke.

SOVIET ARMS

Moving Into Trouble-Makers

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)— Smuggled arms stamped with the Russian star were moving in from Ecuador's Pacific beaches for use by trouble-makers.

Known Communists of poor hinterland communities puzzled parish priests and teachers by flashing money around. Some even quit their jobs though they had no other visible means of support.

Czechoslovakia's Quito legation was turning over to the Ecuadorean Communist party the profits from sales of Skoda trucks and other Iron Curtain products.

Funds, propaganda leaflets and instructions apparently were pouring into Ecuador from the Communist operational base in Havana via Cuban Embassy diplomatic pouches.

Ecuadorean military authorities concluded that the Communists were campaigning at the grass roots level to win over this troubled Andean nation of four million people.

Arosemena acted reluctantly. He had wanted his country to be friends with everybody, Red or not, but discovered it didn't work.

After he became president last November he said "we Ecuadoreans are with the United States but we are also with the Soviet Union. We are with Cuba, but we are also with the Vatican because we are a free and sovereign nation."

The military moved in and made its strength felt—just as military forces have done in recent months in Argentina and Brazil.

Ecuador's top brass told Arosemena he could have to get out unless he broke relations with Cuba, Poland and Cezchoslovakia, the only members of the Communist bloc that Ecuador recognized.

Arosemena's reluctant agreement led Fidel Castro to call him a drunken coward. Cuba's Marxist prime minister—his regime is now recognied by only five Latin American nations—said the Ecuadorean chief of state may meet from his armed forces a fate worse than that experienced by Arturo Frondizi, the Argentine president arrested and imprisoned in a military coup March 29.

On the surface, at least, the Ecuadorean officers are satisfied and will not put Arosemena under further pressure. But there is speculation that the next time the armed services want something they will back him against the wall again and get it.

That would reduce him to the status of a figurehead.

The military has made Arosemena promise to rid his administration of Communists and fellow-traveling leftists. Both are well entrenched, especially in secondary echelons. They are sure to resist efforts to dig them out.

At one stage in the maneuvering over Cuba, Arosemena called for help from the National Democratic Front, a newly formed coalition of liberals, socialists and independents. The front responded that the president could count on its support if he:

1. Broke relations with Cuba, as the military demanded, and

2. Reshuffled his cabinet to give the front five of its nine ministeries.

Arosemena agreed on both points.

Now what does Arosemena owe the front? Will the coalition parties start trying to tell him what to do? If so, how will Arosemena react? Will the front and the military see eye to eye?

Labor, Business Assault JFK's Tax Credit Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy's tax incentive plan — aimed at stimulating business by encouraging expansion—ran into opposition during the week.

Criticism came from representatives of both business and labor.

The so-called incentive plan has been passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate. But the House cut from 8 per cent to 7 per cent the amount which businesses and farms would be permitted to subtract from their income tax for expenditures on equipment and machinery.

The administration let it be known that a fight would be waged in the Senate to restore the cut.

Spokesmen for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers told the Senate Finance Committee that they opposed the proposed tax credit.

Walter A. Slowinski, representing the chamber, said of the tax credit: "It may actually be a windfall to a business which already had fortuitously planned to purchase new facilities later in 1962. On the other hand, it will work against small businesses or large companies which have no current funds for expansion or no taxable income to be offset by the credit."

Stanley H. Ruttenberg, research director for the AFL-CIO, called the tax credit plan "a mountainous giveway."

"The kind of spur business needs most," he said, "is the durable stimulus of rising family spendable income, which lower income taxes for the middle and lower brackets could help to provide."

It would provide $500 million for public agencies over the next three years which, along with some matching funds, would be used for "the revitalization and needed expansion of public mass transportation."

Kennedy also proposed that Congress wipe out minimum rates prescribed by federal regulation for travel and for shipment of bulk freight, including grain, coal ore and farm and fishery products.

This, he said, is intended to make carriers "fit, lean and progressive by vigorous competition and innovation."

Some rays of encouragement seeped through what has been a darkening economic picture. Economists saw cheerful signs and some statistics bore them out.

"The hesitation is only temporary," said Dr. Marcus Nadler, economic consultant for the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York. "There is no basis for the view that the economy is leveling off or that we are headed for a decline."

The automobile industry is going great guns in both sales and production.

Sales of new American-made passenger cars in March exceeded 600,000, the highest for the month in seven years. General Motors Corp.'s Chevrolet Division said its March deliveries were the highest for any month in its history, totaling 197,705. American Motors reported its sales of 45,402 cars were a record for March.

In the first three months of the year the industry turned out 1,766,833 cars, an increase of 47.9 per cent over the 1961 first quarter. Output during the week was estimated at 145,000, highest of the year.

Steel production continued to hum along at about 80 per cent of capacity but the industry looked for a slowdown in the wake of agreement on a new labor contract. Output during the week totaled 2,417,000 tons, up 1 per cent from the prior week.

Other favorable developments included:

The Federal Reserve Board reported that outstanding consumer instalment credit increased by $236 million in February. This meant that people were more willing to go into debt to buy things.

The Commerce Department reported that combined sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers reached a record level of $64.7 billion in February, up 1 per cent from January.

Surveys indicated that merchants expect an increase in sales of apparel and home furnishings.

Briefly around the business scene: The American Collectors Association says more people are paying their bills on time than at any time since middle 1958. . . . Employment in the iron and steel industry totaled 566,028 in February, highest in 21 months. . . . U.S. smokers paid $3.1 billion in taxes in 1961, the Tobacco Institute estimates.

Barge Lines Are 'Shocked' At Proposal

WASHINGTON (Special)— "The regulated barge lines are shocked and amazed at the recommendation in the White House transportation message that the bulk commodity exemptions be extended to the railroads. Such a recommendation, if adopted, would remove from public rate control approximately 70 per cent of the railroad traffic," John W. Hershey, president of the Inland Waterways Common Carrier Association, said today.

"Inevitably, this would mean the destruction of the common carrier system which now guarantees regular and dependable service at reasonable rates to all shippers, large and small. The right solution is not to abandon public control or rates, but to regulate equally all those who compete with the common carrier. This has long been advocated both by the railroads and the regulated water carriers.

"The recommendation ignores the careful studies of the Congress which urge the revival of the common carrier. Clearly, the chief beneficiaries of such a proposal would be the nation's largest corporations. They would enjoy secret rates, demand rebates and get preferential service, eventually knocking out of the market their small competitors. Such a proposal represents a return to the economic thinking of the 'robber baron' days.

"One item alone demonstrates this. The railroads are now generally exempt from anti-trust prosecution despite the fact that they meet regularly in rate bureaus to fix their prices, a practice that is illegal in industry generally. They are permitted to fix prices, however, only because there is public control of rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Yet, apparently, the White House advisors would repeal public control of rates without substituting the normal restraints against destructive competition found in industry generally under the anti-trust act.

"Public control of minimum rates is essential if the lower-cost water carrier is to survive. It is naive to suppose that the common carrier inland barge lines can survive an all-out cut throat rate war against the railroad industry which is 90 times its size. In such a struggle, rates would be reduced to uneconomic levels long enough to kill off the barge service, then raised later when this competition is eliminated. The inland water carriers know exactly how this works because it happened to them in the latter part of the nineteenth century and was the principal reason for the passage by the Congress of minimum rate control legislation.

Cotton Futures Market Show Stable Prices

Prices moved within a narrow, irregular range of 25 cents a bale higher to 15 cents a bale lower. In the week before the range was 5 cents to $1.10 a bale lower.

There were few new marketing incentives, with the main influences being the increasing firmness of spot prices and the expectation of a tightening of the free supply of the staple.

The nearby May contracts eased downward during the week on commission house liquidation and new selling pressure, while some trade buying absorbed offerings.

Prices for new crop deliveries showed little or no change.

The New Orleans Cotton Exchange Service Bureau reported an improvement over the previous week in the amount of exports.

In the week ended April 3, the exchange said, 101,000 bales were shipped outside the country, compared with 56,000 in the week ended March 27 and 209,000 in the same week a year earlier.

For the year to date 3,540,000 bales have been shipped, 31 per cent below last year's 5,130,000 bales to the comparable date.

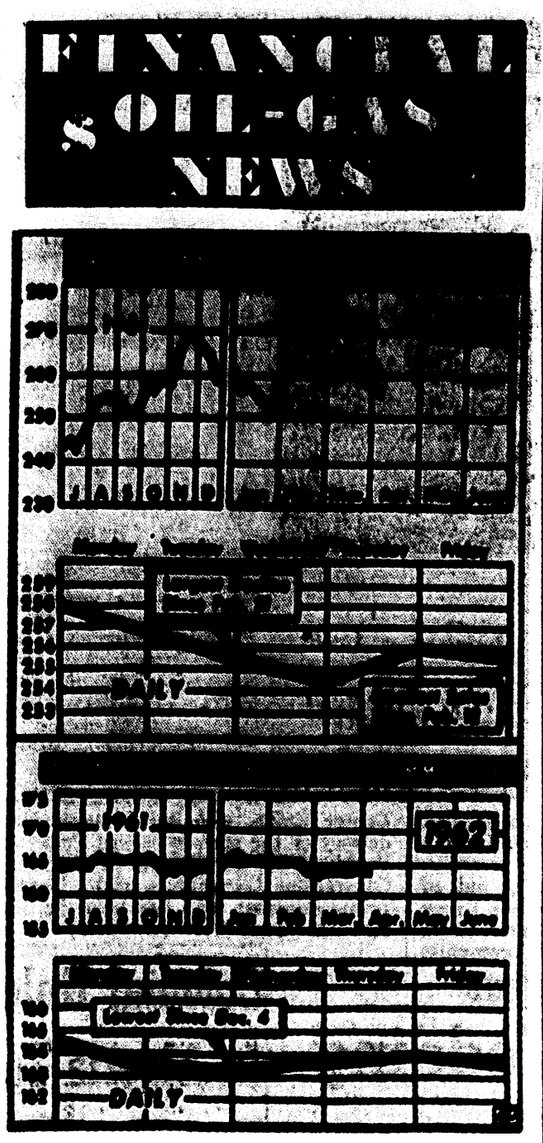
A recent Department of Agriculture report indicated 9.6 million bales have been allocated for the fiscal year 1961-1962 under the government's special program. This includes all government exports but "payment-in-kind."

Firm Activates Branch Office

LAFAYETTE (Special) — The California Company is activating a new organizational unit to be headquartered here, it was announced yesterday by the firm's president, K. H. Shaffer, from his headquarter offices in New Orleans.

Shaffer added that the unit, designated the Southwest Louisiana Division, will be responsible for all Calco activities in the general Southwest Louisiana area.

As a reault of this organizational change, it is expected that some 75-80 employees will be added to the Company's 44-man work force presently headquartered here. It appears, then, that when the Division is activated, Calco will have about 120 employees, give or take a few, working out of this location.



THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks declined for the third week in a row, closing today at 255.7 from 258.0 a week ago. The Commodity Index, with industrials showing the largest loss, declined this week, closing today at 163.7 from 164.5 a week earlier. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

OTHERS DISAGREE

Buying Habits Seen As Threat To Gases

HOUSTON (AP) — Oil refiners will be watching customer buying habits very closely this summer.

Other refiners and marketers disagree. Others still are sudying the early results of the marketing maneuvering that got under way on a rather widespread basis last fall.

Gulf Oil Corp. began marketing a sub-regular grade in November. Phillips Petroleum Co. has been testing a similar grade. Humble Oil & Refining Co. added a new twist by starting market tests of a middle grade that falls between regular and premium grades in quality and price.

John E. Swearingen, president of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), is among the executives who believe the economy or sub-regular grades will not be successful.

Swearingen believes the two-grade system—regular and premium—will continue to serve the best interest of Indiana Standard's customers.

"Generally, where the new low quality gasoline has appeared all gasoline prices have weakened—in some cases, ridiculously so," he said. "This low product quality seems to be a backward rather than a forward step."

Gulf officials have been reluctant to discuss early results of their new marketing program. They have indicated they are pleased but have met inquiries by emphasizing two points.

Gulftane is strictly an economy brand lower in quality and price than regular grade, one Gulf representative said. "It is not a price cutting brand. Our dealers have not led the market down in any area. Gulftane has been priced with competitive brands."

Humble, the domestic marketer for Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), also has been reluctant to discuss the middle grade tests that have been underway since late last year in Texas and in the Pittsburgh, Pa., and Norfolk-Newport News, Va., areas.

One official of Humble said this week, however, his firm is very happy with the marketing tests.

"The results have been beyond expectations," he said.

Swearingen discussed third grade gasolines in a letter published in the winter edition of an Indiana Standard publication distributed to stockholders and employes.

He said the sub-regular third grade of gasoline is nothing new.

"Our company marketed a third grade in the 30s," he said. "We stopped because even in the depression years the customers didn't buy enough of this gasoline to make the venture profitable."

Swearingen said the third grade of gasoline satisfies only the needs of a steadily declining percentage of the cars on the road today.

He said two high quality grades can serve the needs of all automobiles.

"We doubt that our customers are willing to accept an inferior product even at a slightly lower price," he said.

"In time we believe that sound economic principles and customer buying habits will eliminate a third grade of gasoline from the market because there is no substantial demand for an inferior product of limited use."

Oil Depletion Cut Unlikely This Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-debated oil and gas depletion allowance has come under attack again in the Senate Finance Committee but there appears to be no prospect that it will be reduced this year.

Senators long convinced that the allowance is overgenerous have seized the hearings now under way on President Kennedy's tax revision bill as an opportunity to renew their attack.

A check of the 17-member committee Saturday showed that they could hope for no more than four or five votes to reduce the benefit.

Their prospects might be somewhat better on the floor. But Senate votes in recent years have shown that forces seeking to cut back the allowance are short of a majority.

The allowance permits an oil and gas producer to deduct 27½ per cent of his gross income from this source in figuring his income tax, up to a maximum of 50 per cent of his net income.

Supporters of the provision contend it is proper since oil and gas are a wasting asset that is used up as consumed. They also argue that it is essential to encourage continued exploration to keep American reserves at a high level.

Advocates of a reduction have been hoping for some backing from the Kennedy administration and received an indication at the committee hearings this week they may get it later. Kennedy as a senator voted to cut the allowances in 1958 and 1960.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon told Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., as the hearings opened that the chances are that there will be some suggestions made on the oil and gas allowances.

ARREST SUBVERSIVES

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP)—Papuan police Saturday reported arrest of a score of subversive persons, including some women, who had been hiding in woods near Hollandia.

Police said an Indonesian flag and a portable radio were found with the group.

It is assumed they were led by Indonesians, a policeman spokesman said, but added that they hardly formed a militant organization.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

They could see the latest in equipment, hear experts explain or demonstrate their specialities, view outstanding exhibitions and, above all, have fun snapping away at glamorous models, celebrities and photogenic activities.

I joined the opening day crowd outside the fortress-like walls of the 71st Regiment Armory and noted the large proportion of fans who came prepared to shoot pictures. Many had two or three cameras slung over their shoulders. They were the enthusiasts who keep one camera reserved for color or loaded with a different type of film or who didn't want to lose time changing film.

A carnival spirit prevailed inside. Groups pushed along from exhibit booth to exhibit booth, stopping to study the many new items which had been introduced only a few weeks earlier in Chicago to photo dealers.

In the center of the main floor was the "Great Stage," a three-foot-high platform like a prize-fight ring, around which the crowd gathered on all sides. Performers and demonstrations were scheduled there every hour on the hour, ranging from trampoline acrobatics to fashion, beauty and magic shows.

For hobbyists who wished to improve their skills, demonstrations and lectures on photographic techniques were presented hourly in a "Hall of Learning," a tent-like area with seats. Darkroom chemistry, color printing at home, editing home movies, flash and travel photography were some of the subjects explained.

The "Little Theatre" was another screened-off area where slide and movie showings were also put on regularly at hourly intervals. Some of the typical presentations there, designed to improve camera craftsmanship by inspirational example, were: "Around the World in 80 Slides" by Harvey Meston, "Use of Photographic Filters" by Norman Rothchild, "Slide Showmanship" by James Cleary, plus several movies by Ansel Adams.

For viewing pleasure, more than half a dozen separate exhibitions were scattered around the rim of the floor to browse through. Yousuf Karsh's portraits of famous men and women, 76 in all, were obtained from the Smithsonian Institution. "Photography and the Civil War" is a collection of more than 100 pictures prepared by Ansco from Mathew Brady original negatives and others from the National Archives. Special exhibits on "Space Photography" and "Photography in National Defense" focused on photography's role in today's world. Photo journalism was represented by a display of selections represented by a display of selections from the 18th annual Newspictures of the Year competition sponsored by the National Press Photographers Association and the University of Missouri.

Stamp News

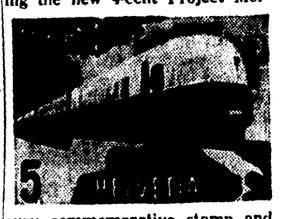
Four beautifully designed multi-colored stamps have been issued by Switzerland depicting various national locations and events. This is the 1962 Publicity Set, reports the Swiss Philatelic Agency in America.

The 5 centimes pictures a Swiss electric train. The 10 centimes features the World Rowing Championships to be held in Lucerne. The 20 centimes highlights the Jungfraujoch Railway Station, the highest in Europe (altitude 11,329 feet). The 50 centimes value, consisting of the World Health Organization emblem and a malaria - carrying mosquito, is Switzerland's contribution to the anti-malaria philatelic campaign now being conducted in many nations.

Collectors wishing to obtain a special cachet cover of the new Eire commemorative stamp honoring the Irish scholars O'Donovan and O'Curry, may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 East 32 St., Brooklyn 10, N.Y. A complete set on cachet cover costs $1.

Selangor State (in the Federation of Malaya) has replaced its 1 cent, 2, 4, 5, 8, 10 and 20 cent adhesives picturing the late ruler with new stamps containing a portrait of the new Sultan.

For collectors who may have missed the first day cancellations for the Project Mercury stamps, the United States Post Office Department is coming to the rescue. Plain envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department bearing the new 4-cent Project Mercury commemorative stamp and canceled "Cape Canaveral, Florida, 3:30 P.M., Feb. 20, 1962," "First Day of Issue," are being sold through the Philatelic Sales Agency at one cent above the face value of the stamps affixed to the envelopes. Patrols should, therefore, refrain from submitting envelopes either plain or with stamps affixed for this particular issue.



Orders for the first day covers bearing the four-cent Project Mercury stamps are being processed as rapidly as possible. However, due to the heavy volume of requests being received, there will be some delay in dispatching the orders.

Netherlands New Guinea will issue a series of two stamps without surcharge. One stamp will depict a street crossing showing children and a traffic sign. The other stamp illustrates adults at the same crossing.

'A GIVEAWAY'

Labor, Business Assault JFK's Tax Credit Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy's tax incentive plan — aimed at stimulating business by encouraging expansion—ran into opposition during the week.

Criticism came from representatives of both business and labor.

The so-called incentive plan has been passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate. But the House cut from 8 per cent to 7 per cent the amount which businesses and farms would be permitted to subtract from their income tax for expenditures on equipment and machinery.

The administration let it be known that a fight would be waged in the Senate to restore the cut.

Spokesmen for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers told the Senate Finance Committee that they opposed the proposed tax credit.

Walter A. Slowinski, representing the chamber, said of the tax credit: "It may actually be a windfall to a business which already had fortuitously planned to purchase new facilities later in 1962. On the other hand, it will work against small businesses or large companies which have no current funds for expansion or no taxable income to be offset by the credit."

Stanley H. Ruttenberg, research director for the AFL-CIO, called the tax credit plan "a mountainous giveway."

"The kind of spur business needs most," he said, "is the durable stimulus of rising family spendable income, which lower income taxes for the middle and lower brackets could help to provide."

It would provide $500 million for public agencies over the next three years which, along with some matching funds, would be used for "the revitalization and needed expansion of public mass transportation."

Kennedy also proposed that Congress wipe out minimum rates prescribed by federal regulation for travel and for shipment of bulk freight, including grain, coal ore and farm and fishery products.

This, he said, is intended to make carriers "fit, lean and progressive by vigorous competition and innovation."

Some rays of encouragement seeped through what has been a darkening economic picture. Economists saw cheerful signs and some statistics bore them out.

"The hesitation is only temporary," said Dr. Marcus Nadler, economic consultant for the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York. "There is no basis for the view that the economy is leveling off or that we are headed for a decline."

The automobile industry is going great guns in both sales and production.

Sales of new American-made passenger cars in March exceeded 600,000, the highest for the month in seven years. General Motors Corp.'s Chevrolet Division said its March deliveries were the highest for any month in its history, totaling 197,705. American Motors reported its sales of 45,402 cars were a record for March.

In the first three months of the year the industry turned out 1,766,833 cars, an increase of 47.9 per cent over the 1961 first quarter. Output during the week was estimated at 145,000, highest of the year.

Steel production continued to hum along at about 80 per cent of capacity but the industry looked for a slowdown in the wake of agreement on a new labor contract. Output during the week totaled 2,417,000 tons, up 1 per cent from the prior week.

Other favorable developments included:

The Federal Reserve Board reported that outstanding consumer instalment credit increased by $236 million in February. This meant that people were more willing to go into debt to buy things.

The Commerce Department reported that combined sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers reached a record level of $64.7 billion in February, up 1 per cent from January.

Surveys indicated that merchants expect an increase in sales of apparel and home furnishings.

Briefly around the business scene: The American Collectors Association says more people are paying their bills on time than at any time since middle 1958. . . . Employment in the iron and steel industry totaled 566,028 in February, highest in 21 months. . . . U.S. smokers paid $3.1 billion in taxes in 1961, the Tobacco Institute estimates.

Barge Lines Are 'Shocked' At Proposal

WASHINGTON (Special)—"The regulated barge lines are shocked and amazed at the recommendation in the White House transportation message that the bulk commodity exemptions be extended to the railroads. Such a recommendation, if adopted, would remove from public rate control approximately 70 per cent of the railroad traffic," John W. Hershey, president of the Inland Waterways Common Carrier Association, said today.

"Inevitably, this would mean the destruction of the common carrier system which now guarantees regular and dependable service at reasonable rates to all shippers, large and small. The right solution is not to abandon public control or rates, but to regulate equally all those who compete with the common carrier. This has long been advocated both by the railroads and the regulated water carriers.

"The recommendation ignores the careful studies of the Congress which urge the revival of the common carrier. Clearly, the chief beneficiaries of such a proposal would be the nation's largest corporations. They would enjoy secret rates, demand rebates and get preferential service, eventually knocking out of the market their small competitors. Such a proposal represents a return to the exonomic thinking of the 'robber baron' days.

"One item alone demonstrates this. The railroads are now generally exempt from anti-trust prosecution despite the fact that they meet regularly in rate bureaus to fix their prices, a practice that is illegal in industry generally. They are permitted to fix prices, however, only because there is public control of rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Yet, apparently, the White House advisors would repeal public control of rates without substituting the normal restraints against destructive competition found in industry generally under the anti-trust act.

"Public control of minimum rates is essential if the lower-cost water carrier is to survive. It is naive to suppose that the common carrier inland barge lines can survive an all-out cut throat rate war against the railroad industry which is 90 times its size. In such a struggle, rates would be reduced to uneconomic levels long enough to kill off the barge service, then raised later when this competition is eliminated. The inland water carriers know exactly how this works because it happened to them in the latter part of the nineteenth century and was the principal reason for the passage by the Congress of minimum rate control legislation.

Cotton Futures Market Show Stable Prices

Prices moved within a narrow, irregular range of 25 cents a bale higher to 15 cents a bale lower. In the week before the range was 5 cents to $1.10 a bale lower.

There were few new marketing incentives, with the main influences being the increasing firmness of spot prices and the expectation of a tightening of the free supply of the staple.

The nearby May contracts eased downward during the week on commission house liquidation and new selling pressure, while some trade buying absorbed offerings.

Prices for new crop deliveries showed little or no change.

The New Orleans Cotton Exchange Service Bureau reported an improvement over the previous week in the amount of exports.

In the week ended April 3, the exchange said, 101,000 bales were shipped outside the country, compared with 56,000 in the week ended March 27 and 209,000 in the same week a year earlier.

For the year to date 3,540,000 bales have been shipped, 31 per cent below last year's 5,138,000 bales to the comparable date.

A recent Department of Agriculture report indicated 1.6 million bales have been allocated for the fiscal year 1961-1962 under the government's special program. This includes all government exports but "payment-in-kind."

Firm Activates Branch Office

LAFAYETTE (Special) — The California Company is activating a new organizational unit to be headquartered here, it was announced yesterday by the firm's president, K. H. Shaffer, from his headquarter offices in New Orleans.

Shaffer added that the unit, designated the Southwest Louisiana Division, will be responsible for all Calco activities in the general Southwest Louisiana area.

As a reault of this organizational change, it is expected that some 75-80 employees will be added to the Company's 44-man work force presently headquartered here. It appears, then, that when the Division is activated, Calco will have about 120 employees, give or take a few, working out of this location.

OTHERS DISAGREE

Buying Habits Seen As Threat To Gases

HOUSTON (AP) — Oil refiners will be watching customer buying habits very closely this summer.

Other refiners and marketers disagree. Others still are sudying the early results of the marketing maneuvering that got under way on a rather widespread basis last fall.

Gulf Oil Corp. began marketing a sub-regular grade in November. Phillips Petroleum Co. has been testing a similar grade. Humble Oil & Refining Co. added a new twist by starting market tests of a middle grade that falls between regular and premium grades in quality and price.

John E. Swearingen, president of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), is among the executives who believe the economy or sub-regular grades will not be successful.

Swearingen believes the two-grade system—regular and premium—will continue to serve the best interest of Indiana Standard's customers.

"Generally, where the new low quality gasoline has appeared all gasoline prices have weakened—in some cases, ridiculously so," he said. "This low product quality seems to be a backward rather than a forward step."

Gulf officials have been reluctant to discuss early results of their new marketing program. They have indicated they are pleased but have met inquiries by emphasizing two points.

Gulftane is strictly an economy brand lower in quality and price than regular grade, one Gulf representative said. "It is not a price cutting brand. Our dealers have not led the market down in any area. Gulftane has been priced with competitive brands."

Humble, the domestic marketer for Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), also has been reluctant to discuss the middle grade tests that have been underway since late last year in Texas and in the Pittsburgh, Pa., and Norfolk-Newport News, Va., areas.

One official of Humble said this week, however, his firm is very happy with the marketing tests.

"The results have been beyond expectations," he said.

Swearingen discussed third grade gasolines in a letter published in the winter edition of an Indiana Standard publication distributed to stockholders and employes.

He said the sub-regular third grade of gasoline is nothing new.

"Our company marketed a third grade in the 30s," he said. "We stopped because even in the depression years the customers didn't buy enough of this gasoline to make the venture profitable."

Swearingen said the third grade of gasoline satisfies only the needs of a steadily declining percentage of the cars on the road today.

He said two high quality grades can serve the needs of all automobiles.

"We doubt that our customers are willing to accept an inferior product even at a slightly lower price," he said.

"In time we believe that sound economic principles and customer buying habits will eliminate a third grade of gasoline from the market because there is no substantial demand for an inferior product of limited use."

Firm Honors Employees In Monroe Area

More than 60 veteran employees of United Gas from the Monroe area were among the more than 1,100 honored at the company's annual service award programs this week at the general headquarters in Shreveport.

Each employee in attendance had 25 or more years of service with United Gas companies. More than 150 who celebrated their 25th anniversary between July 2, 1960, and July 1, 1961, were presented gold service insignia and watches. Those who marked 30, 35, 40 or 45 years of service during the period received new insignia.

Some 2,000 persons, United Gas employees and members of their families from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, southern Alabama and northwestern Florida, were present for the occasion. The size of the group made it necessary to hold the event on two days, April 2 and April 5.

N. C. McGowen, chairman of the board of United Gas Corp., and a 48-year employee himself, was the principal speaker at both dinners. Ed Parkes, president of United Gas Corporation, presided at both events. Parkes has 34 years of service with United Gas.

ARREST SUBVERSIVES

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP)—Papuan police Saturday reported arrest of a score of subversive persons, including some women, who had been hiding in woods near Hollandia.

Police said an Indonesian flag and a portable radio were found with the group.

It is assumed they were led by Indonesians, a policeman spokesman said, but added that they hardly formed a militant organization.

Oil Depletion Cut Unlikely This Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-debated oil and gas depletion allowance has come under attack again in the Senate Finance Committee but there appears to be no prospect that it will be reduced this year.

Senators long convinced that the allowance is overgenerous have seized the hearings now under way on President Kennedy's tax revision bill as an opportunity to renew their attack.

A check of the 17-member committee Saturday showed that they could hope for no more than four or five votes to reduce the benefit.

Their prospects might be somewhat better on the floor. But Senate votes in recent years have shown that forces seeking to cut back the allowance are short of a majority.

The allowance permits an oil and gas producer to deduct 27½ per cent of his gross income from this source in figuring his income tax, up to a maximum of 50 per cent of his net income.

Supporters of the provision contend it is proper since oil and gas are a wasting asset that is used up as consumed. They also argue that it is essential to encourage continued exploration to keep American reserves at a high level.

Advocates of a reduction have been hoping for some backing from the Kennedy administration and received an indication at the committee hearings this week they may get it later. Kennedy as a senator voted to cut the allowances in 1958 and 1960.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon told Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., as the hearings opened that the chances are that there will be some suggestions made on the oil and gas allowances.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR

Excitement and the enthusiasm of photography were very much in evidence in New York City recently with the opening of the first International Photo Fair by a new group of photo show backers. It was a nine-day event to which camera fans flocked to see, hear, absorb and participate.

They could see the latest in equipment, hear experts explain or demonstrate their specialities, view outstanding exhibitions and, above all, have fun snapping away at glamorous models, celebrities and photogenic activities.

I joined the opening day crowd outside the fortress-like walls of the 71st Regiment Armory and noted the large proportion of fans who came prepared to shoot pictures. 'Premature Burial' Soon At The Jim

The vivid imagination of Edgar Allan Poe, set in words by the master of the terror tale and brought to the motion picture screen by American International Pictures in "The Premature Burial," receives added dimension in the motion picture through the efforts of a brilliant young California artist.

WIERD PAINTINGS

An integral part of AIP's filmization of the famed Poe story, "The Premature Burial," are the weirdly terrifying paintings seen in the film. They are the product of the imagination and skill of Los Angeles painter Burton Shonberg whose four beautiful works for the terror tale took almost three months to complete.

The color and Panavision picture, which opens Wednesday at the Jim Theatre, stars Ray Milland, Hazel Court, Richard Ney and Heather Angel.

Shonberg was first "discovered" and commissioned by Roger Corman, producer - director of "The Premature Burial," to paint portraits of the Usher family for his first Poe picture, "The House of Usher." Shonberg's work caused so much favorable comment that Corman commissioned him again to do the art work for "The Premature Burial."

The young artist lives and works in Los Angeles. His product covers a wide range of subjects, with a preference for portraits. He is a studious young man whose main interests are painting and philosophy.

HORST PLANS AHEAD

He has signed with producers Cheryl Crawford and Roger L. Stevens to appear in "Andorra," a play not duc here until February 1963.

Shonberg was first "discovered" and commissioned by Roger Corman, producer - director of "The Premature Burial," to paint portraits of the Usher family for his first Poe picture, "The House of Usher." Shonberg's work caused so much favorable comment that Corman commissioned him again to do the art work for "The Premature Burial."

The young artist lives and works in Los Angeles. His product covers a wide range of subjects, with a preference for portraits. He is a studious young man whose main interests are painting and philosophy.

HORST PLANS AHEAD

He has signed with producers Cheryl Crawford and Roger L. Stevens to appear in "Andorra," a play not due here until February 1963.

CARUSO'S CARICATURES

NEW YORK (AP)—Caricatures drawn by Enrico Caruso have been added to the gallery of theatrical sketches at Sardi's, one of Broadway's best-known restaurants.

Impressions by the famous opera tenor include Yvette Guilbert, Camille Saint-Saens, Arturo Toscanini, Woodrow Wilson, Theodore Roosevelt and Caruso himself as "Pagliacci."

JUNE HAVOC, WRITER

NEW YORK (AP)—June Havoc, the actress whose autobiography "Early Havoc" was a best-seller, has turned now to playwriting.

NINE O'CLOCK PAYS OFF

NEW YORK (AP)—Alexander H. Cohen's Nine O'Clock Theater project is still paying off backers. Additional profits of $12,500 have recently been distributed on "At the Drop of a Hat" and "An Evening with Mike Nichols and Elaine May."

The first show, starring Michael Flanders and Donald Swann, has reaped earnings of $60,827 on the Broadway stand two seasons ago and subsequent tour. The Nichols-May revue, which wound up here last July, has earned $81,149.

TEACHERS CAN LEARN

NEW YORK (AP) — Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts is to include a training center for the benefit of arts teachers throughout the country.

William Schuman, president of the project, said the project is designed to attract at least 400 teachers each summer beginning in 1966.

The purpose, he said, is "to raise the level of education for literally millions of students."

As examples of the operating method, Schuman said speech teachers would be able to act in plays under the direction of theater experts. Musicians and dance teachers would work with leaders in their fields.

Palmer Clings To 2-Stroke Lead As Masters Enters Finals

Finsterwald Shoots 65, Gaines 2nd Spot

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Dogged Arnold Palmer clung to his two-stroke lead by firing a 3-under-par 69 Saturday but a stringbean outsider, Dow Finsterwald, moved up as his chief threat with one more round to play in the Masters Golf Tournament.

Palmer's round gave him a three - quarter - point total of 205, matching the 54-hole pace set by Ben Hogan when he established the tournament record of 274 in 1953.

Finsterwald, a 32-year-old tournament tourist from Athens, Ohio, who is called the "bridesmaid" of the circuit, fashioned a brilliant 7-under-par 65 for second place at 207.

This pushed defending champion Gary Player of South Africa back into third place with 209 after a third round 71 and broke up the prospect of another tense Palmer-Player down-to-the-wire duel such as characterized the tournament last year.

In fourth place, apparently the only other man solidly in the title picture, was Gene Littler, the reticent U.S. Open champion, who also had a 71 for 210.

A pair of featerhweights—Gardner Dickinson Jr., 127 pounds, and Jerry Barber, the 135-pound PGA champion—were tied at 213. Dickinson shot an even par 72. Barber came in with a third round 69.

A crowd of between 40,000 and 50,000, said to be the largest ever, swarmed over Augusta National's picturesque acres, straining at the ropes, stampeding over the fairways and straining for an occasional sight of the stars.

The setting was so tense that one spectator collapsed near the green just as Palmer was preparing to putt on the third hole. Play was suspended for about 15 minutes until he could be removed by an ambulance.

It was on this hole that Palmer blew the championship last year, taking a double bogey 6 when a par 4 would have beaten out Player, the first foreigner to take the crown.

Finsterwald's sparkling 65, which included seven birdies and not a single bogey, was the second best ever recorded over the tough but picturesque Augusta course, which plays a par 36-36—72.

Lloyd Mangrum holds the course record for one round—a 64 he shot back in 1940. The last player to record a 65 was Cary Middlecoff, who did it in 1955 when he won the crown.

Palmer, who won the title in 1958 and 1960 and who missed in 1959 and 1961 by the combined total of only three strokes, again made Augusta's sprawling acres look like "Palmer's plantation."

After driving into the rough on the first two holes, taking a bogey 6 on the first and turning in 37, the Pennsylvanian tightened his belt and grimly got down to his birdie business on the incoming nine.

He birdied four of the last nine holes. He rolled in a putt from 30 feet on the 10th, sent his tee shot to within 3 feet of the cup on the short 12th, daringly reached the green in two on the water hole, par 5 15th and then climaxed his day with another great birdie at the 18th.

Finsterwald, 32, a tournament regular who has become known as the 'bridesmaid" of the circuit because of his high money finishes but few championships, turned in a methodical round.

He made two spectacular recovery shots. The first came on the par 5, 475-yard 13th where, after driving into the ditch, he played a safe out and then sent his approach to within 18 inches of the pin. On the final hole, with Palmer playing just beind him and the cheers of Palmer's gallery ringing in his ears, Finsterwald drove into the woods on the right. Then he pitched out over a dogwood tree, laid his third shot 8 feet from the pin and sank for his par 4.

The slender, 155-pound native of Athens, Ohio, rammed home a 50-foot putt on the fourth hole and a 30-footer on the 17th. His other birds—on the second, ninth and 10th—cam on putts ranging from 3 to 10 feet.

Twins Help Indians To Six First Places

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (Special) — Twin stars Don and Dave Styron paced Northeast State to the university division championship of the Memphis Relays in a meet marked by broken records here yesterday.

The Styrons won or helped win all five events in which they were entered as the Tribesmen took six first to win the title.

A surprising Louisiana Tech aggregation placed first in two events and finished strongly in several others to place second over a number of major college outfits.

Mississippi State was third.

Others in order of finish were the University of Arkansas with 35, Alabama and Northwestern Louisiana 27, Ole Miss 22, Murray State (Kentucky) 13, Southeastern Louisiana 8½ and Memphis State 6.

A total of twenty relay records fell in the three divisions, despite a track which was soggy from recent rains and torn up by repeated running.

New records were set in 10 of 13 university division events.

The Bulldogs' other first came on a 4:25 mile run by Frank Bright.

The Styrons entered one individual event apiece and ran legs in the mile relay, spring medley and 440-relay.

Dave Styron established a new standard in the 120-high hurdles with a 14.6 clocking. He was hard pressed by Alabama's Charles Mosley on a track admittedly poor for hurdling.

Dave won the century in 9.9.

Northeast's Tommy Edmondson wound up in a three-way tie with Brendt Womack of Northwestern and Arkansas' Jerry Huges in the pole vault to share new record. All three vaulted 13-6 to topple the 13 foot mark set by Tech's Bog Groce last year.

The Indian mile relay team of Randal Walker, John Baker and the Styrons smashed Northeast's old record of 3:16.7 by touring the course in 3:15.

And the sprint medley combine of Walker, Don Elland and the Styrons from Northeast toppled the schools' old mark, shaving the standard from 3:31.4 to 3:27.4.

In the 440-relay, Northeast's Charles McDonald, Jay Goldsmith and Don and Dave Styron set a new record of 41.5. Ole Miss held the old mark of 42.5.

The University of Alabama set new records in the discus and broad jump, and placed first in the shot put.

Dave Schmidet gave Murray and new high jump mark with a 6-2½ leap and Mississippi State chalked up records in the Distance Medley and 880-relay, plus a first in the two-mile relay.

Pender Says Fullmer Man I Want Next

By BOB SALMON

BOSTON (AP)—"The next guy I want is Fullmer," said former fireman Paul Pender Saturday night after regaining his disputed middleweight championship from Britain's Terry Downes.

"That's the money fight. There's nothing definite on it right now. But he seems willing and I'm more than willing."

"Fight Downes again in England?" Paul asked in answer to a question from a British writer. "What's the point of it. I couldn't prove anything more than I just proved. I've beaten him two out of three. That's enough proving."

The 31-year-old Pender said he changed his attack to cope with Downes' style. The result was that the Brookline, Mass., resident—once on the town's fire department—landed more solid rights than he had in half a dozen previous fights.

"He was looking to hit me with that low left hook," said Pender. "So I changed to leading with my right and follow up with the left hook. Then, switching around. He kept dropping his left hand every time he threw a power punch—sort of giving it away."

Downes was bitter than the decision wasn't closer.

"Pender spent 15 rounds holding me," said Terry, "and he never was penalized. I though the fight was closer than it was scored.

Downes was warned by Referee Jim McCarron four or five times about butting as he clinched with Pender.

"Yes, he hurt me a couple of times," conceded Downes. "But I hurt him a few times too. And I forced the fight. Pender fought in flashes. The referee wouldn't let me fight inside. He kept breaking up the pair of us when I got inside."

Pender was philosophical about Downes' butting.

Local, Area Teams Enter Neville Meet

Several local and area high school track teams are scheduled to compete in the 3rd Annual Neville Relays Friday on the Neville field.

Field events of the relays are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. with running events getting underway 30 minutes later.

Those teams entered in this year's event included: West Monroe, Ouachita, Ruston, Jonesboro, Haynesville, Natchitoches, Homer, Winnfield and host Neville.

Neville's thinclads racked up a first place victory in the Jonesboro Relays Saturday, while West Monroe has been registering anywhere from first to fourth in competition this season.

Reggie Day of Homer is expected to participate in the 100 and 220 run yard dash Friday. He has run the century in 9.7 this season, and the 220 in 21.4.

Another speedster competing in the 100 and 220 will be Neville's Don Brant while West Monroe's Charles Van Zile will run the 100 and the 440 and 880 relays.

Neville's 440 relay team racked up a 44.0 time in the Jonesboro Relays Saturday. West Monroe Homer, Natchitoches and Ruston also have fielded strong relay teams this season.

Twelve of 17 of Neville's track records have been surpassed by teams who will participate in the relays.

In the field events, Natchitoches' hop-step and jumper, Joe Beasley, who has bounded over 43 feet this season, is expected to be a tough competitor while Mike Shepard of West Monroe and John Segars, of Neville and Robert Marrus of Jonesboro are expected to offer competition in the shot put.

Fair Park Takes Bernice Bears 5-0 Saturday

BERNICE (Special) — Fair Park of Shreveport downed Bernice High School baseball squad here yesterday 5-0 to give pitcher Ronnie Fitzgerald his first loss of the season.

Fitzgerald and Ricky Albritton, who relieved him in the fifth, combined to strike out five Indains.

Fair Park tallied their five runs on five hits and no errors while Bernice got three hits and made five miscues during the afternoon.

Each team failed to make an impression batting rally in any of the seven innings but managed to score two runs in the fourth and one each in the second, fifth and sixth for their total.

Indian pitcher, Buddy Chester went all the way, striking out 10 opponents and giving up three hits.

Nicholls Tops

Grambling Star Signed To Play With St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo (Special)—All-American Charles Hardnett, a 6-8 225 - pounder who was the third choice of the St. Louis Hawks in the recent NBA draft, has agreed to terms for the coming season, owner Ben Kerner announced.

The 21-year-old Grambling College forward signed for a "substantial bonus" and joins the team's first two draft selections, Zelmo Beaty and Bob Duffy, who signed last week.

The speedy corner man sports an imposing record that includes a per-game scoring mark of 18.9 through 121 games.

Hardnett scored 2,289 points during his career including 418 as a freshman, 450 as a sophomore, 805 as a junior and 616 during the past season when he averaged 23.8 points for 26 efforts.

A good rebounder, he grabbed off 511 rebounds as a senior for a 19.5 mark and has a career total of 2,038 retrieves for a per-game average of 16.8.

He had a field goal percentage of .596 and averaged .543 for four years of varsity play.

Grambling finished second to Prairie View during the 1961-62 campaign, but last year Hardnett led his school to the NAIA title in Kansas City where he was chosen the tourney's MVP, an award accorded Beaty this year. forts.

A native of Atalanta, Ga., Hardnett played high school ball at Carver High, earning all - city, all-state and all-American honors.

"He's got as good a variety of shots as any college player in the country," the Hawk's Harry Gallatin said of his new acquisition.

"Besides his shooting, he can play defense and Charley's a fine rebounder. We need help off the boards — I can't stress that too much — and I fell Hardnett can do the job for us," he explained.

Tech Visits Monroe For Indian Match

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech will likely send aces Sonny Parker and George Woodson to the mound Monday in a twinbill in Monroe with Northeast State.

The Techmen are 2-2 in the Gulf States Conference race, and 7-3 for the full campaign.

Parker, the pint-sized southpaw now in his fourth year, has not given up an earned run in 16 innings while allowing five hits and whiffing 16.

Woodson (1-1) has permitted two earned runs in 16 innings and lost a heart-breaker to McNeese 3-2 despite allowing only four hits and striking out 12.

Tech Coach Berry Hinton will have Newell Blume (2-0), who has not been scored on in 13 innings, available for relief. Charlie Fuller, the league's outstanding player a year ago with a 6-0 mark, is 1-1 while allowing one earned run in seven innings, Fuller, however, has been ill and has missed his turn on the hill.

The Bulldogs have been a weak hitting outfit so far, with Jim Opel the top batsman at .423 and Max Lewis next with .409.

REGAINS SHARE OF TITLE

Paul Pender Wins Unanimous Choice

BOSTON (AP) — America's Paul Pender, the old guy who was supposed to fade in the late rounds, came in like a whirlwind Saturday night to butcher and be wilder defender Terry Downes of England and regain a share of the world middleweight title. The 15-round decision was unanimous.

Off to a slow start, the 31-year-old Pender rallied like a youngster to chop up the game 25-year-old Cockney and win back the piece of the title he lost to Downes in London last July 11.

The three officials voted for Pender by the following scores on the 10-point must system: Referee Jimmy McCarron 144-143; Judge Joe Blumsack 145-143 and Judge Harry French 146-141.

Each weighed 159.

There were no knockdowns in the rough, bloody brawl although each was tumbled once to the canvas by the pushing of his rival.

Pender looked scared and weak through the first three rounds as the strong, aggressive Londoner bulled him around the ring and belted him with some thumping rights and lefts to the head and body.

But in the fourth, the veteran boxing master began to show some life and in the sixth he took charge with his sharp combination punches to the head.

The former fireman from Brookline, Mass., who had trouble in the past with a brittle right hand, probably never used his right as much in recent years as he did Saturday night.

He caught the incoming Briton with right hand leads and followed with fast lefts. He belted Terry with clusters of two, three, four and five punches at a clip as the younger man did the fading.

Pender was cut over the left eye in the sixth round and again over the same orb in the ninth. The cuts apparently didn't bother him. Downes' nose cut apparently didn't handicap him too much either.

Downes was warned at least three times by Referee McCarron for butting and twice for heeling (rubbing the laces of his gloves against Pender's face).

Pender was warned several times for holding.

Although he had taken a good beating in the closing rounds, the game Briton brought applause from the crowd of 7,715 in the Garden by coming to Pender in the last round.

The fight grosse $66,664. It was nationally televised.

"He was looking to hit me with a low left hook so I changed my attack," said Pender. "I was leading with my right more following up with my left. He kept dropping his left hand on every power punch, kind of giving it away."

Palmer Clings To 2-Stroke Lead As Masters Enters Finals

Finsterwald Shoots 65, Gaines 2nd Spot

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Dogged Arnold Palmer clung to his two-stroke lead by firing a 3-under-par 69 Saturday but a stringbean outsider, Dow Finsterwald, moved up as his chief threat with one more round to play in the Masters Golf Tournament.

Palmer's round gave him a three - quarter - point total of 205, matching the 54-hole pace set by Ben Hogan when he established the tournament record of 274 in 1953.

Finsterwald, a 32-year-old tournament tourist from Athens, Ohio, who is called the "bridesmaid" of the circuit, fashioned a brilliant 7-under-par 65 for second place at 207.

This pushed defending champion Gary Player of South Africa back into third place with 209 after a third round 71 and broke up the prospect of another tense Palmer-Player down-to-the-wire duel such as characterized the tournament last year.

In fourth place, apparently the only other man solidly in the title picture, was Gene Littler, the reticent U.S. Open champion, who also had a 71 for 210.

A pair of featherweights—Gardner Dickinson Jr., 127 pounds, and Jerry Barber, the 135-pound PGA champion—were tied at 213. Dickinson shot an even par 72. Barber came in with a third round 69.

A crowd of between 40,000 and 50,000, said to be the largest ever, swarmed over Augusta National's picturesque acres, straining at the ropes, stampeding over the fairways and straining for an occasional sight of the stars.

The setting was so tense that one spectator collapsed near the green just as Palmer was preparing to putt on the third hole. Play was suspended for about 15 minutes until he could be removed by an ambulance.

It was on this hole that Palmer blew the championship last year, taking a double bogey 6 when a par 4 would have beaten out Player, the first foreigner to take the crown.

Finsterwald's sparkling 65, which included seven birdies and not a single bogey, was the second best ever recorded over the tough but picturesque Augusta course, which plays a par 36-36—72.

Lloyd Mangrum holds the course record for one round—a 64 he shot back in 1940. The last player to record a 65 was Cary Middlecoff, who did it in 1955 when he won the crown.

Palmer, who won the title in 1958 and 1960 and who missed in 1959 and 1961 by the combined total of only three strokes, again made Augusta's sprawling acres look like "Palmer's plantation."

After driving into the rough on the first two holes, taking a bogey 6 on the first and turning in 37, the Pennsylvanian tightened his belt and grimly got down to his birdie business on the incoming nine.

He birdied four of the last nine holes. He rolled in a putt from 30 feet on the 10th, sent his tee shot to within 3 feet of the cup on the short 12th, daringly reached the green in two on the water hole, par 5 15th and then climaxed his day with another great birdie at the 18th.

Finsterwald, 32, a tournament regular who has become known as the 'bridesmaid" of the circuit because of his high money finishes but few championships, turned in a methodical round.

He made two spectacular recovery shots. The first came on the par 5, 475-yard 13th where, after driving into the ditch, he played a safe out and then sent his approach to within 18 inches of the pin. On the final hole, with Palmer playing just beind him and the cheers of Palmer's gallery ringing in his ears, Finsterwald drove into the woods on the right. Then he pitched out over a dogwood tree, laid his third shot 8 feet from the pin and sank for his par 4.

The slender, 155-pound native of Athens, Ohio, rammed home a 50-foot putt on the fourth hole and a 30-footer on the 17th. His other birds—on the second, ninth and 10th—cam on putts ranging from 3 to 10 feet.

Twins Help Indians To Six First Places

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (Special) — Twin stars Don and Dave Styron paced Northeast State to the university division championship of the Memphis Relays in a meet marked by broken records here yesterday.

The Styrons won or helped win all five events in which they were entered as the Tribesmen took six first to win the title.

A surprising Louisiana Tech aggregation placed first in two events and finished strongly in several others to place second over a number of major college outfits.

Mississippi State was third.

Others in order of finish were the University of Arkansas with 35, Alabama and Northwestern Louisiana 27, Ole Miss 22, Murray State (Kentucky) 13, Southeastern Louisiana 6½ and Memphis State 6.

A total of twenty relay records fell in the three divisions, despite a track which was soggy from recent rains and torn up by repeated running.

New records were set in 10 of 13 university division events.

The Bulldogs' other first came on a 4:25 mile run by Frank Bright.

The Styrons entered one individual event apiece and ran legs in the mile relay, spring medley and 440-relay.

Dave Styron established a new standard in the 120-high hurdles with a 14.6 clocking. He was hard pressed by Alabama's Charles Mosley on a track admittedly poor for hurdling.

Dave won the century in 9.9.

Northeast's Tommy Edmondson wound up in a three-way tie with Brendt Womack of Northwestern and Arkansas' Jerry Huges in the pole vault to share new record. All three vaulted 13-6 to topple the 13 foot mark set by Tech's Bog Groce last year.

The Indian mile relay team of Randal Walker, John Baker and the Styrons smashed Northeast's old record of 3:16.7 by touring the course in 3:15.

And the sprint medley combine of Walker, Don Eiland and the Styrons from Northeast toppled the schools' old mark, shaving the standard from 3:31.4 to 3:27.4.

In the 440-relay, Northeast's Charles McDonald, Jay Goldsmith and Don and Dave Styron set a new record of 41.5. Ole Miss held the old mark of 42.5.

The University of Alabama set new records in the discus and broad jump, and placed first in the shot put.

Dave Schmidet gave Murray and new high jump mark with a 6-2½ leap and Mississippi State chalked up records in the Distance Medley and 880-relay, plus a first in the two-mile relay.

REMEMBERS PENALTY

Finsterwald In Best Position Since 1960

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Dow Finsterwald is in the best position for a shot at the Master's crown since 1960 when a two stroke penalty knocked him out of contention.

That penalty was fresh in Finsterwald's mine Saturday as he walked off the 18th green after firing a sizzling 7 - under - par 65, best round of the 3-day tournament.

In 1960, Finsterwald took a practice putt after holding out one of the greens on the first round. He didn't realize it was against the rules until the following day and turned himself in. He was given a two-stroke penalty and wound up in the tournament with a 284, two strokes back of the winner, Arnold Palmer.

Finsterwald goes into Sunday's showdown two strokes behind Palmer and two strokes ahead of the third place man, Gary Player.

"I had a caddie who picked the right clubs every time." Finsterwald said laughlingly. "But my putting was the key today. I had 12 one-putt greens and used only 25 all day."

This was Finsterwald's best round in a Masters. His best previous effort was a 68 in 1959.

"I haven't been putting too well," Finsterwald said.

Finsterwald had no three-putt greens, was in one trap and in the rough twice. He hit 13 greens in regulation.

Finsterwald has won $5,644 in 11 tournaments this year. His last victory came more than two years ago when he won the New Orleans Open. He once had an in-the-money streak of 72 tournaments, ending at the 1958 Baton Rouge Open.

Finsterwald said he couldn't held but be aware of the progress of Palmer, who was playing right behind him.

"They had those signboards where you couldn't miss than and you'd be goofy if you weren't watching them," he said.

Local, Area Teams Enter Neville Meet

Several local and area high school track teams are scheduled to compete in the 3rd Annual Neville Relays Friday on the Neville field.

Field events of the relays are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. with running events getting underway 30 minutes later.

Those teams entered in this year's event included: West Monroe, Ouachita, Ruston, Jonesboro, Haynesville, Natchitoches, Homer, Winnfield and host Neville.

Neville's thinclads racked up a first place victory in the Jonesboro Relays Saturday, while West Monroe has been registering anywhere from first to fourth in competition this season.

Reggie Day of Homer is expected to participate in the 100 and 220 run yard dash Friday. He has run the century in 9.7 this season, and the 220 in 21.4.

Another speedster competing in the 100 and 220 will be Neville's Don Brant while West Monroe's Charles Van Zile will run the 100 and the 440 and 880 relays.

Neville's 440 relay team racked up a 44.0 time in the Jonesboro Relays Saturday. West Monroe Homer, Natchitoches and Ruston also have fielded strong relay teams this season.

Twelve of 17 of Neville's track records have been surpassed by teams who will participate in the relays.

In the field events, Natchitoches' hop-step and jumper, Joe Beasley, who has bounded over 43 feet this season, is expected to be a tough competitor while Mike Shepard of West Monroe and John Segars, of Neville and Robert Marrus of Jonesboro are expected to offer competition in the shot put.

Fair Park Takes Bernice Bears 5-0 Saturday

BERNICE (Special) — Fair Park of Shreveport downed Bernice High School baseball squad here yesterday 5-0 to give pitcher Ronnie Fitzgerald his first loss of the season.

Fitzgerald and Ricky Albritton, who relieved him in the fifth, combined to strike out five Indains.

Fair Park tallied their five runs on five hits and no errors while Bernice got three hits and made five miscues during the afternoon.

Each team failed to make an impression batting rally in any of the seven innings but managed to score two runs in the fourth and one each in the second, fifth and sixth for their total.

Indian pitcher, Buddy Chester went all the way, striking out 10 opponents and giving up three hits.

Nicholls Tops

In the opener, Ronnie Richard hurled his second victory without a defeat. Richard, Harold McGovern, Harold Leray and Roger Summers each had two hits for Nicholls.

Grambling Star Signed To Play With St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo (Special)—All-American Charles Hardnett, a 6-8 225 - pounder who was the third choice of the St. Louis Hawks in the recent NBA draft, has agreed to terms for the coming season, owner Ben Kerner announced.

The 21-year-old Grambling College forward signed for a "substantial bonus" and joins the team's first two draft selections, Zelmo Beaty and Bob Duffy, who signed last week.

The speedy corner man sports an imposing record that includes a per-game scoring mark of 18.9 through 121 games.

Hardnett scored 2,289 points during his career including 418 as a freshman, 450 as a sophomore, 805 as a junior and 616 during the past season when he averaged 23.8 points for 26 efforts.

A good rebounder, he grabbed off 511 rebounds as a senior for a 19.5 mark and has a career total of 2,038 retrieves for a per-game average of 16.8.

He had a field goal percentage of .596 and averaged .543 for four years of varsity play.

Grambling finished second to Prairie View during the 1961-62 campaign, but last year Hardnett led his school to the NAIA title in Kansas City where he was chosen the tourney's MVP, an award accorded Beaty this year. forts.

A native of Atalanta, Ga., Hardnett played high school ball at Carver High, earning all - city, all-state and all-American honors.

"He's got as good a variety of shots as any college player in the country," the Hawk's Harry Gallatin said of his new acquisition.

"Besides his shooting, he can play defense and Charley's a fine rebounder. We need help off the boards — I can't stress that too much — and I fell Hardnett can do the job for us," he explained.

Pender Says Fullmer Man I Want Next

By BOB SALMON

BOSTON (AP)—"The next guy I want is Fullmer," said former fireman Paul Pender Saturday night after regaining his disputed middleweight championship from Britain's Terry Downes.

"That's the money fight. There's nothing definite on it right now. But he seems willing and I'm more than willing."

"Fight Downes again in England?" Paul asked in answer to a question from a British writer. "What's the point of it. I couldn't prove anything more than I just proved. I've beaten him two out of three. That's enough proving."

The 31-year-old Pender said he changed his attack to cope with Downes' style. The result was that the Brookline, Mass., resident—once on the town's fire department—landed more solid rights than he had in half a dozen previous fights.

"He was looking to hit me with that low left hook," said Pender. "So I changed to leading with my right and follow up with the left hook. Then, switching around. He kept dropping his left hand every time he threw a power punch—sort of giving it away."

Downes was bitter than the decision wasn't closer.

"Pender spent 15 rounds holding me," said Terry, "and he never was penalized. I though the fight was closer than it was scored.

Downes was warned by Referee Jim McCarron four or five times about butting as he clinched with Pender.

"Yes, he hurt me a couple of times," conceded Downes. "But I hurt him a few times too. And I forced the fight. Pender fought in flashes. The referee wouldn't let me fight inside. He kept breaking up the pair of us when I got inside."

Pender was philosophical about Downes' butting.

REGAINS SHARE OF TITLE

Paul Pender Wins Unanimous Choice

BOSTON (AP) — America's Paul Pender, the old guy who was supposed to fade in the late rounds, came in like a whirlwind Saturday night to butcher and bewilder defender Terry Downes of England and regain a share of the world middleweight title. The 15-round decision was unanimous.

Off to a slow start, the 31-year-old Pender rallied like a youngster to chop up the game 25-year-old Cockney and win back the piece of the title he lost to Downes in London last July 11.

The three officials voted for Pender by the following scores on the 10-point must system: Referee Jimmy McCarron 144-143; Judge Joe Blumsack 145-143 and Judge Harry French 146-141.

Each weighed 159.

There were no knockdowns in the rough, bloody brawl although each was tumbled once to the canvas by the pushing of his rival.

Pender looked scared and weak through the first three rounds as the strong, aggressive Londoner bulled him around the ring and belted him with some thumping rights and lefts to the head and body.

But in the fourth, the veteran boxing master began to show some life and in the sixth he took charge with his sharp combination punches to the head.

The former fireman from Brookline, Mass., who had trouble in the past with a brittle right hand, probably never used his right as much in recent years as he did Saturday night.

He caught the incoming Briton with right hand leads and followed with fast lefts. He belted Terry with clusters of two, three, four and five punches at a clip as the younger man did the fading.

Pender was cut over the left eye in the sixth round and again over the same orb in the ninth. The cuts apparently didn't bother him. Downes' nose cut apparently didn't handicap him too much, either.

Downes was warned at least three times by Referee McCarron for butting and twice for heeling (rubbing the laces of his gloves against Pender's face).

Pender was warned several times for holding.

Although he had taken a good beating in the closing rounds, the game Briton brought applause from the crowd of 7,715 in the Garden by coming to Pender in the last round.

The fight grosse $66,664. It was nationally televised.

"He was looking to hit me with a low left hook so I changed my attack," said Pender. "I was leading with my right more following up with my left. He kept dropping his left hand on every power punch, kind of giving it away."

Tech Visits Monroe For Indian Match

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech will likely send aces Sonny Parker and George Woodson to the mound Monday in a twinbill in Monroe with Northeast State.

The Techmen are 2-2 in the Gulf States Conference race, and 7-3 for the full campaign.

Parker, the pint-sized southpaw now in his fourth year, has not given up an earned run in 16 innings while allowing five hits and whiffing 16.

Woodson (1-1) has permitted two earned runs in 16 innings and lost a heart-breaker to McNeese 3-2 despite allowing only four hits and striking out 12.

Tech Coach Berry Hinton will have Newell Blume (2-0), who has not been scored on in 13 innings, available for relief. Charlie Fuller, the league's outstanding player a year ago with a 6-0 mark, is 1-1 while allowing one earned run in seven innings, Fuller, however, has been ill and has missed his turn on the hill.

The Bulldogs have been a weak hitting outfit so far, with Jim Opel the top batsman at .423 and Max Lewis next with .409.

Tulane Loses 2 To Mississippi In Doubleheader

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mississippi swept a double-header from Tulane, 5-2 in 10 innings and 4-0, Saturday to stay in contention for the western division title in the Southeastern Conference.

In the opener, Ole Miss pitcher Bob Siedell singled home the tying run in the top of the seventh to send the game into overtime.

In the 10th, Siedell was safe on an error, Donnie Kessinger singled and George Frank doubled Siedell home. Doug Elmore then singled to send Kessinger and Frank across the plate.

SCORE TWO IN 6TH

Northeast Rally Clips McNeese Nine By 6-5

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Northeast State rallied for two runs in the sixth inning to overcome a short-lived McNeese State lead and take a 6-5 Gulf States Conference baseball win over the Cowboys in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader here yesterday afternoon.

The nightcap was rained out in the top of the fifth with the score tied 3-3.

Tribesman Charley Dykes scored the winning run from third base on a bad throw to first on Dewey Smith's grounder.

The same play scored first baseman Don Boniol from second. And Boniol reached first when McNeese third baseman Mike Giggar bobbled his grounder and threw high to first.

OVERCOME LEAD

McNeese overcame a 4-0 Northeast lead and went in front temporarily on a five-run barrage in the top of the sixth. This was the only Cowboy scoring of the game.

McNeese errors, mostly by a leaky infield, contributed greatly to the Indian cause. Six Cowpoke miscues, including three by Giggar, accounted for four unearned runs.

Northeast built up a 4-0 lead after two frames, scoring a pair of runs in both of the first two innings.

Freshman hurler Ed Quimby, the last of three Northeast pitchers, took credit for the win. Quimby, a former Rayville star, came on with two away in the sixth, to stifle McNeese's big rally and get the Tribe out of trouble.

Quimby retired the side and, added by the second of two Indian double plays, set the Pokes down in the seventh.

FIRST VICTORY

It was Quimby's first decision of the campaign.

The big splurge by McNeese in the sixth spelled finis to five and a third innings of work by starter Bob Rachal. His relief, leftie Jerry Godwin, lasted long enough to put out one man before giving way to Quimby.

Bob Kazmar, who started for McNeese and went all the way, took the loss, his third this year without a victory.

The tall right hander may have deserved a better fate. He fanned three, walked three and allowed only four safeties.

Rachel was tagged for three hits and four runs, while Godwin gave up a run and a hit.

The Tribe jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning of the second game, scoring Eddie McGowan on Bob Groves single, then Groves and Johnny Pace on a blooper by Bonial over the third baseman's head.

TIE SCORE

But McNeese came back to knot the score in the third. Shortstop Dickie Carr got a Texas Leaguer into right field and Barney Bridges lofted a two-run home run into right center off Godwin, who came back to start the second game.

Catcher Bob Gilmore doubled to center and tallied when Dykes dropped a short toss from shortstop Phil Petras at third base.

Godwin, though allowing three base blows in the third, started the game well, striking out five men in the first two frames.

Northeast now has a 5-3 season record. McNeese is 2-6.

The victory gave Northeast a 2-1 conference record and third place in the loop.

Southwestern took over second by sweeping a home doubleheader with Northwestern, 3-0 and 9-7. The second game lasted 12 innings.

This gives the Bulldogs a 3-1 GSC mark.

Yesterday's game left McNeese tied for last place with Northwestern. Both have 1-4 records.

The rained-out nightcap does not count in GSC standings in any way and will not be made up.

SEVEN EVENTS SLATED

Tribe Athletes Set For Busiest Week

Northeast athletes begin their busiest week of the year Monday with seven sports events on tap, the first five of them scheduled for Monroe.

Indian teams will be in action Monday through Saturday with a crucial Gulf States Conference baseball doubleheader between Northeast and defending champion Louisiana Tech starting things off at 1:30 Monday afternoon on the Ouachita High diamond.

Louisiana Tech invades again Tuesday when its tennis team meets the Tribe netters at 1:30 p.m. on the Recreation Department courts in Forsythe Park and off Loop Road.

Coach Bob Groseclose's undefeated track team takes over Wednesday with its final home meet of the season, a triangular affair involving the Indians, Northwestern and Southeastern. The meet will get underway at 7 o'clock Wednesday night in Brown Stadium.

Thursday Jim Coats' tennis players are in action again, this time against Southwestern, which blanked the Tribe, 7-0, in the opening match of the season in Lafayette.

Mississippi Southern meets the Northeast golf team Friday afternoon on the Bayou DeSiard Country Club course. The match begins at 12:30.

The track and baseball teams are scheduled for competition Saturday, both out of town. George Luffey's nine will meet Southeastern at Hammond in the GSC twin bill while the Tribe trackmen face a strong field in the big Southwestern Relays in Lafayette.

McGuffee Team Takes Tourney

HOLLY RIDGE (Special)—McGuffee Construction Company won the Holly Ridge Independent basketball tournament here Saturday night with L. V. Norris leading the way scoring 24 points to lead his team into the finals, then shooting 26 points to down the Northeast Independents 84-68 for the title.

NLSC'S EASTER MEET

Baseball Tourney To Start April 19

Northeast State's third annual Easter Baseball Tournament opens April 19 with a different format and outstanding teams from the Southwest and Gulf States conferences.

Arkansas and Baylor of the Southwest and Northwestern and host Northeast of the Gulf States Conference will participate in the tournament, one of the nation's top college baseball events.

This year's tournament departs from past procedure in two departments. Instead of playing a set schedule throughout the tourney, as was the setup in the first two tournaments, teams will be paired according to record on the meet's final day, April 21. The two clubs with the poorest tournament records will meet in a consolation game at 1:30 and the winningest tourney teams play for the championship at 3:30.

All tournament games will be played on one diamond, the Ouachita High diamond, this year. In the past, games were played on two or three diamonds in the Twin Cities.

Games this year will be seven-inning affairs as usual.

The Easter Tournament was inaugurated in 1959. There was no tournament in 1961 because of rain.

Northeast and Mississippi State tied for the championship with 4-2 records in the 1959 meet, a four-team affair. Mississippi State again shared the crown in 1960, this time with LSU. Six teams played in the 1960 tournament.

During the first two days of this year's tournament, each team will play two other teams once and one opponent twice. Games will be played at 9:00 and 11:00 each morning and at 2:00 and 4:00 each afternoon Thursday and Friday, April 19 and 20.

Admission for each morning and afternoon double-header will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students. Northeast students will be admitted upon presentation of school ID cards.

The tournament schedule (home team listed first):

April 19 — Arkansas vs. Baylor (9:00); Northeast vs. Northwestern (11:00); Arkansas vs. Northeast (2:00); Baylor vs. Northwestern (4:00).

April 20 — Arkansas vs. Northwestern (9:00); Baylor vs. Northeast (11:00); Arkansas vs. Northeast (2:00); Baylor vs. Northwestern (4:00).

April 21 — Consolation Final (1:30); Championship Final (3:30) Home teams to be decided by flip of coin.

NBA PLAYOFF FINALS

Cousy, Jones Boys Spark Celtics To 122-108 Victory

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Old pro Bob Cousy and the Jones boys brought tired Boston to life for a 122-108 victory over Los Angeles in the opener of the playoff finals Saturday.

The Boston back court men sent the defenders off to a 1-0 edge in the best-of-7 National Basketball Association series which continues here Sunday.

Playing with the master's touch and the abandon of a rookie, Cousy, along with K. C. Jones, sparked a dead-looking club in the early minutes to a fast breaking winner.

Sam Jones, whose shot beat Philadelphia in the Eastern Division final Thursday night, took charge of the Boston scoring with 34 points.

From an early nine-point deficit, Boston moved to a 60-52 halftime lead, then put the verdict out of reach by outscoring the Lakers 35-22 in the third quarter.

Pvt. Elgin Baylor, flown in on leave from Ft. Lewis, Wash., led Los Angeles with 38 points.

Boston stars were numerous as Bill Russell did his usual defensive gem at center and muscleman Jim Loscutoff enjoyed a strong scoring effort. But none was more appreciated by the 7,467 Boston Garden fans and the national television audience than crippled Frank Ramsey.

When the Lakers made one final bid to narrow the Celtics margin late in the third quarter, Ramsey hobbled on a game leg to six fast points and a standing ovation.

The Celtics, looking as if they had their best basketball drained by the Philadelphia series, were trailing 24-15 in the opening period when Ramsey scored a three-pointer. Cousy either scored or assisted in the remaining 11 points for Boston in the quarter.

The game remained tight until late in the second quarter when Cousy fed Loscutoff a sleight-of-hand pass and scored two long set shots tobegin the drive toward victory.

In that same second stanza, pesky K. C. Jones scored six points, intercepted several passes and assisted two more buckets while Russell and Loscutoff contributed seven points each.

K. C. Jones continued to play although he suffered a broken nose in a collision with a Jim Krebs elbow in the second quarter.

FORMULA FOR DISASTER

Do you know the formula for disaster? It's simple. Just add a careless spark to dry woods in the open air. Nature provides the fuel and the air, but, in 9 out of 10 cases, man provides the spark.

So, when the woods are hot and dry, be extra careful, won't you? That little spark from your campfire, your cigarette, or your trash fire can loose a raging demon, that charges through the forest destroying as it goes. Don't you let disaster strike!

SEVEN EVENTS SLATED

Tribe Athletes Set For Busiest Week

Northeast athletes begin their busiest week of the year Monday with seven sports events on tap, the first five of them scheduled for Monroe.

Indian teams will be in action Monday through Saturday with a crucial Gulf States Conference baseball doubleheader between Northeast and defending champion Louisiana Tech starting things off at 1:30 Monday afternoon on the Ouachita High diamond.

Louisiana Tech invades again Tuesday when its tennis team meets the Tribe netters at 1:30 p.m. on the Recreation Department courts in Forsythe Park and off Loop Road.

Coach Bob Groseclose's undefeated track team takes over Wednesday with its final home meet of the season, a triangular affair involving the Indians, Northwestern and Southeastern. The meet will get underway at 7 o'clock Wednesday night in Brown Stadium.

Thursday Jim Coats' tennis players are in action again, this time against Southwestern, which blanked the Tribe, 7-0, in the opening match of the season in Lafayette.

Mississippi Southern meets the Northeast golf team Friday afternoon on the Bayou DeSiard Country Club course. The match begins at 12:30.

The track and baseball teams are scheduled for competition Saturday, both out of town. George Luffey's nine will meet Southeastern at Hammond in the GSC twin bill while the Tribe trackmen face a strong field in the big Southwestern Relays in Lafayette.

McGuffee Team Takes Tourney

HOLLY RIDGE (Special)—McGuffee Construction Company won the Holly Ridge Independent basketball tournament here Saturday night with L. V. Norris leading the way scoring 24 points to lead his team into the finals, then shooting 26 points to down the Northeast Independents 84-68 for the title.

McGuffee Construction downed Head Construction Company to enter the finals last night. The Northeast Independents entered the finals after taking the Holly Ridge Independents 59-52 in the first game of the semi-finals.

NLSC'S EASTER MEET

Baseball Tourney To Start April 19

Northeast State's third annual Easter Baseball Tournament opens April 19 with a different format and outstanding teams from the Southwest and Gulf States conferences.

Arkansas and Baylor of the Southwest and Northwestern and host Northeast of the Gulf States Conference will participate in the tournament, one of the nation's top college baseball events.

This year's tournament departs from past procedure in two departments. Instead of playing a set schedule throughout the tourney, as was the setup in the first two tournaments, teams will be paired according to record on the meet's final day, April 21. The two clubs with the poorest tournament records will meet in a consolation game at 1:30 and the winningest tourney teams play for the championship at 3:30.

All tournament games will be played on one diamond, the Ouachita High diamond, this year. In the past, games were played on two or three diamonds in the Twin Cities.

Games this year will be seven-inning affairs as usual.

The Easter Tournament was inaugurated in 1959. There was no tournament in 1961 because of rain.

Northeast and Mississippi State tied for the championship with 4-2 records in the 1959 meet, a four-team affair. Mississippi State again shared the crown in 1960, this time with LSU. Six teams played in the 1960 tournament.

During the first two days of this year's tournament, each team will play two other teams once and one opponent twice. Games will be played at 9:00 and 11:00 each morning and at 2:00 and 4:00 each afternoon Thursday and Friday, April 19 and 20.

Admission for each morning and afternoon double-header will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students. Northeast students will be admitted upon presentation of school ID cards.

The tournament schedule (home team listed first):

April 19 — Arkansas vs. Baylor (9:00); Northeast vs. Northwestern (11:00); Arkansas vs. Northeast (2:00); Baylor vs. Northwestern (4:00).

April 20 — Arkansas vs. Northwestern (9:00); Baylor vs. Northeast (11:00); Arkansas vs. Northeast (2:00); Baylor vs. Northwestern (4:00).

2 Detroit Lions Sign 1962 Pacts

DETROIT (AP)—Roger Brown and Wayne Walker, two of the Detroit Lions' defensive stalwarts, signed their contracts for the 1962 National Football League season Saturday.

Brown, 298 pounds and 6-foot-5, has played the last two seasons at defensive tackle on what was considered one of the toughest defensive lines in the NFL.

NBA PLAYOFF FINALS

Cousy, Jones Boys Spark Celtics To 122-108 Victory

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Old pro Bob Cousy and the Jones boys brought tired Boston to life for a 122-108 victory over Los Angeles in the opener of the playoff finals Saturday.

The Boston back court men sent the defenders off to a 1-0 edge in the best-of-7 National Basketball Association series which continues here Sunday.

Playing with the master's touch and the abandon of a rookie, Cousy, along with K. C. Jones, sparked a dead-looking club in the early minutes to a fast breaking winner.

Sam Jones, whose shot beat Philadelphia in the Eastern Division final Thursday night, took charge of the Boston scoring with 24 points.

From an early nine-point deficit, Boston moved to a 60-52 halftime lead, then put the verdict out of reach by outscoring the Lakers 35-22 in the third quarter.

Pvt. Elgin Baylor, flown in on leave from Ft. Lewis, Wash., led Los Angeles with 35 points.

Boston stars were numerous as Bill Russell did his usual defensive gem at center and muscleman Jim Loscutoff enjoyed a strong scoring effort. But none was more appreciated by the 7,467 Boston Garden fans and the national television audience than crippled Frank Ramsey.

When the Lakers made one final bid to narrow the Celtics margin late in the third quarter, Ramsey hobbled on a game leg to six fast points and a standing ovation.

The Celtics, looking as if they had their best basketball drained by the Philadelphia series, were trailing 24-15 in the opening period when Ramsey scored a three-pointer. Cousy either scored or assisted in the remaining 11 points for Boston in the quarter.

The game remained tight until late in the second quarter when Cousy fed Loscutoff a sleight-of-hand pass and scored two long set shots tobegin the drive toward victory.

In that same second stanza, pesky K. C. Jones scored six points, intercepted several passes and assisted two more buckets while Russell and Loscutoff contributed seven points each.

Alabama Drops Two SEC Tilts To Mississippi

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Mississippi State took a doubleheader from Alabama Saturday, running its Southeastern Conference baseball record to 5-0.

Paul Gregory's Maroons won a close 3-2 victory in the opener and then came back for an 8-3 win when the second game was called in the sixth inning because of rain.

The score was tied in the first game until the Maroons scored a run in the final frame on two walks and a pinch single by Larry Adams.

The two losses make Alabama's SEC record 1-3. The teams open a two-game series Monday at State College.

FORMULA FOR DISASTER

Do you know the formula for disaster? It's simple. Just add a careless spark to dry woods in the open air. Nature provides the fuel and the air, but, in 9 out of 10 cases, man provides the spark.

So, when the woods are hot and dry, be extra careful, won't you? That little spark from your campfire, your cigarette, or your trash fire can loose a raging demon, that charges through the forest destroying as it goes. Don't you let disaster strike!

Remember—Only you can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Johnson Heads All-GSC Squad

Fant Named Outstanding Loop Coach

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor
(Written for the Louisiana Sportswriters Assn.)

Five different schools landed a player apiece on the first unit of the 1961-62 All-Gulf States Conference basketball team selected by the Louisiana Sportswriters Association from one of the most evenly balanced fields in the league's history.

Unanimous choices were Little All - American Lanny Johnson, off the championship Northeast State squad, and Southwestern's all - round performer Larry Simon.

Others were Truitt Weldon of Northwestern, who missed being a unanimous choice by one vote, Louisiana Tech's Joe Abendroth and Don Troutman of McNeese State.

OUTSTANDING PLAYER

Johnson, who was a second team Associated Press Little American and on the NAIA first team, was named the loop's outstanding player and Indian Coach Lenny Fant, who guided a dark-horse Northeast team to its first GSC basketball championship, won outstanding coach honors.

Second team berths were also well distributed. Making this squad were McNeese's Jimmy Shields, Gene Wright of Northwestern, Southeastern's Al Link, versatile Jimmy Walker of Northeast and freshman Jinks Welch from Southwestern.

Third team members were Robert Cook and Stuart Toms of Northeast, McNeese's Al Nesmith, Jim Cress of Southeastern, plus Tech's Jackie Fair and USL's Deal Church, who tied in the balloting.

GOOD COACHING

Northeast's Fant landed some of the most highly touted prep players in the state a season ago and they gave the Tribe needed reserve strength. But the Indian mentor won the title by molding a championship team from his lightly regarded holdovers. Northeast had a 12-13 overall record the previous campaign and finished fourth in the GSC.

An indication of the league's balance is seen in the fact that Northeast copped the championship by being the only team to win three conference games on the road in addition to the five home GSC tilts. Second place Southwestern, with two away victories, was the only other club to take more than one GSC victory away from home. In addition, two of Northeast's home wins in league play were overtime victories.

Johnson, a 6-1 senior guard from Monroe, repreated as GSC scoring champ, averaging 22.2 points a game in conference play. Johnson, who is also a repeater on the All-GSC team, set a new Northeast career scoring mark of 1,366 points over a four-year period. And he averaged 21.3 points a contest for all games this year.

HAS HIGH TOTAL

Simon, who has led Southwestern scoring for the past two years, averaged 19.1 for all games this winter and has a career total of 1,433 points. A second team All-GSC selection last year, Simon, a 6-3 senior, scored in double figures four straight years. He also averaged 7.2 rebounds a game in GSC play and was the second place club's best man off the backboards.

Northwestern's Weldon averaged 15.5 points a game in conference action this year and upped his career total to 1,289 for four seasons. The 6-6 Mt. Carmel senior collected 299 rebounds this winter to give him a four-year mark of 928 and was also a good defensive player.

Troutman, the McNeese senior forward and post man, scored 322 points in 25 games for a 12.9 average this year and a career mark of 1,055. The 6-2 senior also averaged 6.5 rebounds a game for the campaign.

"Jumping Joe" Abendroth, the only non-senior on the first team turned in a well-rounded performance in making the last place Bulldogs one of the toughest teams in the conference. The slender 6-3 sophomore averaged 14.8 points and 8.0 rebounds a game. An Ex-Byrd star, Abendroth scored 341 points and collected 183 carooms.

SECOND TEAMERS

Shields, the Cowboy's 6-1 junior guard, scored 324 points in 24 games for a 13.5 average. He also was McNeese's team captain.

Wright, a spunky 6-0 guard for Northwestern overcame a mid-season slump to pump in 320 points this year. He has a career total of 1050 and is a fine ball-handler and dribbler.

Al Link of Southeastern, a junior forward topped all Lion shooters with a 13.7 average for both season and conference play. The 6-3 Slidell product has scored 700 points over a three year period. He averaged close to six rebounds per game this year.

Walker was a two-way performer for Northeast. The 6-4 Jonesboro junior averaged 14.5 points and 9.0 rebounds a game in GSC play. A deceptive faker and good defender, Walker was Northeast's number two scorer and rebounder.

Welch, though only a freshman at USL, averaged 13.9 points a game in GSC play and pulled in 6 rebounds per contest. The 6-3 LaGrange High graduate was an all-stater during the 1959-60 season, but was ineligible for prep ball the next year.

THIRD TEAM

Cress, a 6-6 junior center and forward at Southeastern, scored 12.3 points a game and averaged better than 10 rebounds a contest.

Toms was probably the best ball handler in the conference and had no superior as a dribbler. The 5-11 Northeast junior averaged 9.1 points a game and was a hustling defender.

McNeese's Nesmith, a 6-5 senior scored 10.3 points a game and was the Cowboy's leading rebounder with 7.1 a night. He was noted for his defensive play.

Cook, the big boy in the Northeast attack at 6-5, led the Indians' rebounding with 11.3 a game for the season and contributed 9.3 points a contest. The 215 pound bruiser improved markedly as a defender and screener this winter.

Fair, one of the little men who didn't give way to taller freshmen in Tech's youthful machine, scored at an 11.7 point a game clip. The 5-10 senior guard was Tech's playmaker and a tenacious defender.

Church was one of the youngsters that made Southwestern click. The 6-0 sophomore from Ashland, Kentucky scored 331 points from his guard position for a 13.7 season average.

ALSO LISTED

Simon was also listed in voting for outstanding player as were USL's Beryl Shipley and Tech's Cecil Crowly for outstanding coach.

Voting was tabulated on a basis of three points for first team ballots, two for second and one for third. There is no honorable mention team on the sportswriters' club.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS

New Look To Appear Monday In Majors

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two new clubs, four new managers, three new parks and a bumper crop of rookies will be on display Monday and Tuesday when the big league baseball season opens with the customary pomp and ceremony.

The new clubs are the New York Mets and the Houston Colts of the expanded 10-team National League. Although both were constructed hurriedly after the World Series and are thinly manned by fading veterans and borderline prospects, they have made respectable showings in the exhibition games.

Perhaps "new" hardly is the word for grizzled old Casey Stengel, returning from a one-year retirement at the age of 71 to help the Mets challenge his old Yankee club for New York support. Harry Craft, the Houston skipper, also did time previously as a major league manager, serving 2½ terms with Kansas City.

Mel McGaha of Cleveland and Billy Hitchcock of Baltimore, the other new managers, moved up to the big job after serving as coaches.

With new parks at Los Angeles, Washington and Houston, about 340,000 persons are expected to turn out for the 11-game opening program, spread over two days. Of course, the weather man can slice that figure.

Washington will beat the gun in the American League with its Presidential opener Monday against Detroit. Cincinnati, as usual, will open at home a day early in the National League, facing Philadelphia in the other Monday game. Nine games will be played Tuesday.

Among the rookies to attract the most attention in the spring games are John Powell, Baltimore's slugging outfielder, and Ray Washburn, St. Louis' fine young pitcher who is due for an early start.

Tom Tresh appears primed to take over Tony Kubek's job as the New York Yankee shortstop and Julio Gotay is a key new shortstop in the Cardinals' pennant plans.

Minnesota counts on Bernie Allen at second and Rick Rollins at third, a pair who came out of nowhere this spring. Cleveland has Ty Cline and Al Luplow in its outfield and Kansas City has rookies Jose Tartabull and Manny Jimenez in its outfield. Catcher Bob Rodgers is the Los Angeles Angels' new pride and Mike Hershberger probably will open in the Chicago White Sox outfield.

The Chicago Cubs will have newcomers Lou Brock in the outfield and Ken Hubbs at second base. Larry Burright has won the second base job with the Los Angeles Dodgers and Howie Bedell appears to be the successor to Frank Thomas in left field for the Milwaukee Braves.

Washington's $20 million D.C. Stadium, used for football last fall and for exhibition baseball, will be jammed with a sellout crowd of 47,000 when President Kennedy throws out the first ball before the Senators-Tigers game. Bennie Daniels is slated to start for Washington against Don Mossi.

Cincinnati also expects its traditional opening day sellout of 32,000 at Crosley Field for the Reds' bow against the Phillies. Bob Purkey or Joey Jay is due to face the Phils' Art Mahaffey as the Reds open the defense of their National League championship.

Walter O'Malley's towering new Los Angeles stadium will open Tuesday with the Dodgers meeting the Reds, who make a hurried trip to the coast. The stadium that cost between $16 and $18 million seats 56,000 in its four tiers. Johnny Podres or Sandy Koufax is due to pitch for Los Angeles and Jim O'Toole for Cincinnati.

Houston's temporary park, to be used for two years while the domed stadium is being built, will accommodate 32,200 for the Colts' major league debut against the Cubs. Little Bobby Shantz, released from the bullpen to resume his old starting role, will work the opener for Houston Tuesday against the Cubs' Don Cardwell.

The Polo Grounds, home of the old New York Giants for so many years, will be re-opened Friday when the Mets get home.

Stengel's Mets will open on the road in a Tuesday night game at St. Louis where Roger Craig is due to face the Cards' Larry Jackson before 20,000.

San Francisco expects 42,500 to greet the Giants Tuesday afternoon in their opener with the Milwaukee Braves when it will be Juan Marichal for the home side against the veteran Warren Spahn of the Braves.

The Phillies, having helped Cincinnati open Monday, will move to Pittsburgh to lend a hand Tuesday with Jim Owens going against Bob Friend of the Pirates. A crowd of 25,000 is due.

The New York Yankees, defending world champs, open at home Tuesday against Baltimore, a club that is expected to challenge for the pennant. Chuck Estrada or Billy Hoeft will do the challenging Tuesday. Manager Ralph Houk of the Yanks probably will counter with Whitey Ford, his 25-game winning ace of 1961, before 27,000 fans.

Manager Al Lopez' renovated Chicago White Sox bow at Comiskey Park against the Los Angeles Angels with 25,000 expected to watch Ken McBride or Eli Grba face the Sox's Juan Pizarro.

Cleveland plans to send Dick Donovan, acquired from Washington in the Jimmy Piersall deal, against the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park. Don Schwall, the rookie of the year in '61, will pitch for the Sox who probably will draw 15,000 fans.

Kansas City plays at home against the Minnesota Twins with 20,000 due to see Jack Kralick face Ed Rakow, the A's young right-hander who had such a fine spring. Manager Hank Bauer of the A's has a new-look outfield and the Twins will show rookies at second and third and Vic Power, their latest acquisition, at first.

Pipers In 100-98 Win Over Steers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Connie Dierking's hook shot from the foul line with one second left gave the Cleveland Pipers a 100-98 win over the Kansas City Steers Saturday night, and tied the teams at two games apiece in their best-of-5 American Basketball League title series.

A big dispute arose over the site of the fifth and deciding game Sunday night. A telegram from Abe Saperstein, league commissioner, said they would play at Rockhurst College in Kansas City.

George Steinbrenner, Pipers' president, however, vowed the Cleveland club would not play in Kansas City. He said efforts were being made to reach Saperstein and have the deciding contest played on a neutral court, possibly in St. Louis.

Kansas City won the first two games in the playoffs and the Pipers the last two.

Johnny Cox paced the Pipers' attack with 20 points, including four three-point field goals. Two other Cleveland sparkplugs were 5-foot-11 Jimmie Darrow, who scored 19 points, and 6-6 rebound ace Bob Keller, who also had 19.

Cleveland led 96-94 with 2:27 left. Dick Barnett, who had averaged 26 points a game this season, dropped in two free throws, making it 98-96 for the Pipers after the Steers' Bill Bridges tipped in a two-pointer.

A's Down Twins

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Leo Posada and pitcher Norm Bass hit home runs Saturday as the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Minnesota Twins 8-2 in an exhibition game halted in the sixth inning because of rain.

Jim Kaat started for the Twins and gave up four runs in four innings, including Posada's homer which came with Norm Siebern aboard. Bass hit a two-run homer in the fifth when the A's walloped Georges Miranda for four runs.

Miranda singled in a run for the Twins in the fifth and Don Mincher homered in the sixth. The game was called following Mincher's homer.

Tigers Take Yanks

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers ended a string of eight straight exhibition game losses Saturday by defeating the New York Yankees 10-6.

The Yanks tagged Jim Bunning for three runs in the opening inning and Ralph Terry held Detroit hitless through the first three. But the Tigers hammered Bud Daley and Jim Coates for 10 runs in the middle innings, with Bunning breaking a 3-3 tie on a two-run single off Daley in the sixth.

Rocky Colavito and Mike Roarke hit two-run homers against Coates in the seventh, nailing down the victory.

The two teams ended the Florida phase of training with the game and play again Sunday at Richmond, Va., in their final tune-up for Tuesday's season openers.

Prior to the game, Tom Tresh was named winner of the James P. Dawson Memorial Award as the Yankees' outstand rookie of the spring training camp. He has taken over the starting shortstop job left vacant by Tony Kubek's recall into the Army.

Cubs Edge Red Sox

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Mo Mohrhardt, a seldom used utility infielder, drove home the winning run Saturday as the Chicago Cubs edged the Boston Red Sox 5-4 in a 10-inning exhibition baseball game.

Mohrhardt's pinch single ended an outstanding pitching performance by right-hander Dick Radatz.

Radatz, who wasn't even on the Boston spring training roster, sandwiched a walk between two singles as he loaded the bases with no outs. Then he blew three quick strikes by Ron Santo, who struck out three times and put three by pinch hitter Sammy Taylor. He worked the count to 1-2 before giving up the game winning hit.

Johnson Heads All-GSC Squad

Fant Named Outstanding Loop Coach

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor
(Written for the Louisiana Sportswriters Assn.)

Five different schools landed a player apiece on the first unit of the 1961-62 All-Gulf States Conference basketball team selected by the Louisiana Sportswriters Association from one of the most evenly balanced fields in the league's history.

Unanimous choices were Little All - American Lanny Johnson, off the championship Northeast State squad, and Southwestern's all - round performer Larry Simon.

Others were Truitt Weldon of Northwestern, who missed being a unanimous choice by one vote, Louisiana Tech's Joe Abendroth and Don Troutman of McNeese State.

OUTSTANDING PLAYER

Johnson, who was a second team Associated Press Little American and on the NAIA first team, was named the loop's outstanding player and Indian Coach Lenny Fant, who guided a dark-horse Northeast team to its first GSC basketball championship, won outstanding coach honors.

Second team berths were also well distributed. Making this squad were McNeese's Jimmy Shields, Gene Wright of Northwestern, Southeastern's Al Link, versatile Jimmy Walker of Northeast and freshman Jinks Welch from Southwestern.

Third team members were Robert Cook and Stuart Toms of Northeast, McNeese's Al Nesmith, Jim Cress of Southeastern, plus Tech's Jackie Fair and USL's Deal Church, who tied in the balloting.

GOOD COACHING

Northeast's Fant landed some of the most highly touted prep players in the state a season ago and they gave the Tribe needed reserve strength. But the Indian mentor won the title by molding a championship team from his lightly regarded holdovers. Northeast had a 12-13 overall record the previous campaign and finished fourth in the GSC.

An indication of the league's balance is seen in the fact that Northeast copped the championship by being the only team to win three conference games on the road in addition to the five home GSC tilts. Second place Southwestern, with two away victories, was the only other club to take more than one GSC victory away from home. In addition, two of Northeast's home wins in league play were overtime victories.

Johnson, a 6-1 senior guard from Monroe, repreated as GSC scoring champ, averaging 22.2 points a game in conference play. Johnson, who is also a repeater on the All-GSC team, set a new Northeast career scoring mark of 1,366 points over a four-year period. And he averaged 21.3 points a contest for all games this year.

HAS HIGH TOTAL

Simon, who has led Southwestern scoring for the past two years, averaged 19.1 for all games this winter and has a career total of 1,433 points. A second team All-GSC selection last year, Simon, a 6-3 senior, scored in double figures four straight years. He also averaged 7.2 rebounds a game in GSC play and was the second place club's best man off the backboards.

Northwestern's Weldon averaged 15.5 points a game in conference action this year and upped his career total to 1,289 for four seasons. The 6-6 Mt. Carmel senior collected 299 rebounds this winter to give him a four-year mark of 928 and was also a good defensive player.

Troutman, the McNeese senior forward and post man, scored 322 points in 25 games for a 12.9 average this year and a career mark of 1,055. The 6-2 senior also averaged 6.5 rebounds a game for the campaign.

"Jumping Joe" Abendroth, the only non-senior on the first team turned in a well-rounded performance in making the last place Bulldogs one of the toughest teams in the conference. The slender 6-3 sophomore averaged 14.8 points and 8.0 rebounds a game. An Ex-Byrd star, Abendroth scored 341 points and collected 185 carooms.

SECOND TEAMERS

Shields, the Cowboy's 6-1 junior guard, scored 324 points in 24 games for a 13.5 average. He also was McNeese's team captain.

Wright, a spunky 6-0 guard for Northwestern overcame a mid-season slump to pump in 320 points this year. He has a career total of 1050 and is a fine ball-handler and dribbler.

Al Link of Southeastern, a junior forward topped all Lion shooters with a 13.7 average for both season and conference play. The 6-3 Slidell product has scored 700 points over a three year period. He averaged close to six rebounds per game this year.

Walker was a two-way performer for Northeast. The 6-4 Jonesboro junior averaged 14.5 points and 9.0 rebounds a game in GSC play. A deceptive faker and good defender, Walker was Northeast's number two scorer and rebounder.

Welch, though only a freshman at USL, averaged 13.9 points a game in GSC play and pulled in 6 rebounds per contest. The 6-3 LaGrange High graduate was an all-stater during the 1959-60 season, but was ineligible for prep ball the next year.

THIRD TEAM

Cress, a 6-6 junior center and forward at Southeastern, scored 12.3 points a game and averaged better than 10 rebounds a contest.

Toms was probably the best ball handler in the conference and had no superior as a dribbler. The 5-11 Northeast junior averaged 9.1 points a game and was a hustling defender.

McNeese's Nesmith, a 6-5 senior scored 10.3 points a game and was the Cowboy's leading rebounder with 7.1 a night. He was noted for his defensive play.

Cook, the big boy in the Northeast attack at 6-5, led the Indians' rebounding with 11.3 a game for the season and contributed 9.3 points a contest. The 215 pound bruiser improved markedly as a defender and screener this winter.

Fair, one of the little men who didn't give way to taller freshmen in Tech's youthful machine, scored at an 11.7 point a game clip. The 5-10 senior guard was Tech's playmaker and a tenacious defender.

Church was one of the youngsters that made Southwestern click. The 6-0 sophomore from Ashland, Kentucky scored 331 points from his guard position for a 13.7 season average.

ALSO LISTED

Simon was also listed in voting for outstanding player as were USL's Beryl Shipley and Tech's Cecil Crowly for outstanding coach.

Voting was tabulated on a basis of three points for first team ballots, two for second and one for third. There is no honorable mention team on the sportswriters' club.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS

New Look To Appear Monday In Majors

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two new clubs, four new managers, three new parks and a bumper crop of rookies will be on display Monday and Tuesday when the big league baseball season opens with the customary pomp and ceremony.

The new clubs are the New York Mets and the Houston Colts of the expanded 10-team National League. Although both were constructed hurriedly after the World Series and are thinly manned by fading veterans and borderline prospects, they have made respectable showings in the exhibition games.

Perhaps "new" hardly is the word for grizzled old Casey Stengel, returning from a one-year retirement at the age of 71 to help the Mets challenge his old Yankee club for New York support. Harry Craft, the Houston skipper, also did time previously as a major league manager, serving 2½ terms with Kansas City.

Mel McGaha of Cleveland and Billy Hitchcock of Baltimore, the other new managers, moved up to the big job after serving as coaches.

With new parks at Los Angeles, Washington and Houston, about 340,000 persons are expected to turn out for the 11-game opening program, spread over two days. Of course, the weather man can slice that figure.

Washington will beat the gun in the American League with its Presidential opener Monday against Detroit. Cincinnati, as usual, will open at home a day early in the National League, facing Philadelphia in the other Monday game. Nine games will be played Tuesday.

Among the rookies to attract the most attention in the spring games are John Powell, Baltimore's slugging outfielder, and Ray Washburn, St. Louis' fine young pitcher who is due for an early start.

Tom Tresh appears primed to take over Tony Kubek's job as the New York Yankee shortstop and Julio Gotay is a key new shortstop in the Cardinals' pennant plans.

Minnesota counts on Bernie Allen at second and Rick Rollins at third, a pair who came out of nowhere this spring. Cleveland has Ty Cline and Al Luplow in its outfield and Kansas City has rookies Jose Tartabull and Manny Jimenez in its outfield. Catcher Bob Rodgers is the Los Angeles Angels' new pride and Mike Hershberger probably will open in the Chicago White Sox outfield.

The Chicago Cubs will have newcomers Lou Brock in the outfield and Ken Hubbs at second base. Larry Burright has won the second base job with the Los Angeles Dodgers and Howie Bedell appears to be the successor to Frank Thomas in left field for the Milwaukee Braves.

Washington's $20 million D.C. Stadium, used for football last fall and for exhibition baseball, will be jammed with a sellout crowd of 47,000 when President Kennedy throws out the first ball before the Senators-Tigers game. Bennie Daniels is slated to start for Washington against Don Mossi.

Cincinnati also expects its traditional opening day sellout of 32,000 at Crosley Field for the Reds' bow against the Phillies. Bob Purkey or Joey Jay is due to face the Phils' Art Mahaffey as the Reds open the defense of their National League championship.

Walter O'Malley's towering new Los Angeles stadium will open Tuesday with the Dodgers meeting the Reds, who make a hurried trip to the coast. The stadium that cost between $16 and $18 million seats 56,000 in its four tiers. Johnny Podres or Sandy Koufax is due to pitch for Los Angeles and Jim O'Toole for Cincinnati.

Houston's temporary park, to be used for two years while the domed stadium is being built, will accommodate 32,200 for the Colts' major league debut against the Cubs. Little Bobby Shantz, released from the bullpen to resume his old starting role, will work the opener for Houston Tuesday against the Cubs' Don Cardwell.

The Polo Grounds, home of the old New York Giants for so many years, will be re-opened Friday when the Mets get home.

Stengel's Mets will open on the road in a Tuesday night game at St. Louis where Roger Craig is due to face the Cards' Larry Jackson before 20,000.

San Francisco expects 42,500 to greet the Giants Tuesday afternoon in their opener with the Milwaukee Braves when it will be Juan Marichal for the home side against the veteran Warren Spahn of the Braves.

The Phillies, having helped Cincinnati open Monday, will move to Pittsburgh to lend a hand Tuesday with Jim Owens going against Bob Friend of the Pirates. A crowd of 25,000 is due.

The New York Yankees, defending world champs, open at home Tuesday against Baltimore, a club that is expected to challenge for the pennant. Chuck Estrada or Billy Hoeft will do the challenging Tuesday. Manager Ralph Houk of the Yanks probably will counter with Whitey Ford, his 25-game winning ace of 1961, before 27,000 fans.

Manager Al Lopez' renovated Chicago White Sox bow at Comiskey Park against the Los Angeles Angels with 25,000 expected to watch Ken McBride or Eli Grba face the Sox's Juan Pizarro.

Cleveland plans to send Dick Donovan, acquired from Washington in the Jimmy Piersall deal, against the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park. Don Schwall, the rookie of the year in '61, will pitch for the Sox who probably will draw 15,000 fans.

Kansas City plays at home against the Minnesota Twins with 20,000 due to see Jack Kralick face Ed Rakow, the A's young right-hander who had such a fine spring. Manager Hank Bauer of the A's has a new-look outfield and the Twins will show rookies at second and third and Vic Power, their latest acquisition, at first.

Pipers In 100-98 Win Over Steers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Connie Dierking's hook shot from the foul line with one second left gave the Cleveland Pipers a 100-98 win over the Kansas City Steers Saturday night, and tied the teams at two games apiece in their best-of-5 American Basketball League title series.

A big dispute arose over the site of the fifth and deciding game Sunday night. A telegram from Abe Saperstein, league commissioner, said they would play at Rockhurst College in Kansas City.

George Steinbrenner, Pipers' president, however, vowed the Cleveland club would not play in Kansas City. He said efforts were being made to reach Saperstein and have the deciding contest played on a neutral court, possibly in St. Louis.

Kansas City won the first two games in the playoffs and the Pipers the last two.

Johnny Cox paced the Pipers' attack with 20 points, including four three-point field goals. Two other Cleveland sparkplugs were 5-foot-11 Jimmie Darrow, who scored 19 points, and 6-6 rebound ace Bob Keller, who also had 19.

Cleveland led 96-94 with 2:27 left. Dick Barnett, who had averaged 26 points a game this season, dropped in two free throws, making it 98-96 for the Pipers after the Steers' Bill Bridges tipped in a two-pointer.

WILDLIFE, LIVESTOCK

Game that hunters shoot is like stock on a farm in that it must be taken care of if man is to reap the greatest benefit—whether he's trying to bag a big buck or raise a profitable herd of cattle.

There's a lot of science behind this pertaining to conditions that wildlife and livestock can best survive under.

A good example of this was seen in the Delta parishes of Madison and Tensas five years ago when the screwworm plagued cattle as well as the prime deer herd of that section.

Since then, a program was started in Florida to curb the spread of the screwworm by distributing sterile male flies to mate with the female for a none-productive match - up. Since screwworms come from flies, this method paid off.

In line with this effort, stations were established along the Mississippi line and regulations set forth to require that all cattle entering or leaving Mississippi must be unloaded, dusted and sprayed—an effort to stop the screwworm.

Whether these efforts can be traced directly to the Louisiana Delta is not to be determined in this corner, but at any rate the screwworm has not been a problem in Madison and Tensas in the past five years.

At the moment the screwworm is not really much of a problem anywhere in Louisiana, for the simple reason that the hard freeze last January killed them out. They bury up in the ground when they're not working on a cow or a horse or a deer or a rabbit or a squirrel.

But since the screwworm has been killed off to a considerable degree in Louisiana, this is an ideal time for cattlemen and farmers and conservationists to band together in a joint effort to fight the dread of the screwworm.

A non-profit organization in Texas, the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, is calling on the people of Louisiana for assistance in a new program.

What this group proposes to do is collect about $6-million or over to distribute millions of sterile flies along the Texas-Mexico border — so that the sterile flies will mate in a none-productive match with the female.

Had it not been for the January freeze, a program of this type would have cost far more than six or seven million dollars. The freeze killed the screwworm here, but the cold weather did not reach into the Texas-Mexico border country.

And remember the screwworm spreads rapidly.

The two-year program calls for the distribution of 75 million screwworm flies weekly along the Texas-Mexico border. It worked in Florida and it should work in Texas.

Sponsored by the Louisiana Cattlemen's Association, the local drive is underway. A joint meeting is set for April 24, but if you're interested in assisting, contact a member of the Ouachita Cattlemen's Association or county agent J. J. Joyce.

THE BIG BIRD

Louisiana's nine-day turkey season opened yesterday until April 15, but at this writing it looks as though the weather may spoil much of the hunters' success.

Rain and cold weather just don't make for good turkey hunting. That's why the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission spread the season over two weekends — in hopes that the hunter will get at least one good weekend of hunting.

We have a lot of turkeys in this area, especially in Tensas Swamp and in Morehouse Parish. But, weather depending, there won't be many more than a hundred gobblers killed in this area.

Good turkey hunters are few and far between.

There is an important thing that the turkey hunter should keep in mind. That's the turkey report card, which all hunters must have to tag their birds. This bird should be mailed immediately to the commission at New Orleans.

The success of the card-system depends on the hunter. Remember, this is the commission's method of keeping tabs on the turkey population and kill and is of utmost importance in the future setting of seasons.

POLLUTION LEGISLATION

Congress continues to support legislation designed to curb pollution of the nation's streams, for example the Ouachita River. Actually, the House of Representatives has approved the major pollution bill with more funds allocated than was requested.

1. Allowing the maximum authorization of $90 million for Federal waste treatment construction grants to municipalities, or $10 million more than appropriated last year. The Committee said the grants program has stiumlated the construction of waste treatment works. "A total of 3,325 grants for $275,000,000 has been made since passage of the Act in 1956," the Committee reported. "These Federal grants have been matched by $1,350,000,000 in local funds — a ratio of five local dollars to each Federal dollar." The Committee, however, said the $90 million "is far short of being sufficient to finance the approvable grant applications which are expected to be on hand in 1963."

2. Allowing $4 million over the budget request for the construction of two water quality laboratories, one for fresh water and one for salt water. "High in the need to develop water quality standards is that of determing the requirements for aquatic life, both fresh water and marine," the Committee said. "If fish cannot live in the water we use to drink and process our food, something is wrong and we need to take immediate steps to find the cause."

3. Appropriating $24,607,000 to the Division of Water Supply and Pollution Control, or $1 million more than requested. The increase is to be used for additional law enforcement, research and "comprehensive programs."

LITTLE MAN'S CORNER

The weatherman wasn't cooperative, but the little men made news afield regardless.

Fishing was good all over the area, especially on days when the fishermen dared go out. Pete Boyd and Steve Simmons had luck with the specs in Black Bayou while Sam Ladart and Buddy Lyons ran into some pretty fair bass fishing there.

From Tallulah, State Trooper J. C. Martin got an early start on the Louisiana turkey hunters. He went to Desbea County in Arkansas and bagged a gobbler that weighed 24 pounds. The turkey had a 35 - inch wingspread and a beard that trailed 10½ inches.

By now several gobblers equal to that should have been killed in Northeast Louisiana, since the season opened yesterday.

And from Lake Providence, David Harvey of Lake Providence and his brother, Robert Harvey of Tallulah, caught 25 bass in Lake Providence fishing with Mirror Lure. Five of the bass averaged about four pounds each.

Fishing off a pier, Bill Scott landed a bass in Lake Providence that almost went six pounds. Jimmy Baur had good luck in the rain.

White perch fishing was good at the Stump Hole. Mrs. Sam Foutz and Mrs. Mildred Wells caught a nice string of 25 to 30 white perch. And in Gin Lake, Claude Rinicker caught 22 white perch. Mrs. W. B. Ragland Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper caught 30 white perch.

And Saline Lake has been good. George Williams of Vivian landed two limits of bass that weighed 74 pounds.

If you're an alligator hunter, you'll have to go to South Louisiana to kill a legal 'gator. The season is set for April 15 to July 1, but only five-foot alligators can be taken and that must be in an area from below Alexandria to the Gulf, excluding Cameron Parish, which will be closed this season.

As a point of interest, the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service banded a crane in New Mexico in 1961 and two months later the bird landed at Krasneno, Russia — 5,500 air miles away. This has happened over 100 times since 1939 — not with the same crane, of course.

Louisiana Tech Linksmen Down Centenary, 17-1

Jerry Gulledge of Tech was medalist of the afternoon shooting a par 72 over the Ruston Country Club course.

Tech easily took the remaining match points for the victory.

Paul and Fuller defeated Easterwood and Peters, 3-0.
Jerry Gulledge of Tech defeated Don Harris, 2-1.
Jerry Long of Tech defeated Charles Yarbarough, 23-0.

LOUISIANA'S DEER herd is becoming the most sought-after of all game, as far as the hunter is concerned. Deer are more plentiful now than they've been in many years. The number of hunters has increased tremendously with the increase in deer. This picture of a splendid young buck in his natural habitat was taken by Jack Britt of the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission.

IN LOUISIANA

Deer Population At All-Time High

The deer population in Louisiana has reached an all time high and is continuing to expand, according to John D. Newsom, chief of the fish and game division of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission.

Newsom said a review of the status of deer herds in Louisiana from 1880 to the present time revealed that in 1920 the deer population was at an all time low. However, by 1960, as a result of improvement of habitat and management through trapping and transplanting, the deer population had recovered to its present high status.

"In the past twenty years, deer management has advanced greatly through improved hunting regulations," Newsom said. "Establishment of seasons is determined on an area basis, according to habitat and deer herd conditions, rather than on the previously used parish line basis. The straight 45 day season, set by the local police jury and the department of wild life and fisheries commissioner, was changed in favor of our present system of varying lengths of time for different area, depending upon the individual deer herds involved, and is set by the commission upon recommendations of the technical staff of the fish and game division. Other important changes in regulations were the advent of the first legal doe season in Louisiana in 1959, public hearings on all hunting seasons, uniform hunting season opening dates and the deer tagging system which was approved by the legislature in 1960."

Newsom defined good deer management as a program through which sportsmen are allowed to take the maximum number of animals that a particular deer range will produce on an annually renewable basis; one which, insofar as possible, provides equal opportunities to all license holders.

"Deer management is a full time job," Newsom said, "which includes, along with other things, observation, keeping records, obtaining, tabulating and analyzing information. It is not a hit-or-miss affair. Our primary emphasis must be on providing the best deer hunting possible compatible with range conditions and other factors."

"In order to gain the ultimate benefits of a management program for any game species, certain knowledge of the specific game population and range or habitat conditions must be available. In the case of deer management, there is no known method of accurately counting the number of deer on any substantial portion of deer range in Louisiana. However, certain criteria may be used to provide enough information from which hunting season or management recommendations may be made. Browse surveys, herd composition counts, adult-fawn ratios, and kill records may be used satisfactorily if enough accurate data is accumulated."

"Few areas in the state lend themselves to adequate herd composition counts," Newsom continued. "Adult-fawn ratios have been available only on those management areas where adequate track counts can be made and where both buck and doe seasons have been held. Accurate physical condition data have been available to us primarily from management areas. Individual area kill records available only through the deer tagging system."

Newsom urged the cooperation of Louisiana's hunters in the deer tagging system.

"The present deer tagging system could provide the deer kill information necessary for management purposes," he said, "but it is not adequate at the present time. The 1961-62 regulations governing the tagging system required that all big game license holders submit the deer report card attached to the license within 5 days after the close of the season. As of this date, only 17,567 report cards have been returned from the estimated 73,593 persons who bought big game licenses or were issued permits."

According to Newsom, browse surveys are the primary tool in evaluating deer ranges in the state.

"The only undesirable aspect of the browse surveys," he said, "is that they are time consuming. The division's work force is not large enough to obtain as much data as is needed for management purposes."

Newsom advocated doe seasons in order to gain maximum benefits from the state deer herds.

"Maximum benefits can be obtained only through the orderly harvest of both sexes of deer. Doe seasons are needed in order to realize proper management in many areas of the state. Doe deer have been taken regularly from our deer herds for many years — illegally. We should provide this additional ooportunity to the legal hunter, rather than to the illegal hunter, whose activities cannot be controlled."

Newsom predicted that deer seasons, in the future, may be estbalished on the basis of three general ares: Northwest Louisiana Upper Mississippi Delta, and Lower Mississippi and Atchafalaya Swamp areas.

"There is much evidence that indicates individual hunter needs of our deer herds in these three broad areas," he said. "For example, the peak of the rut and subsequent antler drop occurs much earlier in Northwest Louisiana than in the other two areas. There is a need for a later season in the lower Mississippi River and Atchafalaya River Basin areas. This is primarily from the standpoint of hunter participation. Season recommendations in future years will take these facts into consideration," Newsom concluded.

PENNANT PICKS

Yanks, Cardinals Writer's Choice

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals are this writer's pennant picks and although one of these choices looks much better than the other, please remember that neither carries a money-back guarantee.

There's no trick to picking the Yankees in the American League. Practically everyone else is and you probably would, too, if you saw them in spring training since late February.

They've got everything. Pitching, power, pinch - hitting, speed and a bench that makes every other manager drool.

The Cardinals, who finished fifth in the National League last year, aren't nearly as strong. They have an impressive pitching staff with men like Larry Jackson, Ernie Broglio, Ray Sadecki, Bob Gibson, Lindy McDaniel and Ray Washburn, an exceptionally good looking rookie.

Ken Boyer, Stan Musial and Bill White are three of the NL's best hitters and Minnie Minoso could make a tremendous difference. The Cards got every bad break in the book in 1961. Jackson suffered a broken jaw and catcher Hal Smith was forced to retire. The Redbirds don't figure to be hit like that two years in a row.

So after watching the 4 clubs in Florida since mid - February and sizing up the six others in Arizona and California from baseball's grapevine, here's the way we see the two pennant races:

American League

1. New York
2. Cleveland
3. Detroit
4. Baltimore
5. Boston
6. Chicago
7. Los Angeles
8. Washington
9. Minnesota
10. Kansas City

National League

1. St. Louis
2. Los Angeles
3. San Francisco
4. Milwaukee
5. Cincinnati
6. New York
7. Pittsburgh
8. Houston
9. Philadelphia
10. Chicago

In the American League, the Yankees show up even better than they did last year when they won by eight games. Despite the loss of Tony Kubek, the Yankee infield is sound again with Tom Tresh at shortstop. A comeback by Bob Turley would make the Yanks that much rougher.

Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Elston Howard, Yogi Berra and Johnny Blanchard are all hitting well. Manager Ralph Houk says the Yankees will win again and he sounds like he knows what he's talking about.

Cleveland could be the Yankees' biggest threat. Mel McGaha, the Indians' new skipper, is shrewd and imaginative. He has the nucleus of a formidable pitching staff in Jim Perry, Gary Bell, Barry Latman and Dick Donovan. The Tribe also has its share of power in Woody Held, Willie Kirkland, Tito Francona, Johnny Romano and Bubba Phillips.

Detroit had the best hitting club in the league last year and the same could be true again. The Tigers' pitching, however, falls a little short after Frank Lary, Jim Bunning and Don Mossi.

The Orioles are bound to be hurt with southpaw Steve Barber and shortstop Ron Hansen in service. Barber was on his way toward becoming the best pitcher in the circuit. Even with Jim Gentile, Baltimore still needs more power.

Look for the Red Sox to be one of the most improved clubs of the year. Carl Yastrzemski, Chuck Schilling, Jim Pagliaroni and Don Schwall haven't reached their full potential yet. And if Frank Malzone and Ed Bressoud have good years, Boston should make fifth place.

The White Sox may have given away too much power during the winter when they let go Roy Sievers and Minoso. The club is rebuilding and it may take a little while.

Bill Rigney's Angels, on the other hand, appear on their way up with such "finds" as Lee Thomas, Bob Rodgers, Ken Hunt and Ken McBride. The Angels certainly look stronger than the Senators, who may be banking too heavily on Jim Piersall to do it all.

Minnesota simply has too many holes and after Camilo Pascual and Jack Kralick, the pitching is really sad. As for the Athletics, what did poor Hank Bauer ever do to deserve them?

Although the Cardinals are our personal choice to win in the National League, it's easy to understand why the Dodgers are favored by all the odds-makers.

They have their usual fine array of pitchers, Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax, Stan Williams and Larry Sherry, plus some fair country hitters. The Dodgers, however, are not the fence busters they were in Brooklyn. A lot will depend on 35-year-old Duke Snider and out-sized Frank Howard.

The Giants remind you of some of those foreign powers. They always threaten but never quite cut the mustard. You have to respect hitters like Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda but San Francisco's pitching leaves a bit to be desired. Billy Pierce and Don Larsen may help.

Milwaukee seems to be marking time. The Braves have a real problem in the outfield and if Warren Spahn or Lew Burdette bogs down, look out below!

The Reds surprised everyone last year mostly because of their tremendous pitching. It will have to be just as good this year and we don't think it will be. With Gene Freese out, Cincinnati is weakened considerably.

Picking the Mets sixth could be a mistake, but don't forget Casey Stengel. Here's one man who can make chicken salad out of chicken feathers. Club President George Weiss isn't one to stay idle long with a loser, either.

Weak catching could cripple the Pirates. Vern Law is a question mark, and outside of Dick Stuart and Bob Clemente, Pittsburgh doesn't have much power.

Houston will have to endure the normal growing pains with a patchwork pitching staff and an outfield to match. Manager Harry Craft will get the best out of the club, however.

The Phillies have a long, long way to go. For power they have Sievers and Don Demeter, and for pitching they have Art Mahaffey, Jim Owens, Jack Baldschun and Cal McLish. Those six aren't nearly enough.

Possibly we've pegged the Cubs too far down. They have some top drawer ball players in Ron Santo, Billy Williams, George Altman, Ernie Banks and Jack Curtis. They had 'em last year, too. And what happened?

Same thing that probably will this year.

FIRST TURKEY reported killed in this area was killed by Earl Polk of Rt. 1, Mangham. Earl got the big gobbler in Madison parish about 9 a.m. Saturday. He killed the turkey with one shot from his 16 gauge shotgun loaded with No. 6 shot as the turkey was walking about 30 steps away. The gobbler weighed 17 pounds, had an eleven and one-half inch beard and a 60 inch wing spread. The turkey was checked out at the checking station near Andrews School. (Photo by Otis Hassell)

Pole Vaulter Heads List At Lafayette

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—John Uelses, the soaring ex-Marine corporal who cracked the pole vault barrier, headlines a field of 1,500 thinclads in the 34th annual Southwestern Relays beginning Thursday.

The relays, the South's oldest track carnival, will be staged over three days at the University of Southwestern Louisiana here.

High schools will compete Thursday and Friday. College and university athletes will vie Saturday.

The German-born Uelses, who failed to make the top grade in his collegiate vaulting days at the University of Alabama, zoomed to 16 feet ¾ inch at Santa Barbara, Calif., a week ago.

Using his whip-like fiber glass pole, he became the world's first man to clear 16 feet outdoors after performing the same feat indoors this winter.

Uelses, 24, will vault against the man whose world standard he shattered, George Davies of Arizona State, and Henry Wadsworth, former Florida University star and two-time Southeastern Conference vaulting champion.

Davis had pushed the bar to 15 feet 10¼ inches in 1961. In the Santa Barbara meet, Davies dropped out after missing at 15-8¼. Uelses went on to try for 16-4 and had two relatively close misses.

The fleet-footed Styron twins, Don and Dave, will add class to the sprint and hurdle events and beef up Northeast, La., State's relay teams. Don holds the world's record in the 220 low hurdles.

In the 2-mile, Fred Norris, 40-year-old McNeese State sophomore and former British olympian, will run against veteran distance star Pat Cloehessy of Houston, Don Eiland of Northeast and Malcolm Robinson of Southwestern.

Relay teams have been entered by Houston, Kansas State, Mississippi State, Louisiana State among others.

WILDLIFE, LIVESTOCK

Game that hunters shoot is like stock on a farm in that it must be taken care of if man is to reap the greatest benefit—whether he's trying to bag a big buck or raise a profitable herd of cattle.

There's a lot of science behind this pertaining to conditions that wildlife and livestock can best survive under.

A good example of this was seen in the Delta parishes of Madison and Tensas five years ago when the screwworm plagued cattle as well as the prime deer herd of that section.

Since then, a program was started in Florida to curb the spread of the screwworm by distributing sterile male flies to mate with the female for a none-productive match - up. Since screwworms come from flies, this method paid off.

In line with this effort, stations were established along the Mississippi line and regulations set forth to require that all cattle entering or leaving Mississippi must be unloaded, dusted and sprayed—an effort to stop the screwworm.

Whether these efforts can be traced directly to the Louisiana Delta is not to be determined in this corner, but at any rate the screwworm has not been a problem in Madison and Tensas in the past five years.

At the moment the screwworm is not really much of a problem anywhere in Louisiana, for the simple reason that the hard freeze last January killed them out. They bury up in the ground when they're not working on a cow or a horse or a deer or a rabbit or a squirrel.

But since the screwworm has been killed off to a considerable degree in Louisiana, this is an ideal time for cattlemen and farmers and conservationists to band together in a joint effort to fight the dread of the screwworm.

A non-profit organization in Texas, the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, is calling on the people of Louisiana for assistance in a new program.

What this group proposes to do is collect about $6-million or over to distribute millions of sterile flies along the Texas-Mexico border — so that the sterile flies will mate in a none-productive match with the female.

However, certain criteria may be used to provide enough information from which hunting season or management recommendations may be made. Browse surveys, herd composition counts, adult-fawn ratios, and kill records may be used satisfactorily if enough accurate data is accumulated."

"Few areas in the state lend themselves to adequate herd composition counts," Newsom continued. "Adult-fawn ratios have been available only on those management areas where adequate track counts can be made and where both buck and doe seasons have been held. Accurate physical condition data have been available to us primarily from management areas. Individual area kill records available only through the deer tagging system."

Newsom urged the cooperation of Louisiana's hunters in the deer tagging system.

"The present deer tagging system could provide the deer kill information necessary for management purposes," he said, "but it is not adequate at the present time. The 1961-62 regulations governing the tagging system required that all big game license holders submit the deer report card attached to the license within 5 days after the close of the season. As of this date, only 17,567 report cards have been returned from the estimated 73,593 persons who bought big game licenses or were issued permits."

According to Newsom, browse surveys are the primary tool in evaluating deer ranges in the state.

"The only undesirable aspect of the browse surveys," he said, "is that they are time consuming. The division's work force is not large enough to obtain as much data as is needed for management purposes."

Newsom advocated doe seasons in order to gain maximum benefits from the state deer herds.

"Maximum benefits can be obtained only through the orderly harvest of both sexes of deer. Doe seasons are needed in order to realize proper management in many areas of the state. Doe deer have been taken regularly from our deer herds for many years — illegally. We should provide this additional ooportunity to the legal hunter, rather than to the illegal hunter, whose activities cannot be controlled."

Newsom predicted that deer seasons, in the future, may be estbalished on the basis of three general ares: Northwest Louisiana Upper Mississippi Delta, and Lower Mississippi and Atchafalaya Swamp areas.

"There is much evidence that indicates individual hunter needs of our deer herds in these three broad areas," he said. "For example, the peak of the rut and subsequent antler drop occurs much earlier in Northwest Louisiana than in the other two areas. There is a need for a later season in the lower Mississippi River and Atchafalaya River Basin areas. This is primarily from the standpoint of hunter participation. Season recommendations in future years will take these facts into consideration," Newsom concluded.

PENNANT PICKS

Yanks, Cardinals Writer's Choice

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals are this writer's pennant picks and although one of these choices looks much better than the other, please remember that neither carries a money-back guarantee.

There's no trick to picking the Yankees in the American League. Practically everyone else is and you probably would, too, if you saw them in spring training since late February.

They've got everything. Pitching, power, pinch - hitting, speed and a bench that makes every other manager drool.

The Cardinals, who finished fifth in the National League last year, aren't nearly as strong. They have an impressive pitching staff with men like Larry Jackson, Ernie Broglio, Ray Sadecki, Bob Gibson, Lindy McDaniel and Ray Washburn, an exceptionally good looking rookie.

Ken Boyer, Stan Musial and Bill White are three of the NL's best hitters and Minnie Minoso could make a tremendous difference. The Cards got every bad break in the book in 1961. Jackson suffered a broken jaw and catcher Hal Smith was forced to retire. The Redbirds don't figure to be hit like that two years in a row.

So after watching the 4 clubs in Florida since mid - February and sizing up the six others in Arizona and California from baseball's grapevine, here's the way we see the two pennant races:

American League

1. New York
2. Cleveland
3. Detroit
4. Baltimore
5. Boston
6. Chicago
7. Los Angeles
8. Washington
9. Minnesota
10. Kansas City

National League

1. St. Louis
2. Los Angeles
3. San Francisco
4. Milwaukee
5. Cincinnati
6. New York
7. Pittsburgh
8. Houston
9. Philadelphia
10. Chicago

In the American League, the Yankees show up even better than they did last year when they won by eight games. Despite the loss of Tony Kubek, the Yankee infield is sound again with Tom Tresh at shortstop. A comeback by Bob Turley would make the Yanks that much rougher.

Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Elston Howard, Yogi Berra and Johnny Blanchard are all hitting well. Manager Ralph Houk says the Yankees will win again and he sounds like he knows what he's talking about.

Cleveland could be the Yankees' biggest threat. Mel McGaha, the Indians' new skipper, is shrewd and imaginative. He has the nucleus of a formidable pitching staff in Jim Perry, Gary Bell, Barry Latman and Dick Donovan. The Tribe also has its share of power in Woody Held, Willie Kirkland, Tito Francona, Johnny Romano and Bubba Phillips.

Detroit had the best hitting club in the league last year and the same could be true again. The Tigers' pitching, however, falls a little short after Frank Lary, Jim Bunning and Don Mossi.

The Orioles are bound to be hurt with southpaw Steve Barber and shortstop Ron Hansen in service. Barber was on his way toward becoming the best pitcher in the circuit. Even with Jim Gentile, Baltimore still needs more power.

Look for the Red Sox to be one of the most improved clubs of the year. Carl Yastrzemski, Chuck Schilling, Jim Pagliaroni and Don Schwall haven't reached their full potential yet. And if Frank Malzone and Ed Bressoud have good years, Boston should make fifth place.

The White Sox may have given away too much power during the winter when they let go Roy Sievers and Minoso. The club is rebuilding and it may take a little while.

Bill Rigney's Angels, on the other hand, appear on their way up with such "finds" as Lee Thomas, Bob Rodgers, Ken Hunt and Ken McBride. The Angels certainly look stronger than the Senators, who may be banking too heavily on Jim Piersall to do it all.

Minnesota simply has too many holes and after Camilo Pascual and Jack Kralick, the pitching is really sad. As for the Athletics, what did poor Hank Bauer ever do to deserve them?

Although the Cardinals are our personal choice to win in the National League, it's easy to understand why the Dodgers are favored by all the odds-makers.

They have their usual fine array of pitchers, Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax, Stan Williams and Larry Sherry, plus some fair country hitters. The Dodgers, however, are not the fence busters they were in Brooklyn. A lot will depend on 35-year-old Duke Snider and out-sized Frank Howard.

The Giants remind you of some of those foreign powers. They always threaten but never quite cut the mustard. You have to respect hitters like Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda but San Francisco's pitching leaves a bit to be desired. Billy Pierce and Don Larsen may help.

Milwaukee seems to be marking time. The Braves have a real problem in the outfield and if Warren Spahn or Lew Burdette bogs down, look out below!

The Reds surprised everyone last year mostly because of their tremendous pitching. It will have to be just as good this year and we don't think it will be. With Gene Freese out, Cincinnati is weakened considerably.

Picking the Mets sixth could be a mistake, but don't forget Casey Stengel. Here's one man who can make chicken salad out of chicken feathers. Club President George Weiss isn't one to stay idle long with a loser, either.

Houston will have to endure the normal growing pains with a patchwork pitching staff and an outfield to match. Manager Harry Craft will get the best out of the club, however.

The Phillies have a long, long way to go. For power they have Sievers and Don Demeter, and for pitching they have Art Mahaffey, Jim Owens, Jack Baldschun and Cal McLish. Those six aren't nearly enough.

Possibly we've pegged the Cubs too far down. They have some top drawer ball players in Ron Santo, Billy Williams, George Altman, Ernie Banks and Jack Curtis. They had 'em last year, too. And what happened?

Same thing that probably will this year.

Pole Vaulter Heads List At Lafayette

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—John Uelses, the soaring ex-Marine corporal who cracked the pole vault barrier, headlines a field of 1,500 thinclads in the 34th annual Southwestern Relays beginning Thursday.

The relays, the South's oldest track carnival, will be staged over three days at the University of Southwestern Louisiana here.

High schools will compete Thursday and Friday. College and university athletes will vie Saturday.

The German-born Uelses, who failed to make the top grade in his collegiate vaulting days at the University of Alabama, zoomed to 16 feet ¾ inch at Santa Barbara, Calif., a week ago.

Using his whip-like fiber glass pole, he became the world's first man to clear 16 feet outdoors after performing the same feat indoors this winter.

Uelses, 24, will vault against the man whose world standard he shattered, George Davies of Arizona State, and Henry Wadsworth, former Florida University star and two-time Southeastern Conference vaulting champion.

Davis had pushed the bar to 15 feet 10¼ inches in 1961. In the Santa Barbara meet, Davies dropped out after missing at 15-8¼. Uelses went on to try for 16-4 and had two relatively close misses.

The fleet-footed Styron twins, Don and Dave, will add class to the sprint and hurdle events and beef up Northeast, La., State's relay teams. Don holds the world's record in the 220 low hurdles.

In the 2-mile, Fred Norris, 40-year-old McNeese State sophomore and former British olympian, will run against veteran distance star Pat Cloehessy of Houston, Don Eiland of Northeast and Malcolm Robinson of Southwestern.

Relay teams have been entered by Houston, Kansas State, Mississippi State, Louisiana State among others.

Parties have been tres gai, and will continue thus, we trust. Spotlighted this week were several evening dancing-type parties. Best music heard hereabouts in more time than we care to think about was that provided by the Lester Lanin band for the Revelers' spring formal Thursday night.

This first party of the new club year, was held in the Paragon ballroom between eight and twelve midnight. Music was of the caliber that lures non - dancers to the floor and keeps dance-lovers on their feet for four straight hours.

A number of out-of-towners were seen at the affair, including the JOE DAVENPORTS of Mer Rouge; CAREY ELLISES of Rayville; LOUIS MILNERS, JR., of Collinston; and HOLLIS VENABLES of Rayville.

Two lovely ladies of Oak Ridge were noted in our list of outstanding dresses: SARA MOTT, who wore a white crepe sheath with fringed back; and JEANINE WIMBERLEY in black with lace bodice and tiered organza skirt . . . Another eye - catching black dress was the chiffon worn by ARDEN M'DOWELL . . . VIRGINIA ALLEN was in a luscious shade of pink, bodice embroidered with beads and irredescent sequins . . . Appliques of lace edged the neckline and dropped waist of KAK SHELTON's champagne peau d'ange . . . Like a spring garden was FRANCES ADCOCK's starched chiffon, printed all over with flowers in natural colors . . . With a white organza embroidered in red, MARTHA EDMONDSON used red satin shoes and purse.

On tap for this coming weekend is the Monte Carlo party set for Saturday night at Bayou DeSiard country club. Arriving members will receive a supply of play money for use at gaming tables in the young people's lounge. Prizes will be awarded to big winners at the end of the evening. There will be a standing buffet served throughout the party hours, and the Dukes will play for dancing in the ballroom from eight until twelve.

There's nothing such fun as a costume party. As, for example, the Western party given last Saturday night by the Ouachita parish medical auxiliary honoring the medical society on Doctor's Day. This annual day, observed throughout the Southern Medical Association, was celebrated here with a barbecue supper at Bayou DeSiard country club. Tables, arranged in the main ballroom, were covered with red checked cloths and centered with candles in wine bottles wreathed with ivy. A crockery jug filled with ivy was placed on the grand piano, while the player piano was topped with an old churn holding spring flowers.

Red carnations, official flower of Doctors' Day, were used with bridal wreath in the buffet centerpiece. The menu included barbecued chicken and ribs, assorted salads, baked beans, and relishes.

Music for the occasion was supplied by the doctors' band, including these "musicians": BOLLING JONES, FRED MARX, MORTY RAPHAEL, HENRY HAMMONDS, CLAUDE SMITH, JOE MICKEY, DOYLE HAMILTON, R. J. BLANCHARD, PAUL TENNIS, and JIM GEISLER, accompanied by CLIFTON FLINN at the piano. GENE WORTHEN was master of ceremonies.

A can - can number was presented by the auxiliary's chorus line. Those dancing were VIRGINIA WHITAKER BETTY GEISLER, PAT BLANCHARD, CONNIE JONES, BARBARA BROWN, MARIE COOKSTON, and CAROL RAPHAEL. Can-can music was provided by JEAN HAMILTON at the piano.

A skit written by Carol Raphael and depicting a day at the Long Branch Saloon was presented. Those in the cast were Marshal (JACK TOM) DILLON; "KITTY" (BARBARA) BROWN; "CHESTER" MILLSAPS; "DOC" WOLF; and "BLACKIE" BODRON . . . Following the skit, guests were led in a community sing by "Mitch Miller and his brother Pitch," more familiarly known as ROY LEDBETTER and ED BROWN. VELMA WILLEY played for the sing . . . Chairman of this party was KITTY WOLF, assisted by PEGGY FOLDS, co-chairman.

Authentic Western attire was worn by guests as well as those participating on the program. The HENRY GUERRIEROS were in matching blue plaid shirts; "Hers" worn with blue culottes, "His" with blue jeans . . . MARY LEE MILAM was a temperance leader in a floor length aqua dress with long black gloves, black shawl, and a real vintage hat . . . PAULINE SMITH's provincial print was styled with high ruffled neck, long sleeves, and floor length skirt . . . With a blue printed cotton, HELEN LEDBETTER wore a white apron and white pantaloons . . . JUDY WORTHEN and JANE SARTOR were black - wigged Indian squaws.

A "Deck Party" was a gala affair of last night at Bayou DeSiard country club. Hostesses were CINDY ZOLLINGER, JUDY JACOBS, WENDY KING, and LYNN SMITH, whose guests included about one hundred rhembers of the seventh grade set. Shorts, clam diggers, and colorful sport shirts were worn for the party. Streamers of pennants covered the ceiling of the young people's lounge. Soft drinks were served at the snack bar, which was draped with fish nets caught by anchors. Popcorn, potato chips, and cookies were served at side tables covered with blue and white checked cloths. The Abstracts played for dancing from seven - thirty until ten.

Here is Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Elegy Before Death":

There will be rose and rhododendron
Still will be heard from white syringas
Heavy with bees, a sunny sound;
Still will the tamaracks be raining
After the rain has ceased, and still
Will there be robins in the stubble,
Brown sheep upon the warm green hill
Spring will not fail nor autumn falter;
Nothing will know that you are gone,
Saving alone some sullen plowland
None but yourself sets foot upon;
Saving the may-weed and the pig weed
Nothing will know that you are dead.
These, and perhaps a useless wagon
Standing beside some tumbled shed.
Oh, there will pass with your great passing
Little of beauty not your own—
Only the grace from simple stone!

Prevents Rust

When through with the day's gardening, plunge your garden tools into a bucket of sand mixed with oil. This oily sand will scrape off the soil and coat the tools with a light film of grease. Which prevents rust and keeps the tool edge sharp.

More Color, Simple Styles In Handbags

Fashion is well in hand this spring — in a lovely handbag, styled to flatter the new "soft" look of feminine fashions, spring handbags are high in eye appeal, simple in style and light on the budget.

Smooth, grained, suede and patent leather handbags provide color and fashion accents to a multitude of spring costumes. There are roomy clutches in smooth calf, soft kid or nappy suede leathers and a variety of boxes, pouches, totes and satchel bags in antique, patent and grained leathers.

Here this week as guest of the THOMAS DANSBYS was MRS. ROBERT R. McCOY of Hugoton, Kansas, the former Ann Ludwick of Monroe. Linda honored her visitor with a coffee party Monday morning. The party was held at the TOM DAVIS home on Glenmar, where the entrance was decorated with an antique white and gold bowl filled with yellow tulips. The honoree was wearing a sleeveless black blouson sheath.

Friends gathered in the family room, where refreshments were served from a large round table centered with an ironstone tureen holding Lady Banksia roses. All white and brass accessories were used on the table. On the mantel was a large brass candlestick with orange candles wreathed with ivy and spirea.

About thirty ladies called for a visit with Ann, who was honored at several other informal parties during her visit. PAT GODFREY was hostess for a small bridge - luncheon Tuesday at Bayou DeSiard country club. Ann left for Kansas Thursday morning.

For her thirteenth birthday, DEBBY HOLDEN celebrated with a skating party last Saturday afternoon. About sixty friends attended, with DAVID JONES and DELORES STOVALL being judged best skaters. Stop the Music winners were CAROL PATTERSON and JOHN WENDOM. Doughnuts and soft drinks were refreshments.

Here is Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Elegy Before Death":

There will be rose and rhododendron
When you are dead and under ground.
Still will be heard from white syringas
Heavy with bees, a sunny sound;
Still will the tamaracks be raining
After the rain has ceased, and still
Will there be robins in the stubble,
Brown sheep upon the warm green hill
Spring will not fail nor autumn falter;
Nothing will know that you are gone,
Saving alone some sullen plowland
None but yourself sets foot upon;
Saving the may-weed and the pig weed
Nothing will know that you are dead.
These, and perhaps a useless wagon
Standing beside some tumbled shed.
Oh, there will pass with your great passing
Little of beauty not your own—
Only the light from common water,

More Color, Simple Styles In Handbags

Fashion is well in hand this spring — in a lovely handbag. styled to flatter the new "soft" look of feminine fashions, spring handbags are high in eye appeal, simple in style and light on the budget.

Smooth, grained, suede and patent leather handbags provide color and fashion accents to a multitude of spring costumes. There are roomy clutches in smooth calf, soft kid or nappy suede leathers and a variety of boxes, pouches, totes and satchel bags in antique, patent and grained leathers.

The new handbags, whose simple, almost severe lines, are beautifully interpreted in rich supple leathers, blend with classically tailored or highlight fluid spring coat - dresses.

White leather handbags are making a big fashion point this spring as many appear in pure white calf — as well as in lightly grained and patent leathers in bone and off-white tones.

The small daytime clutch, long a favorite in bright luster leathers, appears in sparkling greens, deep coral reds and burnished gold. The French purse in a variety of gleaming leather, has grown into "little handbag" size to accommodate milady's necessities at an afternoon function.

Tint Curtains

When plastic shower curtains have turned a cowardly yellow, wash in the washing machine with mild, warm suds. Then tint with one of the packaged dyes that do not require boiling. Use warm water for rinsing, so that the curtains remain pliable. Hang up dripping wet. The plastic material takes a dye evenly and since it is colorfast, the tint will not rinse off when the shower is used. Note: do not put through a wringer.

New Knits Impressive For Spring

The big story in knits for spring is a double one, with double knits coming sharply into focus as four season fabrics. New double knit blends are designed for spring and summer wear and compare to winter and fall worsted double knits in much the same manner as tropical worsted woven fabrics compare to regular worsteds.

Double knits in cotton are also seen as important spring fabrics in casual wear this season. Lacy cotton knits, forming transparent seashell patterns, and worsted knits that feature foam backing.

Knit styles favored for spring include three-piece ensembles of slim skirts, sashed overblouses and matching narrow coats; blouson dresses, some with matching jackets; and shifts, with matching jackets.

Knit playwear is often ruffled, scalloped, or fringed for spring; bright screen print tops star here. Shapes are straight or boxy, featuring the belted tunic look. Pants go all-out for color in jacquard stripes, over-plaids and exciting prints.

Artificial Fruit

To renew artificial fruits, wash carefully and quickly with lukewarm mild soapsuds, rinse and dry well. Rub a small amount of cold cream on the hands and gently coat the fruit with a thin film by rolling between the fingers. This imparts a delicate fragrance and gives the fruit a natural and beautiful appearance.

New Knits Impressive For Spring

The big story in knits for spring is a double one, with double knits coming sharply into focus as four season fabrics. New double knit blends are designed for spring and summer wear and compare to winter and fall worsted double knits in much the same manner as tropical worsted woven fabrics compare to regular worsteds.

Double knits in cotton are also seen as important spring fabrics in casual wear this season. Lacy cotton knits, forming transparent seashell patterns, and worsted knits that feature foam backing.

Knit styles favored for spring include three-piece ensembles of slim skirts, sashed overblouses and matching narrow coats; blouson dresses, some with matching jackets; and shifts, with matching jackets.

Knit playwear is often ruffled, scalloped, or fringed for spring; bright screen print tops star here. Shapes are straight or boxy, featuring the belted tunic look. Pants go all-out for color in jacquard stripes, over-plaids and exciting prints.

Artificial Fruit

To renew artificial fruits, wash carefully and quickly with lukewarm mild soapsuds, rinse and dry well. Rub a small amount of cold cream on the hands and gently coat the fruit with a thin film by rolling between the fingers. This imparts a delicate fragrance and gives the fruit a natural and beautiful appearance.

Walls, Drapes Should Be Cued To Key Colors

By BETTY PEPIS

Q: My living room is small with cream brick fireplace, ivory Venetian blinds at the four windows. I have one gold chair, one chair in deep turquoise. I would like to paint, get draperies and carpet, new sofa. Could I use a floral sofa? What colors?

A: I feel that walls and draperies should be cued from the creams and ivories you have. How about pale ivory walls and draperies? Painting fireplace to match walls would help minimize its size, give room a feeling of spaciousness. Floral sofa would be all right, suggest you limit it to a print of one color on white however. Sofa print in mustard gold, turquoise or emerald would be most effective. Rug might be slightly darker than the wall, or take its color from turquoise or gold chair. Emerald green, deep black-brown, touches of white and deep coral would be best choices for accessories.

Johnsons Have Majority Here

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — When a caller at the University of Tulsa's Kemp Hall asks for Miss Johnson, he'd better know which one he's looking for.

Pamela, Paula, Anne and Betsy Johnson all live there — and they're cousins. Furthermore, Anne and Betsy, of Oklahoma City, are sisters, and Paula and Pamela, of Tulsa, are twins.

The girls, who live in the same dormitory, belong to the same social sorority. They agree there could be confusion over their name, but they've found little of it.

Pliable Plastic

Plastic drapes, panties or shower curtains will stay soft and pliable if several ounces of glycerine are added to the rinse water.

Transplanting

An apple corer is a good tool to use when transplanting tiny seedlings, for it does less root damage than a trowel would, and makes handling the delicate plants easier.

Use Gravel

Easy Wash

Small articles such as baby socks can be stuffed into a "laundry bag" an old nylon stocking, before being put in the washing machine. A knot in the open end of the stocking will keep the articles confined in the hose no matter how much tumbling they get.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL ROLAND MOODY

Catholic Church Scene Of Moody-Scroggs Vows

Our Lady of Fatima Church was the setting for a double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Susan Eileen Scroggs and Airman Third Class Michael Roland Moody. The Rev. George Martinez officiated at the ceremony on Monday, March 26 at 6 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ellington Scroggs and Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Roland Moody, all of Monroe.

Mrs. Harold Price, organist, played appropriate nuptial selections and accompanied Anthony Danna, who sang "Ave Maria," by Genod and "Mother, Dear Oh Pray For Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor - length gown of white taffeta with fitted bodice of Chantilly lace, fashioned with high neckline and long tapered sleeves. The voluminous taffeta skirt extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of small pearls and she carried a white missal with a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, encircled with pink carnations.

Miss Margaret Lucille Scroggs, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Mary Ellen Smith was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of blue taffeta and chiffon, accented by white accessories.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Jiles N. Davis. Ushers were Pat and Andy Moody, brothers of the bridegroom.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Camellia Drive. The white linen covered table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, adorned with pink roses and topped by a miniature bride and groom. Miss Melanie Moody, sister of the bridegroom, had charge of the bride's book. Miss Wilda Shows presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Robert Dean Saterfield served the cake, assisted by Miss Sherran Reid.

Out-ot-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. James P. White, Bonita; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Beaver, Pineville and Mr. and Mrs. I. W. McCarty of Dodson.

Johnsons Have Majority Here

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — When a caller at the University of Tulsa's Kemp Hall asks for Miss Johnson, he'd better know which one he's looking for.

Pamela, Paula, Anne and Betsy Johnson all live there — and they're cousins. Furthermore, Anne and Betsy, of Oklahoma City, are sisters, and Paula and Pamela, of Tulsa, are twins.

The girls, who live in the same dormitory, belong to the same social sorority. They agree there could be confusion over their name, but they've found little of it.

Pliable Plastic

Plastic drapes, panties or shower curtains will stay soft and pliable if several ounces of glycerine are added to the rinse water.

Transplanting

An apple corer is a good tool to use when transplanting tiny seedlings, for it does less root damage than a trowel would, and makes handling the delicate plants easier.

Use Gravel

MISS JUDY ORETTA FULLER

Easy Wash

Small articles such as baby socks can be stuffed into a "laundry bag" an old nylon stocking, before being put in the washing machine. A knot in the open end of the stocking will keep the articles confined in the hose no matter how much tumbling they get.

Crews-Fuller Wedding Set For April 21

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Fuller of West Monroe, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Judy Oretta Fuller to Thomas Eugene Crews, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crews of Monroe.

The ceremony will take place on April 21 at 10 a.m. in Re-Organized Latter Day Saints Church with Elder Marion Hentsmen officiating.

The bride will have as her matron of honor and only attendant, Mrs. Hellen Fuller.

Serving as best man will be Gerald Fuller. Ushers will be George Phillips and Robert Lyons.

Miss Fuller is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Yeager and the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fuller. She is a graduate of West Monroe High School. The future bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Anna Smith and the late Emory L. Smith and the late Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Crews, and is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School.

Stretch Shoes To Offer Balm To Tortured Feet

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Stretch shoes may soon spell doom to men's jests about vain females who submit their extremities to torturous ordeals in the name of fashion.

High style spandex shoes now being readied for the retail market may prove to be even more comfortable than grandmother's highly respected so - called sensible shoes.

The shoes with stretch linings as well as stretch outer fabric will expand in every direction to accommodate swelling feet.

Or they will enlarge here and there to make room for a bigger than average toe, or a bunion. They will fit as snugly and readjust as necessarily as a pair of stretch pants.

They will not, however, stretch several sizes larger in order to accommodate vanity.

At present the material — an elasticized, test - tube - produced fiber without any rubber in it—is in short supply. When more quanities of it are available, it will probably be used to make popularly priced shoes, says Andrew Camos, president of the company now supplying the fabric to couture shoe manufacturers.

The high fashion styles now in production for late spring and fall will retail for about $25.

The fabric has a silken look which may be dyed an unlimited number of hues and woven into a variety of patterns and textures, Vamos says.

Cleaning the shoes is a matter of brushing the dust off. The material is treated with a water and stain repellent finish. Vamos claims his company has been testing the fabric for satisfactory wearability for more than a year.

Twenty - five years ago his father Alfred Vamos produced the first comfort shoe using rubber elastic lining and rubber laminated lining and rubber laminated to leather so that it would stretch, son Andrew says. Because of their early experiments with stretch shoes, the organization was invited to experiment with the rubberless stretch product created in the laboratories of a textile research company.

Because the stretch shoes lack rubber, they do not cause feet to perspire or create an unpleasant odor.

April 21 Vows Set By Couple

April 21 is the date chosen for their wedding by Miss Monika E. Koch of Wichita, Kansas, and Neckarrems, Germany and Airman First Class James Harvey Chapman of West Monroe, and Wichita.

Miss Koch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Koch of Neckarrems, Germany and is presently employed in Wichita.

Mr. Chapman is the son of Mrs. Mildred Chapman and the late Truman W. Chapman of West Monroe. He is in the Base Procurement Division at McConnell Air Force Base in Wichita. He is the grandson of Harvey May, also of West Monroe.

The wedding vows will be exchanged at Trinity Baptist Church in West Monroe, at 2 p.m. The Rev. Marvin Stone, uncle of the prospective bridegroom, will perform the ceremony.

Gardener's Hint

A novel way to start seedlings consists of filling empty eggshells with soil, planting seeds in them and setting the eggshells in the cardboard egg box. When the little plants come up, set the planted eggshells in the flower beds, and you will not have to disturb the roots.

Keeps Stiff

Cream which has been beaten ahead of time will keep its stiffness and not become watery if one tablespoon of plain gelatin is added to 1 quart of heavy cream before the whipping.

Leachman-Millikin Vows Exchanged By Candlelight

First Methodist Church in Oak Grove was the setting Sunday, March 25 at 3 p.m. for the candlelight ceremony which united in marriage Miss Rachel Gray Millikin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Millikin, and Royce Leachman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Leachman of Monroe.

Vows were exchanged in a double ring ceremony with the Rev. W. O. Lynch officiating. Pedestal baskets of white gladioli and leather leaf fern tied with white satin bows flanked either side of the white satin prie dieu, with three seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers in the background. Potted Boston ferns banked the chancel rail and family pews were marked with white satin bows.

A concert of nuptial music was presented by Miss Charlotte Sanford, organist, who accompanied Ralph M. Dozier Jr. of Delhi, as he sang "Because," and at conclusion of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional floor-length gown of white Alencon lace and silk peau de soie with overskirt of net featuring a short chapel train. The basque bodice of Alencon lace was styled with Sabrina neckline outlined with appliques of re-embroidered seed pearls and sequins, and long sleeves tapered to lily points over the wrists. The lace applique motifs were repeated on the bouffant peau de soie skirt, styled with a center panel of lace encrusted with seed pearls and sequins. Her triple tiered veil of silk illusion fell fingertip length from a princess tiara of pearls. Her only adornment was a necklace, a miniature rose of hand-carved ivory, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a purple throated orchid encircled by lily of the valley atop a Bible, covered with lace and peau de soie.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Warren Evans of Lake Providence, matron of honor, wore a gown of white net over taffeta, with full skirt ruffled from the waist to the floor. Her corsage was of variegated carnations in shades from white to deep red. Bridesmaids dresses were styled identically to the honor attendant in different shades. Miss Deanie Sammons wore pink net; Miss Sandra Bennett wore blue and Miss Emily Bigelow wore blue net and lace. Their corsages were of carnations to complement their gowns.

Carmen and Peggy Davis of West Monroe, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore identical floor-length frocks of white chiffon over azure blue organdy, styled with empire bodice and full skirts. They carried white baskets of rose petals tied with azure blue ribbon to match their sashes.

Candles were lighted by Richard Gray Millikin and Luther Gray, brothers of the bride.

Milton Smith of West Monroe, served the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Richard Gray Millikin, Luther Gray and Kent Davis.

Mrs. Millikin, mother of the bride, wore a beige silk sheath, accented with bands of dyed to match lace and pink flower half hat with brief veil. Her corsage was of pink feathered carnations. The bridegroom's step - mother wore a parakeet blue linen ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of white carnation.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in Fellowship Hall of the church. A white and green theme was carried out in all appointments. White tulips in a milk glass bowl graced the table where Mrs. Luther Gray registered guests in the bride's book. The refreshment table overlaid with a white linen cloth edged with wide lace was centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and maidenhair fern in a crystal bowl. Frosted lime green punch was served by Mrs. James Earl Shivers Jr. Miss Charlotte Sanford served the tiered wedding cake.

Tea girls were Miss Marcia Sanders, niece of the bride and Misses Tometta Shivers, Ann Rountree and Jeanette Johns.

'Lefties' Are Estimated At Five Million

If your child is left - handed, he (or she) is by no means an exception. He is among the estimated five million children of school age who are "southpaws." Any parents who may be unduly concerned should know that Babe Ruth, Michaelangelo, ex-President Truman and Leonardo da Vinci are some of the outstanding successful "lefties."

Scientists say there is no single reason for left handedness. Heredity, environment, learning, practice, training, chance factors and individual personality traits all help to determine hand preference. Left - handed people frequently show preference for the left eye, left ear and left foot, just as those who are right -handed favor the right eye, right ear and right foot. Otherwise, the left - handed boy or girl is in no way different from the right-handed child.

Hand preference is well - established by the time a child reaches school age, and most authorities agree that no attempt should be made to force the boy or girl "southpaw" to become right - handed. Psychologists believe that a left - handed child compelled to change to his right hand will usually be less successful in activities such as writing, games of skill and in using tools.

So that he isn't made to feel different or inferior, a left -handed youngster should be told that there is no "right" or "wrong" hand to use in throwing a ball or holding a fork or pencil. Rather, he should be given greater encouragement to develop his own capabilities with his left hand. "Lefties" should be impressed with the fact that being left-handed is perfectly correct and normal.

Many child guidance experts point out the possible dangers of nervousness, speech difficulties and other complications if children are pressed to change from using the left hand. By their attitude, parents can help a child accept his left - handedness as perfectly normal even though occasionally it may be inconvenient.

Left - handed children should be given greater attention and training so that they will master skills in using their hands. They should be shown how to adopt a comfortable writing position, how to hold a pen and pencil with fingers well back from the point, how to slant the paper at an angle and other techinques to make writing easy. Left - handed youngsters need guidance even more than do right - handed children because most games and tools have been designed for a right - handed world.

Leachman-Millikin Vows Exchanged By Candlelight

First Methodist Church in Oak Grove was the setting Sunday, March 25 at 3 p.m. for the candlelight ceremony which united in marriage Miss Rachel Gray Millikin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Millikin, and Royce Leachman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Leachman of Monroe.

Vows were exchanged in a double ring ceremony with the Rev. W. O. Lynch officiating. Pedestal baskets of white gladioli and leather leaf fern tied with white satin bows flanked either side of the white satin prie dieu, with three seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers in the background. Potted Boston ferns banked the chancel rail and family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Guinea Talks Plan Approved By Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Subandrio declared Saturday Indonesia has accepted in principle a U.S. formula for resumption of talks with the Netherlands on the future of disputed West New Guinea.

Subandrio told newsmen after meeting President Sukarno a draft agenda for the resumed talks had been submitted to the government by U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones.

The agenda is acceptable to Indonesia in principle, Subandrio said, but the attitude of the Netherlands will be awaited before a definite decision to resume talks is made.

Subandrio would not elaborate on the contents of the agenda but the U.S. proposal is reported to suggest that a U.N. commissioner, possibly America's Ellsworth Bunker, be appointed in West New Guinea to supervise gradual withdrawal of Dutch troops and officials and progressive replacement by Indonesian personnel.

ABANDONED TOTS — Mrs. Essie Bruce (L) and Mrs. L. M. Chaney (R) amuse two scantily clad children found in Baton Rouge at an all night self-service laundry. The boy, about two years and the girl about 11 months are in a welfare receiving home while the police continue an intensive but so far fruitless investigation to learn their identity. Police theorize their parents are from out of state. (AP Wirephoto)

NUCLEAR RESEARCH

Power Of Little Atom Is Amazing

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The powerful little atom "continues to amaze scientist and layman alike."

So says the Atomic Energy Commission in a recent review of AEC-sponsored nuclear research projects. For example:

—One common radioactive material is used to power an unmanned radio transmitter that automatically sends back weather information from the frozen Arctic.

Meanwhile, atomic heat is running nuclear power plants on land and in space, and also at sea — as witness all the atomic submarines, the carrier enterprise and the nuclear merchant ship Savannah.

Research with radioactive materials suggests many lines of fruitful study. But breakthroughs, the AEC notes, "come rarely." Progress depends on "a steady accretion of knowledge." Nevertheless:

—A substance has been tested which may be able to carry killing amounts of radiation to cancer cells without doing great harm to normal cells.

—A means of radiation sterilization has been discovered which may be used to eliminate cotton's boll weevil menace.

—Why people, and animals and plants, get old may be explained by the effect of natural radiation on individual cells of the organism.

—Radiation studies have uncovered a brain center which, normally, limits food intake. When radiation was used to destroy this center in mice, they ate and ate and ate until they weighed 10 times as much as normal.

—As a byproduct of research with radiation, it was discovered that a certain yeast extract reduced the level of cholesterol in rats despite a high-fat diet. Cholesterol may be involved in artery-hardening diseases which kill many human beings.

The AEC has found that its research extends naturally into many fields of scientific investigation. Because it must some day find safe means of disposing of radioactive materials, the commission has engaged in oceanographic studies.

In so doing it discovered that water below the half-mile level in the North Atlantic stays there about 650 years on the average before it diffuses somewhere else.

School Official Is Recovering

FERRIDAY (Special)—Hugh A. Bateman, 54, Concordia Parish superintendent of education, is recuperating at the Ferriday Hospital following injuries received Thursday afternoon in an automobile accident near Ferriday on the Ferriday-Vidalia highway.

Supt. Bateman, who was alone in his car at the time of the accident was en-route home from his office in Vidalia when the accident occurred. He was not seriously hurt.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Library Week Starts Today

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

Today is the first day of National Library Week. All over this great country of ours, people are paying tribute to the pleasures of reading and the value of libraries. In Ouachita Parish there are libraries of all types for you to use. Did you know that there are 25,000,000 people in the United States who have no library service at all and 10,000,000 more have no library service at all? In Ouachita Parish we have an excellent system of Public Libraries, A fine College Library, which will soon be housed in a new building, numerous High School and Elementary School Libraries and a fine group of church libraries. All of these facilities are yours to use and enjoy. Why not make it a must on your list of activities for the coming week to visit one of the libraries. Of course I want to extend to you a most cordial invitation to visit the Ouachita Parish Public Library at one of it's locations. See what we have to offer you and remember that the tax which supports the library comes up for renewal next Tuesday, April 17.

This week, as every week, there are a number of interesting new books, which you will want to read. Katherine Anne Porter has a new title called "Ship of Fools." Over a period of many years Miss Porter has devoted her creative energy and her great gifts as a storyteller to this major work. It is a novel on the grand scale, and its endless variety of scenes and characters is the variety of life itself. The story covers a period of twenty - seven days in which the ship "Vera" travelled from Varacruz Mexico to Bremerhaven, Germany, in the year 1931. This is the story of the people on this trip and the journey can be compared to the journey of life itself.

"Capitol Hill" is the title of the new book by Andrew Tully, who has had a long term of experience with the newspaper field in Washington. This book will be compared with Drury's "Advise and Consent". It is a book which everyone interested in the political events of the past few years will want to read from its dazzling first page to its surprising, yet inevitable and satisfying close. "Castle Dor" is the title of a book which was begun by the later Sir Artuhr Quiller-Couch and was finished by Daphne Du Maurier. It is a modern retelling of the Tristram legend and is very well done.

The field of non - fiction offers several titles of interest. "Spain and the Defense of the West" is the title of a book by Arthur Whitaker, which brings us up-to - date on affairs in Spain. Two new volumnes of the autobiography of Herbert Hoover, volumes 2 and 3, give an interesting picture of his activities at the close of World War I. Darrell Huff has written a book which should be valuable to students and others who take tests of various kinds. It is called "Score; the Strategy of Taking Tests." Boys will be interested in "How To Make and Use a Telescope" by H. P. Wilkins. Stories of medical background are always popular and a new non-fiction book should also attract interest. It is "Doctor's Dilemmas" by Louis Lasagna.

Gardeners and flower arrangers have two titles of interest this week. One is "Gifts from the Garden" by Suzanne James, which contains much excellent and interesting information. The other is "Ground Covers for Easier Gardening" by Daniel J. Foley.

The field of literature has several fine books this week. "The Old West in Fiction" is a collection of the best western stories by I. R. Blacker. "In the Clearing" is the title of a new book by Robert Frost and contains much of his lovely poetry. "James Fenimore Cooper and the Development of American Sea Fiction" is a very fine discussion of Cooper's work by Thomas Philbrick. "Character - Sketches in Pope's Poems" is a thorough critique of the work of Alexander Pope, written by Benjamin Boye. "The Art of George Eliot" was written by W. J. Harvey and is a most valuable criticism of her work. The later three books are the type which are in constant demand by students.

Books in the field of archaeology are very popular. A new title written for young people is "Lost Cities and Vanished Cvilizations" by Robert Silberberg. A new guide book, which should be much used is "Fodor's Guide to the Caribbean, Bahamas and Bermuda" by Eugene Fodor. A book which all students of Louisiana history are going to want to read is "The Siege of New Orleans" by Charles B. Brooks. This is the book which won the Louisiana Literary Award for the outstanding book about Louisiana published in 1961. It is a very fine account of the War of 1812, Andrew Jackson and the Battle which freed the city of British rule. An interesting addition to the literature of the Civil War is "The Valiant Hours: an Irishman in the Civil War" by Thomas Francis Galway.

Two additions to the biography collections will be popular one is by Charales Howard Crawford and is called "Scenes of Earlier Days," in crossing the plains to Oregon and Experience of Western life. The other is the new biography of Francis Scott Fitzgerald written by Andrew Turnbull. The author really makes the subject come alive as a man and as an author.

Tourists Set Capital Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record number of tourists—18,229—filed through the White House Saturday.

The White House press office said this exceeded the previous record for a single day by about 5,000.

SET RECORD IN 1893

Former Rail Queen To Enter Museum

CHICAGO (AP) — A venerable queen came to town Saturday, and none of her old admirers—if any still are around—came out to greet her.

Of course, the hour was inconvenient, 2:15 a.m. and the place was out of the way, the Englewood railroad yards on the South Side.

No. 999 was the first steam-driven locomotive to pull a passenger train at more than 100 miles an hour. It was on May 10, 1893. She was clocked at 112.5 m.p.h. near Batavia, N. Y., on a run from Rochester to Buffalo.

She has been out of service and in storage for 30 years. She was brought to Chicago to be placed on exhibition at the Museum of Science and Industry—a classical structure that served as the Fine Arts Building at the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893.

Things have changed for No. 999 since then. She has lost her speed. In fact, she was towed—backward—into the yards by an upstart diesel.

While plans for switching and towing her to the museum were being worked out, No. 999 stood alone amid strings of boxcars and tank cars and idle cabooses.

She looked old and dingy and her paint was peeling. But regal touches still were visible—the famous numerals on headlight, sand dome and cab. And "Empire State Express" spelled out on the coal tender in high, proud script.

But very few came out to look in daylight. But the elderly dowager didn't go unattended. A railroad detective kept an eye on her.

"So," said the yard's trainmaster, Vic Wayne, "nobody will take the bell off her."

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Last week's TV and Garden Center show featured flower arrangements made by arrangers from the 5th District Federated clubs for the 14th State Annual Flower Show of the Louisiana Garden Club Federation held in Lake Charles, March 30 through March 31.

The theme of the state show, "Beauty, Every Gardener's Goal," reflected in each of these arrangements.

The Artistic Design Sections of the show were inspired by the words of John Taylor Arms who wrote, "Design in Flower Arrangement," when he said, "So, feel beauty, think beauty, express beauty, that the world may become a better place in which to live." Thus the three design sections were Feel Beauty, Think Beauty, Express Beauty.

GOOD SHOWING

Our Fifth District exhibitors made a wonderful showing. We are so proud of all of them. I saw the show and I wished that I could bring all of the designs back with me to show on TV just in case you did not get to see them in Lake Charles. Luckily, I did get a few to display on last week's program.

Mrs. J. M. Mooney, from Jonesboro, brought her arrangement, a blue ribbon winner, for us to show. Her class assignment was "Secrets of the Marshland," a design utilizing water loving plants found in or by the marsh. She used the exquisite orchids, (cypripedium) or lady slipper, against a background of slender cypress roots and tall wild Louisiana iris leaves. The design was made on a dark brown bamboo mat.

This design rated a red ribbon, or second place in it's class. For the TV show, Mrs. Tolar substituted red tulips and white spirea since the roses and stock couldn't last long enough from the state show. This design was made to portray the greatest of human emotions, Love.

'FEEL BEAUTY'

Mrs. John Lewis, of Monroe, entered her design in Section I, "Feel Beauty." Her class was "Beauty of Ceramics," a still life exhibit to emphasize texture and color of ceramic containers or objects. Her design was made by using the budding sweet gum or line material. New loquat leaf clusters for the focal point in a lovely textured ceramic container. Blue, green and grey colors were combined. A green textured frog was used as an accessory. The background was formed by draping textured fabrics of blue-green and plaids of blue into green. A lovely combination of colors and textures. This design rated the blue ribbon award, first place in it's class.

Mrs. J. G. Mitchell and Mrs. Ed Brown from Wisner, entered the class "Feeling of Serenity." Their design reflected a tranquility of mind and spirit. For this design they used the lovely calla lilies against a background of aspidestra leaves. The container was a soft white ceramic urn-type container. This design was finished by placing it on a footed black base. This was a long-lasting design. In fact, it lasted long enough for our TV show and still looked lovely after a week's time. this design was awarded second place, the red ribbon.

Mrs. Morris L. Johnson, of Monroe, placed her club's assignment in Section H, "Think Beauty," class, "Think of the Present," a modern design to show the influence of modern art and architecture. Mrs. Johnsnn used the equisedium for her line material in a tall brown ceramic container. She made the parabolic curve in her design, and featured three slender yellow calla lilies for the focal point. A lovely design that rated the yellow ribbon, third place, in her class.

Other award winners in design division from 5th district were: Mrs. D. O'Neal Jr., Ruston-blue ribbon - class, "The Gale"; Mrs. R. L. Vining, Ruston, red ribbon, class "Aloha"; Mrs. Paul Bourg, Hodge, Yellow ribbon, third place, class, "Beauty of Wood."

Other awards won in 5th district were flower show award, "Rose Rosette," the Lincoln Council of Federated Garden Clubs; special conservation award, Ruston Garden Club; and, Blue ribbon club award, Jonesboro Garden Club, the Ruston Garden Club, and The Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities. If there are others that I have left out, please let me hear from you. I tried to list them all, but, I could have made an error in getting them all. We are proud of all our 5th district clubs - and our arrangers. Congratulations.

Next week watch for Dr. John Wright from Ruston Tech on flower arranging.

Reminder, registration for the flower show school I begins at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Monroe Community Center, 3900 Westminister Lane.

Those choosing to take the full course plus examinations will pay $6. One part of the course will be $2.50. The Flower Show course will be on Wednesday. The Flower Show lecture by Mrs. C. T. Payne will take place Wednesday afternoon. The horticulture course given by Prof. C. C. Hobgood, will be Thursday. Exams will take place on Friday. Hope to see all of you there, so, make your plans.

"The neatest way to apply bias tape on material is to turn the narrow edge of the bias fold out, and stitch along the wrong side of the tape, on the fold line.

"Then fold the bias over onto the right side of material and stitch close to the edge. In this way you will never have a part of the tape that hasn't been caught in the seam. This will work wonders if you do a lot of aprons etc., for your church bazaar.

ADJUST SEAM

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Your interesting column has been a great help to me, now I am hoping you will answer my question. My one shoulder is lower than the other, which causes wrinkles to fall in the bodice on the low side. What is the correct way to fix this?"

Mrs. H. S.

Dear Mrs. H. S.:

Instead of relying on an extra shoulder pad, which was the way this situation was formerly corrected, take up the shoulder seam about ½ inch, tapering to nothing at the neck edge. Now when you can see the wrinkles disappear, you will know you have taken up the correct amount. Since you have made the armhole smaller, you will have to cut out the lower edge of the armhole the same amount that you have taken out of the shoulder, tapering to nothing at the notch in front and back of the armhole.

HALF PATTERN

"Dear Eunice,

"Is it possible to make a blouse from a dress pattern? I think it is very hard to find nice blouse patterns and I do have a favorite neckline on a dress."

Mrs. A. R.

Dear Mrs. A. R.:

Yes, this is possible, and not too difficult. Since all blouses need a little extra "ease," in other words, they are not fitted as close as a dress, allow a little extra length. You could lay a skirt pattern over the bodice pattern, and in this way you would get the correct curve for the hipline. However, once again, I want to warn you that you must allow for more length in the bodice, and a little extra in the width. Your blouse should be about 6 inches below the waist so it does not slip out of your skirt easily.

Many women forget that a skirt can be made from any skirt of a dress pattern. You do not need to buy an extra pattern for the skirt if you have a favorite one. Just cut it as usual, making any pattern changes necessary for fitting, and then apply the waistband.

AVOID PLEATS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I carry most of my weight from the hips down. Please tell me what kind of skirt would be the most becoming to my figure. Your column is wonderful for those of us who would like to sew but do not know how. Many thanks."

Mrs. J. L. B.

Dear Mrs. J. L. B.:

If most of your weight is in the hips, avoid pleated and very full skirts. Instead of hiding anything, they make you look larger. You could wear a fourgore skirt that has a little fullness at the lower end of the skirt, or a one piece skirt in front, with 3 sections in the back for extra ease. If a straight skirt is fitted properly, I really feel that this can be your most becoming style.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Blouson: This is a term that has been used a great deal in recent years in describing ready to wear clothes as well as patterns. It simply means a little extra "blouse" or fullness above the waistline. Sometimes this is very exaggerated, but it can be adjusted so that it is becoming to your own figure.

Please send questions to Sew Simple, in care of Monroe Morning World. If you need help inserting sleeves, send for Eunice Farmer's 10-cent booklet, "All About Sleeves." Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of this newspaper.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Best Daffodil Season Noted

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Over most of the Southern states this has been the best daffodil season we have seen in many years. The cold winter held back even the little early trumpets and sweet jonquils as much as two to three weeks in some sections.

Early varieties like Fortune did not get their stems frozen down after they had opened as they usually do, and the horrendous wind, rain and hail that so frequently come during the opening of many fine varieties relented this year. In the upper south, of course, the season is just coming into full swing, and there is to be a big show in Nashville, Tenn. this week.

PLAN CAREFULLY

Because of weather hazards in spring, it is worthwhile to plan where you will plant the fine kinds of daffodils. The high limbs and branches of large shade trees afford perhaps the best protection because they break the fall of heavy rains ane hail that often mash daffodils flat in March.

Tall pines are excellent protection. People still persist in the belief that "nothing will grow under a pine tree." They are a little amazed to see 10-year-old beds flourishing in some of the show gardens of the south. These beds, however, were well prepared to start with. The areas were subsoiled and all tree roots were removed, and then the soil was enriched with humus and bone meal. Each year, too, the bulbs were fed by scattering a light feeding of commercial fertilizer over the beds.

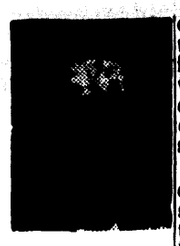
As we have noted in the column before, not all varieties of daffodils stand up equally well to the weather in spring. Nor do all varieties persist equally well in southern gardens. The early flowering Fortune that so often gets its stems frozen at ground level is a persistent variety that most daffodil lovers will always grow. Most of us pick the flowers and are glad to have such harbingers of spring.

One of the best of the daffodils that looks like Fortune but blooms later is Quirinus. The little orange cup of this flower makes it stand out well in any landscape. The flowers stand up well to the weather and last as long as those of any daffodil out-of-doors. They even seem to fade gracefully and 1939 was the year of its introduction by the firm of Lubbe. Since that time, it has won the Award of Merit at Haarlem and the Forcing Award that proves it is easy to raise in the greenhouse in winter.

Most of the "pink" daffodils stand up well to weather. Lady Kesteven, with white petals and a brilliant red-orange small cup is another splendid flower in all weather. By now, most gardeners have fallen in love with Thalia with its two or more butterfly-like white flowers that bloom just ahead of the dogwood and right with redbud trees. Since redbud has no shallow roots, Thalie can be planted under this kind of tree and stay there permanently. When a carpet or an edger of Phlox subulata, either white or pink - purple is added, you have a telling group.

EXTENSION NEWS

Divide Mum Plants Soon



By AUDREY H. DAWSON

April or May is the month to divide large chrysanthemum plants. Failure to divide plants will cause weak spindly growth with few flowers. New plants can be set out from April to June.

Allow adequate space for good root growth. Chrysanthemums need plant food and plenty moisture. Special care during the summer months will pay off in rich dividends in the fall. For cuttings be sure to choose healthy new shoots about three to four inches long and remove all but the top four leaves.

They may be rooted in coarse sand, a mixture of equal parts of sand and peat, or perlite, or a mixture of equal parts of perlite and peat. Treatment with a root inducing material will hasten the rooting process.

SEED SCHEDULE

Seed that may be planted now include four o'clock, cosmos, zennia, petunia, perwinkle, marigold, celosia, sweet alyssium and nasturtium.

Be sure to keep on a planned spray schedule to control leaf spot and aphids (plant lice) if you want to have beautiful roses this spring and summer. A good formula to use is one teaspoon captan, one tablespoon malathion to one gallon of water. This should be used as a spray once each week.

Prune all spring flowering plants such as the spireas, flowering quince, weigela and premose jasmine after they have bloomed. First remove all dead and diseased wood which may have resulted from winter freeze. There is an art to successful pruning. One of a shrub's worst enemies is a pair of pruning shears in the hands of a person who does not know how to use the tool. Do not destroy the form of a plant by hasty pruning. Make a selective type pruning instead of shearing which gives a very rigid unnatured form. Study the form of the plant and attempt to keep this form.

Now is an excellent time to prune those nandinas if you have not already done so. It's time for new growth and the plant will not look ragged for more than a few days. Remember to stagger the pruning so that there will be new growth from the ground up. If you prune all limbs the same height it will leave an ugly plant and I think this is the reason why a great number of people dislike the nandina plant. This is one of our most satisfying plants. I have never known a disease nor insect to attack this plant. In the summer months foliage is green which gives a cooling effect to the landscape in the fall and winter the red berries and folinge give a warm effect and are excellent to use in the home in arrangements.

DEMONSTRATION

A slip cover demonstration will be held Monday and Tuesday mornings. On Monday the demonstration will consist of measuring and making pattern for the cover. The demonstration on Tuesday will be making the slip cover. If you, Mrs. Homemaker, are planning to make a slip cover this spring, don't miss the new method of making them. It's easier and quicker. The demonstration will begin at 9:00 o'clock each morning.

FASHION NOTES

I know you, Mrs. Homemaker, are busy getting the feminine members of the family all dressed for the Easter Parade, so here's a few notes on fashion. The spring color is pale and creamy, bonbon pastel shades frosted white form a softly lighted background for newly revived bright navy. Bold black and white combinations are seen everywhere. Citrus tones - apricot, lime, creamy ornage, peach, melon, yellow and tangerine are ready to dislodge the popular pink we raved about in sixty one. Navy brightened and lightened, teamed with red and white, form a patricotic tricolor. Sky and celestral blues are enjoying a timely revival.

Hats of course are in the limelight too. The smartness of simple straws stand out conspiciously in the midst of a variety that includes flowers, sheers and prints, all with feeling of airness.

The four button glove an outgrowth of the new lengthening sleeve promises to keep the glove in the news for this spring - in both fabric and leather. Shorties will become a favorite later in the spring when the weather gets hotter. White will be in all its glory.

There are several new products that you, Mrs. Homemaker, will be seeing on the counters that may be the answer to your problem. A new marking guide made of aluminum is designed to be a handy tool for the sewing room. It is about 13 by 4 inches in size, this guide is a good ruler, in addition it is equipped for marking squares, circles, triangles, and various sized scallops for decorative purposes.

A marking pencil is another new. This pencil provides three different colors for the home sewers use when easily seen markings on fabric are needed. A brush is also included to remove the marking off the material after the machine stitching has been completed.

A tracing wheel with smooth edge and a magnet for picking up pins is another new notions item. The smooth edge of the wheel permits making accurate dart and tuck markings without damaging the pattern or the table surface on which one is working.

Mrs. Homemaker, there are several uses of baking soda (pure soda bicarbonate) other than in the food preparation area as a leavening agent. Try these if you need; after cutting onions, dampen hands and sprinkle baking soda over them, rub hard, rinse and dry.

Do you have marble topped furniture to clean. Wash in a solution of three tablespoons of baking soda in one quart of warm water. Let stand a few minutes then rinse it off with warm water. For stubborn stains, rub with a soda paste and dry with a soft cloth.

To remove burned food from a frying pan, sprinkle generously with baking soda, cover and let stand a few minutes. The food will easily rub off.

If your iron is starch stained rub with a cloth or sponge sprinkled with baking soda and all starch will disappear.

Best Daffodil Season Noted

Most of the "pink" daffodils stand up well to weather. Lady Kesteven, with white petals and a brilliant red-orange small cup is another splendid flower in all weather. By now, most gardeners have fallen in love with Thalia with its two or more butterfly-like white flowers that bloom just ahead of the dogwood and right with redbud trees. Since redbud has no shallow roots, Thalie can be planted under this kind of tree and stay there permanently. When a carpet or an edger of Phlox subulata, either white or pink - purple is added, you have a telling group.

Divide Mum Plants Soon

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

April or May is the month to divide large chrysanthemum plants. Failure to divide plants will cause weak spindly growth with few flowers. New plants can be set out from April to June.

Allow adequate space for good root growth. Chrysanthemums need plant food and plenty moisture. Special care during the summer months will pay off in rich dividends in the fall. For cuttings be sure to choose healthy new shoots about three to four inches long and remove all but the top four leaves.

They may be rooted in coarse sand, a mixture of equal parts of sand and peat, or perlite, or a mixture of equal parts of perlite and peat. Treatment with a root inducing material will hasten the rooting process.

SEED SCHEDULE

Seed that may be planted now include four o'clock, cosmos, zennia, petunia, perwinkle, marigold, celosia, sweet alyssium and nasturtium.

Be sure to keep on a planned spray schedule to control leaf spot and aphids (plant lice) if you want to have beautiful roses this spring and summer. A good formula to use is one teaspoon captan, one tablespoon malathion to one gallon of water. This should be used as a spray once each week.

Prune all spring flowering plants such as the spireas, flowering quince, weigela and premose jasmine after they have bloomed. First remove all dead and diseased wood which may have resulted from winter freeze. There is an art to successful pruning. One of a shrub's worst enemies is a pair of pruning shears in the hands of a person who does not know how to use the tool. Do not destroy the form of a plant by hasty pruning. Make a selective type pruning instead of shearing which gives a very rigid unnatured form. Study the form of the plant and attempt to keep this form.

Now is an excellent time to prune those nandinas if you have not already done so. It's time for new growth and the plant will not look ragged for more than a few days. Remember to stagger the pruning so that there will be new growth from the ground up. If you prune all limbs the same height it will leave an ugly plant and I think this is the reason why a great number of people dislike the nandina plant. This is one of our most satisfying plants. I have never known a disease nor insect to attack this plant. In the summer months foliage is green which gives a cooling effect to the landscape in the fall and winter the red berries and foliage give a warm effect and are excellent to use in the home in arrangements.

DEMONSTRATION

A slip cover demonstration will be held Monday and Tuesday mornings. On Monday the demonstration will consist of measuring and making pattern for the cover. The demonstration on Tuesday will be making the slip cover. If you, Mrs. Homemaker, are planning to make a slip cover this spring, don't miss the new method of making them. It's easier and quicker. The demonstration will begin at 9:00 o'clock each morning.

FASHION NOTES

I know you, Mrs. Homemaker, are busy getting the feminine members of the family all dressed for the Easter Parade, so here's a few notes on fashion. The spring color is pale and creamy, bonbon pastel shades frosted white form a softly lighted background for newly revived bright navy. Bold black and white combinations are seen everywhere. Citrus tones - apricot, lime, creamy ornage, peach, melon, yellow and tangerine are ready to dislodge the popular pink we raved about in sixty one. Navy brightened and lightened, teamed with red and white, form a patricotic tricolor. Sky and celestral blues are enjoying a timely revival.

Hats of course are in the limelight too. The smartness of simple straws stand out conspiciously in the midst of a variety that includes flowers, sheers and prints, all with feeling of airness.

The four button glove an outgrowth of the new lengthening sleeve promises to keep the glove in the news for this spring - in both fabric and leather. Shorties will become a favorite later in the spring when the weather gets hotter. White will be in all its glory.

Ruffles and flounces spell fashion and femininity. Look for sissy shirtwaist dresses and blouses rimmed with ruggles.

There are several new products that you, Mrs. Homemaker, will be seeing on the counters that may be the answer to your problem. A new marking guide made of aluminum is designed to be a handy tool for the sewing room. It is about 13 by 4 inches in size, this guide is a good ruler, in addition it is equipped for marking squares, circles, triangles, and various sized scallops for decorative purposes.

A marking pencil is another new. This pencil provides three differnt colors for the home sewers use when easily seen markings on fabric are needed. A brush is also included to remove the marking off the material after the machine stitching has been completed.

A tracing wheel with smooth edge and a magnet for picking up pins is another new notions item. The smooth edge of the wheel permits making accurate dart and tuck markings without damaging the pattern or the table surface on which one is working.

Mrs. Homemaker, there are several uses of baking soda (pure soda bicarbonate) other than in the food preparation area as a leavening agent. Try these if you need; after cutting onions, dampen hands and sprinkle baking soda over them, rub hard, rinse and dry.

Do you have marble topped furniture to clean. Wash in a solution of three tablespoons of baking soda in one quart of warm water. Let stand a few minutes then rinse it off with warm water. For stubborn stains, rub with a soda paste and dry with a soft cloth.

To remove burned food from a frying pan, sprinkle generously with baking soda, cover and let stand a few minutes. The food will easily rub off.

If your iron is starch stained rub with a cloth or sponge sprinkled with baking soda and all starch will disappear.

CULTURA STYLE SHOW

Fit And Feminine Costumes Viewed

By BETTE ELLEN SMITH

Fit, flare and frankly feminine are watchwords to describe summer fashions, as revealed at the Cultura Book Club's annual luncheon - style show Saturday noon at the Paragon Club.

Depicting the theme, "Land of Cotton," were the fashions shown from The Palace, especially selected for sun-drenched summers in the heart of Dixie.

The "Female Look" is emerging smartly this season in silhouettes designed to flatter the feminine figure. Skirts, which started to flare last fall, have gone all out for a youthful, swirling look, accentuated by pleats, ruffles or flowing fullness. The fit also remains popular in relaxed sheath style, with figure-curving bodices, often framed by boleros or waist-length jackets.

Colors borrowed from the citrus family in varying shades of green, yellow and orange predominate to create a cool-looking effect. Pale hues are also in the limelight, ranging from stark white through honeyed tones and with a hint of green to create a new shade appropriately called celery.

An exciting blend of cotton, silk and rayon in tweed effect, was fashioned into a three piece ensemble consisting of Chanel jacket, loose overblouse and slim skirt. Another cotton cord suit was highlighted by a gay yellow lining for the jacket and tie belt.

KNITS POPULAR

Cotton knits remain popular for their adaptability to travel with a minimum of care. Fabrics with surface interest in linens, cottons and crepes are also on the scene.

Designed for elegant occasions was the white Italian silk sheath with bolero of cotton lace, lined in pale rose organdy. Pink lace also formed a cardigan jacket which topped a white frock with a two-piece look.

Greens were fresh looking in mint, sage, lime, and emerald, which appeared in silk linens and frothy cottons. An unusually daring and very new combination of turquoise and orange was featured in a two - piece cotton ensemble for daytime wear, the sleeveless top of which was sprinkled with sparkling rhinestones. Another eye-catcher was an exotic paisley print cotton which featured a sleeveless long jacket and box pleated skirt.

Gold, bronze and green comprised the flower print of a silk organza cocktail frock, with a danceable bouffant skirt and low back decolletage. Also entrancing for after-five hours was an embroidered silk organza in honey beige.

The tall crown cloche was the favorite choice of millinery which completed each costume. Other hats in rough or matte finish straws ranged from the gay pixy to the roll brim, with a number of floral trims to accent or contrast.

Designed for the junior miss was a gay full skirted cotton with horizontal stripes in graduated stripes of red and white, with its own matching umbrella. A pale pink chiffon shirtwaist, featuring a ruffled front appeared destined for the round of graduation parties as did a formal gown in sunset yellow silk organza, with matching Chantilly lace bodice.

Bound to make a hit at the poolside was the swimsuit in white with lilac print. Clusters of the lilacs were repeated on a beach bag and towel to match the suit.

Models for the parade of summer fashions were Mrs. G. L. Shepard, Mrs. Conley Hogan, Mrs. Ed Hislop Jr., Mrs. Herbert Moffett, Mrs. Bill Armstrong, Mrs. Donald Logan, Mrs. Henry Camp, Mrs. John Young, Mrs. Dale Hendricks, Mrs. Klien Crow, Mrs. Gene Williams, Mrs. Ralph Whitlock, Miss Diane Smith, Miss Clara Dee Drew, Miss Mary Conlin, Mrs. Harold Crew and Miss Judy Cathey.

The fashions were presented in a garden setting with trellises entwined with pink blossoms and huge potted green plants forming a background for a wrought iron bench and flower box filled with pink azaleas. Pink hydrangeas, interspersed with magnolia foliage and huge pink paper flowers banked the runway where the models paraded. Centering the luncheon table were tiny replicas of fashion models, wearing cotton frocks to further carry out the theme for the afternoon. Pink flowers and ivy extended the length of each table.

Mrs. Harry Liner was narrator for the show with background music provided by Mrs. Tommy Spurlock at the piano. Mrs. C. B. Welch, president of Cultura Book Club, gave the welcome to the guests and introduced Mrs. Roland Nix, who gave the invocation preceeding luncheon.

During intermission of the show guests were entertained with selections by the West Monroe high school ensemble, directed by Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick. A skit was also presented by a group of small girls, wearing colonial frocks with pantaloons.

Door prizes, donated by merchants of the Twin Cities, were awarded following the program. Proceeds from the event will be used to purchase playground equipment for the Cerebral Palsy school.

GAY SUMMER FASHIONS are shown by these four members of the Cultura Book Club, who were among models at the club's annual style show and luncheon Saturday noon at the Paragon Club. THE WEATHER IS CLEARING— BUT FOR HIYU O'BRIEN THE DAY GROWS DARKER....

MILTON CANIFF

HIYU, NOT ONLY DID YOU NEARLY GET JAKE AND ME ACCUSED OF KIDNAPPING— BECAUSE YOU STOWED AWAY WITH US...

BUT YOUR ALERT TO THE U.S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE HAS HELD UP THE EVACUATION OF THE CHORUS GIRLS! THE DOCTORS ARE COMING HERE!

COL. CANYON, I KNOW ONE OF THEM IS A SPY—SO WHEN THE IMMIGRATION DOCTORS ARRIVE— I CAN PROVE IT!

WELL, JAKE IS BACK— AND HE AND I WILL GO ON WITH OUR HUNT FOR THE LOST AFRICAN...

ALTHOUGH THE PRESENCE OF AN AFRICAN TRIBAL DICTIONARY IN YOUR BAG—WITH THE EXACT TAPE TEXT SPELLED OUT IN PHONETICS

I'VE EXPLAINED THAT! I MARKED THE DICTIONARY AFTER I PICKED UP THE TRANSMISSION...

BUT YOU STILL WON'T TELL WHO AMONG THE CHORUS GIRLS YOU THINK TO BE A SPY!

SIR, HELICOPTERS ARRIVING ON THE LANDING STRIP...

THANK YOU...

...DON'T BE TOO DEPRESSED, HIYU! WE ALL LIKE YOU! NOW, IF YOU WILL EXCUSE ME...

...I'LL HELP SGT. ROBERTS CHECK OUT THE 'GUESTS'...

HIYU PACKS A SMALL BAG—NOT WITH CLOTHING, BUT WITH AN OLD SHORT-WAVE RADIO RECEIVER SHE HAS SCROUNGED FROM THE HAM OPERATORS IN THE RADAR CREW...

COLONEL CANYON

MILTON CANIFF

THE WEATHER IS CLEARING— BUT FOR HIYU O'BRIEN THE DAY GROWS DARKER....

COL. CANYON, I KNOW ONE OF THEM IS A SPY— SO WHEN THE IMMIGRATION DOCTORS ARRIVE— I CAN PROVE IT!

WELL, JAKE IS BACK— AND HE AND I WILL GO ON WITH OUR HUNT FOR THE LOST AFRICAN...

THANK YOU...

...DON'T BE TOO DEPRESSED, HIYU! WE ALL LIKE YOU! NOW, IF YOU WILL EXCUSE ME...

HIYU PACKS A SMALL BAG— NOT WITH CLOTHING, BUT WITH AN OLD SHORT-WAVE RADIO RECEIVER SHE HAS SCROUNGED FROM THE HAM OPERATORS IN THE RADAR CREW...
